M'NUTT JOLTS F.D.R.'S CRY FOR DRAFT OF LABOR

Need No Service Law, He Says.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—In the face of President Roosevelt's demand to congress for a universal compulsory service act, War Man Power Commissioner McNutt told a house subcommittee today there is no need for such a measure, because, he said, the job of mobilizing workers "has been done" already by voluntary methods.

Commissioner McNutt.

The WMC chief, testifying before a military affairs subcommittee investigating labor problems and draft deferments, declared we should continue to rely on "voluntary and coöperative" action rather than compulsory assignment of workers to meet labor needs of industry.

To discard present methods altogether in favor of "compulsory assignment of workers" would, McNutt said, "be nothing short of tragic." It would, he asserted, antagonize labor and perhaps management and agriculture.

Roosevelt Wants Service Law.

McNutt's statement was apparently in direct contradiction to the view expressed by the President in his annual message to congress Jan. 11, in which the President called for a national service act.

The President, asked at his press conference later today about McNutt's opposition to the proposal, replied that he would like to see the WMC chief's statement in full before commenting.

The President said there are a lot of people who ought to be in essential jobs but who are not.

Would Search Souls.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked specifically about a proposal made by selective service officials to impose compulsory service on draft age registrants who are 4-F by drafting them into the army and then furloughing them into essential civilian jobs.

The 4-Fs, Mr. Roosevelt replied, are only one corner in the broad man power picture. A lot of persons, he continued, who are not in essential work should do a little soul-searching. If they don't, Mr. Roosevelt said, the soul-searching should be done for them in public.

McNutt told the committee he was in favor of compulsory labor legislation 18 months ago, but that since then coöperative action by labor, management, and agriculture under WMC supervision, has solved most of the labor shortages and resulted in a "reasonably good man power situation." In general, he said, munitions production has not been hurt by labor shortages.

Statement Jars Official View.

In a prepared statement he first read to the committee, the WMC chief said "there is much to be said" for the proposal by selective service officials for compulsory measures to force 4-F registrants into essential work by drafting them into the army and furloughing them.

McNutt's testimony, in addition to contradicting views of the President and war and navy secretaries who are urging national service, was also at variance with recent statements by Chairman Nelson of the war production board.

Major Brings Home Four Jap Tires, Gets A-Book

WAHIAWA, Oahu, T. H., March 28 (AP).—An army major brought back four nearly new Japanese tires as souvenirs of the American invasion of the Marshall Islands—and they fit his car. "Can I put them on and get an 'A' card?" he asked William B. Rutherford, ration board secretary, explaining he hadn't applied for a gasoline card previously because his tires were so bad. "Why not, why not?" replied Rutherford, fixing up the coupons.

Win Nikolaev, Navy Base on the Black Sea

LONDON, March 29 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Red army yesterday crushed the German garrison of Nikolaev, former soviet Black sea fleet base at the mouth of the Bug river, and in a surprise night crossing 60 miles upstream joined other Russian forces striking swiftly southward across the flat steppes on a 175 mile front toward Odessa, 75 miles away, Moscow announced today.

In the southeastern part of old Poland the Russians drove within 40 miles of old Czecho-Slovakia in a 10 mile advance from Gorodenka since Monday. The soviet troops, spreading out between the upper Dniester and Prut rivers, were advancing toward the 3,000 foot high Tatar pass, ancient invasion route thru the Carpathian mountains near Korosmezo.

[London reveals some of Moscow and Teheran conference plans for post-war Europe. Story on page 10.]

Fight at Edge of Cernauti.

The Russians were reported fighting in the outskirts of Cernauti, capital of Bukovina, and spreading out on both sides of the city on the upper Prut river. The fall of Cernauti, third largest city of pre-war Rumania with a population of 110,000, was regarded as imminent.

Forty miles northeast of Cernauti converging Russian forces were only 15 miles from closing a sack on large German forces caught in a 1,400 square mile area near Kamenets-Podolsk above the middle Dniester river.

In Rumania other soviet forces were assaulting the key rail city of Jassy [Iasi], 115 miles southeast of Cernauti, the Berlin radio said, but Moscow did not confirm this report. If true, it would be the first soviet invasion of axis territory.

Junction of Main Railways.

Jassy, across the Prut river seven miles inside eastern Rumania, is the junction of railways leading southeastward to Odessa and southwestward to the Ploesti oil fields, source of one-third of Germany's war fuel, and to Bucharest, Rumanian capital. Farther east in Bessarabia the Russians were only eight miles north of the Odessa-Tiraspol-Jassy railway — the last major German escape route from lower Russia.

Premier Stalin announced the fall of Nikolaev, and a broadcast bulletin later told of the crossing of the Bug 75 miles north of Odessa as the Russians hurled back the Germans toward the Black sea.

The Germans still hold 9,000 square miles of lower Russia in this area above Odessa, but there are few natural barriers now confronting the Russians.

Site of Shipbuilding Yards.

Stalin ordered 20 volleys from 224 of Moscow's guns to celebrate the fall of Nikolaev, which the Germans captured on Aug. 18, 1941.

Nikolaev, site of shipbuilding yards before the war, was important in the development of the Russian navy.

A German broadcast late last night indicated Russian troops had encircled Kowel in the east-central part of old Poland, saying Nazi troops there were being supplied by air. Kowel is 170 miles southeast of Warsaw and 35 miles east of the 1939 German-Russian demarcation line on the Polish Bug river.

ONE VOTE BEATS CHURCHILL; 1ST TIME SINCE '40

M. P.s Back Equal Pay for Women.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 28.—For the first time since its formation in May, 1940, Prime Minister Churchill's government was defeated in the house of commons tonight. It lost by one vote, 117 to 116, when the house passed an amendment to an education bill which Churchill had described on Sunday as the "greatest scheme for improved education ever attempted by a responsible government."

The amendment, which was opposed by Churchill's regime, provides that women teachers should get the same pay as men for equal work.

Immediately after the vote, the members of parliament chiefly responsible for the government's defeat pleaded with it not to resign, which usually is the case when the M. P.s vote against the administration. They pointed out that the vote was in no way intended as a censure and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, leader of the house, agreed to a suspension of debate to enable the cabinet to make up its mind. However, observers said there was no question that Churchill would resign since only one-third of the house membership was recorded in the voting.

Follows Plea for Unity.

The government's position was complicated by the fact that the revolt largely was engineered by the Conservative Reform group, members of Churchill's own party, and came on the heels of his Sunday broadcast which castigated critics and demanded unity behind his government.

When the amendment was offered by Mrs. Cazalet Keir, a Conservative, nine of the first 13 speakers, mostly Conservatives, supported it.

Speaking for the government, Richard A. Butler, board of education president, opposed the amendment on the ground that it would involve the whole civil service, business, and industry, as well as the teachers. He proposed the debate on this vast problem should take place later. When the M. P.s voiced their dissent, he warned them that if they did not like his attitude he would resign.

I'm on a Spot, He Says.

"If the people do not like the way I've expressed my case I'm very sorry," he said. "I've been put in a difficult position, so it would be much worse for me to undertake to do something I know I can't conscientiously carry out. I must put myself and the government in the hands of the house."

Quintin Hogg, leader of the Conservative reformers, praised Butler but insisted on a vote.

Cheers greeted the result, but Arthur Greenwood, the Labor party spokesman, quelled the elation by hurriely assuring Butler: "This is not a vote of lack of confidence in the president of the board of education or against the bill." Butler shook his head vigorously in dissent. Greenwood persisted, however, expressing the hope that Eden would agree to a motion to suspend the debate "so the government may reconsider its attitude." Eden did so.

KING VICTOR PLEDGES TO BROADEN BASE OF ITALIAN REGIME

NAPLES, March 28 (AP).—King Victor Emmanuel has pledged himself to form a government with "a larger base" after the allied capture of Rome, with an Italian parliament to be elected within four months after peace is established, it was disclosed today.

The announcement coincided with the arrival today of Palmiro Togliatti, head of the Italian Communist party and former secretary of the Communist International, from long exile in Moscow. Togliatti, also known as Ercoli, called a meeting of party leaders from various parts of the country for Thursday.

WHAT ALL THE SQUEAKING IS ABOUT

Strain of War Tires Churchill; Roosevelt Tells of His Illness

May Yield Power

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 28.—Worn and weary after three years of premiership and two serious attacks of pneumonia in the last year, Winston Churchill, 69, is believed in political quarters to be contemplating the shifting of a large share of his heavy burdens to the younger shoulders of Anthony Eden. The latter's departure from the foreign office is understood to be pending.

Eden's inclination to lighten his own triple load as foreign secretary, leader of the house of commons, and member of the war cabinet has been established, but, as reported earlier, the final decision on Eden's future employment, which rests with Churchill, has not been taken.

Dodges Query on Cassino.

The supposition that Eden and Churchill are working at cross purposes, however, could not be farther from the truth. On the contrary, their identity of views is more pronounced than ever.

Churchill's replies to questions in commons today, when he refused to make a government statement on the Cassino fighting, caused more concern among the members and observers than even his Sunday night broadcast, in which he sometimes seemed to be faltering or searching for words.

Appearing tired, the prime minister spoke today in a listless monotone. Experienced parliamentary observers got the impression that his weariness was more than temporary.

Eden Choice as Successor.

Others have reported that on his tour of American troop units last week he was unable to drive himself to his usual animation. Some photographs showed him wearing the same grim face he showed at Teheran while coming down with his second attack of pneumonia.

These impressions reënforced the view that Churchill, as soon as the second front and other pending major issues are settled, may shift the weight of the whole domestic program, including post-war planning, to Eden, who is believed to be his choice as his successor. It was noted that Churchill on Sunday again remarked that his personal ambitions do not go beyond the winning of the war.

President "Wan"

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—The question of President Roosevelt's health today attracted one of the largest press conferences of recent months to the executive office of the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt's condition became a vital topic when Aubrey Williams, one of the earliest New Dealers and now organizing director of the National Farmers' union, reported his impressions after a recent White House dinner.

Williams said he was shocked because the President looked so tired and worn. He added that he left the executive mansion with the distinct impression the President will not run for a fourth term. Williams thus brought into the open what has been whispered in the capital for weeks.

President Worn and Wan.

Some 200 newspaper men jockeyed for points of vantage to see the chief executive at the press conference and to make their own appraisals of his health.

They found Mr. Roosevelt worn and wan. He did not smile his customary greeting.

The question of his health was flung at him at the opening of the conference.

"How do you feel—personally, I mean?" a reporter asked.

X-Ray Examination Told.

Mr. Roosevelt raised his head and smiled a wan smile.

He said that he had bronchitis. He added that he had just returned from the navy hospital, where he was X-rayed, and that diagnosis had revealed his ailment.

Mr. Roosevelt said he evidently had had bronchitis for two or three weeks. He dismissed the ailment as not very serious and said there was no reason for alarm.

He said about one case out of 48,500 developed into pneumonia, so that the chance that his condition would get serious was very slim.

Suffers Succession of Colds.

The President has been suffering from a succession of colds for many weeks. He has taken two vacations of about a week each in an effort to shake the colds, but has been unsuccessful. He also has kept close to his own quarters in the White House, avoiding the executive office.

He went to the navy hospital March 2 to have a wen [a skin tumor, or cyst] removed from his neck.

At recent conferences reporters have found Mr. Roosevelt weary and pale. Today he did not appear to be as drawn as he did last Friday. His voice was hoarse and it was evident he was suffering from a cold or an allied ailment.

LOSES 3 TEETH AND 23 SUFFER

Patient Upsets Calm of Waukegan Jail.

The 19 prisoners in the Lake county jail at Waukegan, Sheriff Walter L. Atkinson, and his wife and daughter, slept fitfully if at all last night because of the almost constant yelling of Anthony Jonaitis, 24, of 725 S. Jackson st., Waukegan, who went berserk in a dentist's chair yesterday afternoon after having three teeth extracted.

Jonaitis was lodged in a first floor cell thru the combined efforts of three policemen and several deputy sheriffs after the dentist, Dr. W. F. Langlais, twice had prevented him from leaping from 7th floor windows of the Citizens' National Bank building at Washington and Genesee sts.

Spend Sleepless Night.

"It looks like a sleepless night for everyone in the jail," said Night Jailer George Bock. "The only times that Jonaitis stops yelling is when asks for bread and water."

Dr. Langlais said he had just finished extracting the third tooth when Jonaitis leaped from the chair and ran screaming from the office. With the dentist in close pursuit he dodged into an office, smashed the glass from a window and was trying to climb thru when Langlais hauled him back and threw him to the floor.

Makes Break for Window.

Jonaitis broke away. Shouting, "I'm going, I'm on my way," he ran into another office and was climbing thru the window when the dentist again pulled him back. The dentist was grappling with the patient when police arrived. Jonaitis was enraged at the sight of the policemen and began fighting them, but finally was overpowered. With two sets of handcuff clamped he was moved to the jail.

Jonaitis' mother, Mrs. Antoinette Misiunas, 48, said her son had suffered from dizzy spells since childhood and at times had given away to violent fits of temper. Once, when he was in the sixth grade he jumped from a second floor window at school, she said.

G. O. P. Loses in Oklahoma Congress Vote

Muskogee, Okla., March 28 [Special].—William G. Stigler, Democrat, defeated his Republican opponent, E. O. Clark, in today's special election to fill a vacancy in Oklahoma's traditionally Democratic second district, returns indicated tonight.

With only 19 precincts missing out of 331 in the district, Stigler had 21,405 votes to 17,678 for Clark. Stigler jumped into an early lead as the tabulating began and his margin increased steadily as the count proceeded. Voting was light, with rain keeping many away from the polls, especially in the rural districts.

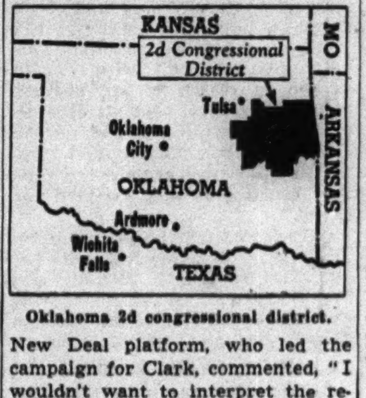
Sen. Moore [R., Okla.], former Democrat elected in 1940 on an anti-New Deal platform, who led the campaign for Clark, commented, "I wouldn't want to interpret the result. We were decisively beaten. The majority has spoken and we bow to that."



Oklahoma 2d congressional district.

Victory for Machine.

Moore added, "Both the federal and state New Deal machines were in the district plugging every minute. The organization got the job done."

The Democratic victory gave the Democrats 217 seats in the house against 210 for the Republicans. It was the third Democratic triumph in 11 special elections thruout the country since 1942. The Republicans have won eight of these contests, including three seats which had previously been Democratic.

Barkley Called In.

National Democratic leaders had attached great importance to the Oklahoma election and in last minute fear of defeat had rushed Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.], the senate majority leader, into the campaign. Barkley spoke in behalf of Stigler yesterday at Muskogee and Okmulgee.

The election was for the unexpired term of Jack Nichols [D.], who resigned his office. Nichols nosed out Clark for the seat in 1942 with 21,661 votes to 21,273 for the Republican.

The district has been Democratic for the last 24 years, usually by a wide margin.

Stigler is a former department commander of the American Legion and had served two four year terms in the state senate, one of them as president pro tempore.

RICK PREDICTS INVASION TOLL OVER A MILLION

New York, March 28 (AP).—Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker said today there were expectations of a "million or more" casualties in an invasion of Europe. He made the statement in presenting $10,000 in war bonds—the gift of a film company—to the parents of a soldier lost in the war.

"I can only hope that the invasion won't be necessary—that Germany will collapse first," the airman declared. "A million or more casualties would be averted."

The war bonds were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kaczmarczyk of Torrington, Conn., parents of the late Sgt. Alex Kaczmarczyk, the only one of six crew members who failed to survive 21 days adrift in rafts on the Pacific ocean after Rickenbacker's plane was forced downed Oct. 21, 1942.

JOAN SHOUTS SHE 'DID NOT' ASK $150,000

Actor's Butler Is Witness for Her.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Los Angeles, Cal., March 28.—In a courtroom crackling with suspense, Joan Berry today shouted her denial of an insinuation that she tried to blackmail $150,000 from Charlie Chaplin.

Edward Chaney.

It was the fifth day of Chaplin's trial before a federal grand jury for alleged violations of the Mann act and a day disappointing to the prurient multitudes who jammed the courtroom and adjacent corridors. They had come to hear what they thought would be juicy details of the dissolute life of a woman with youth, beauty, and an intelligent child.

Court Shields Past.

They heard none of this. Nor did any one. Defense Attorney Jerry Giesler had a prepared list of 41 questions delving principally into Miss Berry's fragrant past. He had announced that he was recalling Miss Berry for additional cross-examination for the express purpose of dissecting her illicit romances. He told Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor this morning that the jury had a right to know of them, but the court held otherwise. Of the 41 questions only five were allowed.

Even with such scant fodder Giesler hoped to make capital. He made little headway. Miss Berry was a witness of calm and composure and quiet candor until her angry denial of the blackmail charge. She then directed her only glance of the trial toward Chaplin, her ex-employer, who sat slumped in his chair. The look was one of angry reproach.

Asks Directed Verdict.

Her appearance was brief and unyielding, and she was followed to the stand by Edward Chaney, Chaplin's butler, who demonstrated as limp a memory as any perfect butler should have. With his testimony the government rested its case.

Giesler immediately moved for a directed verdict of not guilty on the ground that the government had produced no substantial evidence against Chaplin. He contended the relationship between Chaplin and Miss Berry in New York was incidental, coincidental and accidental, and he was still talking, his voice sometimes a humble drone, sometimes a determined roar apparently addressed to his client, when court adjourned for the day.

He had taken up the entire morning attempting to get his 41 questions into the record. They finally went in, but as sealed evidence, inaccessible to either jury or press. He started on his permitted five, however, with triumph.

Said "I Hate Him."

"Now, Miss Berry," he began persuasively to the young woman on the witness stand, "is it not a fact that a week or two prior to going to New York you were at Mr. Chaplin's house and said to Edward Chaney, his butler, 'I hate him! I hate him! He won't let me go to New York! He won't release me! My boy friend's in New York, and I want to see him.' Did you or did you not say that?"

The girl smoothed her purple coat and turned a candid gaze upon him. "I did," she said.

Giesler smiled in triumph. But United States Atty. Charles H. Carr also smiled.

"Ah," said Giesler, taking his glasses off and looking fixedly at the girl. "Now, Miss Berry, do you know Miss Katherine Hunter, Mr. Chaplin's secretary?"

Her reply was firm. "I do."

"Now, on or about May 7, 1943, did you telephone Miss Hunter and ask her to tell Mr. Chaplin where you were so you could be arrested."

"I did not!" she replied angrily, sitting upright and clutching her large bag with both hands.

Ignoring the interruption, Giesler went on, his voice smooth and unctuous. "And did she not say Mr. Chaplin didn't want to put you into jail? And did you not say, 'I will put his name in headlines from one end of the country to another,' and did she not say, 'That sounds like blackmail?' And didn't you then say, 'How dare you accuse me of blackmail?' And didn't she say, 'I think you are acting very foolishly, Joan!'?"

Miss Berry leaned forward. Her purple coat fell open to show her yellow sweater. "I did not!" she said in tones of ice.

"Now," said Giesler, "I want you to answer yes or no. I am putting this to you in the form of a question. On or about June 1, 1943, in the yard of the home of Mr. Chaplin, you and he being alone, did you not for the first time accuse him of being the father of your unborn child and demand that he give you $75,000 for you and your mother and put $75,000 in trust for the child, that you had the press on your side and when you got thru, they would blast him out of the country?"

Prosecutor Carr was out of his seat. Very quietly he was objecting. The question, he told the court, raised a collateral issue.

"No," the judge said, "I am going to permit it. Now, Miss Berry, if you haven't it clearly in mind, I will have it read back to you."

"Please," she said.

The long question was reread.

Had Not Publicized Condition.

"Yes or no," prompted Giesler, "did that conversation take place?"

"It did not take place," she began, "and . . ."

"That's enough," the judge halted her. "The prosecutor can ask you more if he wishes in good time."

"And prior to May or June, 1943," Giesler went on, "You had not issued—I will put it in the negative your honor, if I may—any public statements that Mr. Chaplin had taken you to New York?"

"I object," cried Carr. "Immaterial."

"Answer yes or no," the judge overruled.

"No," she said. "I had not."

Chaplin Listens Intently.

Chaplin was intent and motionless, leaning forward, his chin against one hand, to catch every word.

"Now, Miss Berry," Giesler asked, "is it not true that you arrived in Los Angeles in the late summer of 1938 shortly after you graduated from high school in New York?"

"Yes," quietly.

"And will you kindly state whether you were acquainted with J. Paul Getty of Los Angeles, New York, and Tulsa?"

A stir went thru the courtroom. Getty, presumably one of Miss Berry's old associates, has been subpenaed by the defense.

She was imperturbably frank. "I am."

Purchased Ticket to N. Y.

"You were in Tulsa between Nov. 17 and 23, 1942, you testified. Is it not a fact that you purchased a ticket at that time to New York by way of Chicago?"

A moment's hesitation. Then, "That's true."

"Did you go to New York?"

"In November?" quickly.

"Yes."

She looks at her lap and purses her lips. "No," finally. "I came back here."

"Did you go to Chicago?"

She gazed at the ceiling before replying. "Not that I remember."

"Did you cash in the ticket?"

"I don't remember, Mr. Giesler."

"But the money that you used during the next day or two to bring you back to California was not money advanced to you by Mr. Chaplin?"

"That is true," she agreed.

"It was money you obtained elsewhere?"

"Yes."

Giesler then happily concluded the cross-examination.

Carr had only one question to ask. Referring to the question about the alleged conversation at which she demanded $150,000 from Chaplin, he asked her if a conversation occurred at that time.

"Yes," she said. "It did."

"And do I understand it did not occur as Mr. Giesler related it?"

"Yes, that's right."

"That's all, Miss Berry," the judge now said.

"Thank you," Giesler said perfunctorily.

Flees Out Rear Door.

She got up quickly and went out a rear door, a flood of flashlights from camera men recording her exit.

Chaney, the butler, next came on. He looked extremely pleased, a tall, slender man with blond hair pressed eternally into place, a long, pinkish nose, and a freshly shaven look. He testified he had been Chaplin's butler for three years.

He was a hesitant, reluctant witness, often looking toward Chaplin as tho in search of approbation. Chaplin, however, kept his eyes determinedly on the jury and seemed a little nervous, jumping and turning in his swivel chair every time the courtroom door opened or closed.

Carr drew from him the admission that he accompanied Chaplin to New York on Oct. 15, 1942, and saw Miss Berry once. That was the day she came to receive a small package Chaplin had given him for her.

Refers to $500 in Bills.

"State whether on the previous day you had given Mr. Chaplin a blank check," Carr said.

"Yes."

"Do you ordinarily give him the checks?"

"No, the studio does."

"That evening did you hang up Mr. Chaplin's clothes?"

"Yes."

"How much money did he have in his pockets?"

"$500."

"After Miss Berry left that day, did you again attend to his clothes?"

"Yes."

"How much money was in his pockets at that time." "Two $100 bills."

Again the stir thru the courtroom. Miss Berry had testified that Chaplin gave her three $100 bills to pay her return fare from New York to Los Angeles.

"Now, in the latter part of May or June, 1943, do you recall being beside the pool at Mr. Chaplin's house with a Mr. Wright, Mr. Milligan [two of Chaplin's attorneys], and Mr. Chaplin?" "Yes."

"State whether you heard Mr. Chaplin make a statement about having sexual intercourse with Miss Berry in New York." "The word 'sex' was never used, sir," and Chaney's look was one of pained reproof.

"What did Mr. Chaplin say?"

"He admitted being with Miss Berry."

The judge intervened to instruct Chaney to repeat the conversation. The courtroom was so still that the squeak of the clerk's chair as he turned around sounded like a siren.

"Mr. Chaplin said he was with Miss Berry," Chaney said.

Butler Changes Words.

Giesler moved to strike the answer as irrelevant. Carr pressed for a more definite answer. Chaney was obdurate. Finally he changed his words to, "Mr. Chaplin said he was out with Miss Berry."

Carr, flushing, handed Chaney a statement he made in October, 1943, and asked if this refreshed his recollection. He said it did not.

"You signed it yourself?"

"Yes, sir."

Every one had to read the statement then. Giesler, who is a lip reader, and the judge, who swiveled his back to the courtroom. Chaney still would say nothing.

Carr then produced a transcript of the testimony Chaney gave before the federal grand jury in January and asked if that refreshed Chaney's memory.

"Yes, it does a little," Chaney said, uneasily.

"Well, let's have the little," Carr said belligerently.

Chaney was silent so long that the judge admonished him.

"He was swearing. . . . I didn't want to say that," Chaney explained delicately.

"Well, omit the swearing," the judge said. "Proceed."

"He said, 'Sure, he'd been with her. He'd been with her many times.' That," pausing, "is as much as I can remember."

"Do you recall telling me what Mr. Chaplin said at the pool?"

"Yes."

"Let's have it, then. I asked you if Mr. Chaplin admitted having sexual intercourse with Miss Berry."

Still Works for Chaplin.

[Taking a long drink of water.] "He didn't say sexual intercourse. He said, 'Of course, I've been out with her.'"

Carr, extremely annoyed, then informed the court it looked as tho he would have to cross-examine his own witness.

After a brief cross-examination by Giesler, Carr asked one more question.

"I forgot this," he apologized. "You are still in the employ of Mr. Chaplin?"

"Yes."

"That's all," Carr said gaily. "The government rests."

Giesler quickly began arguing for a directed verdict of not guilty.

Today's fans were insistent and insatiable. They were lined up outside the courthouse by 6 a. m.

When court opened, Giesler, who some fans think needs only a wig to look like Benjamin Franklin, asked permission to recall Miss Berry to go into her environment from the time she arrived in Los Angeles in 1938 to November and December of 1942.

Giesler told the court that in the Mann act the purpose and intent of the woman is as equally involved as that of the man. He cited a case which was thrown out because the "man acquiesced to her will." He said he wanted to show that Miss Berry had relations with other men during November and December, 1942 more often than she had them with Chaplin, all of her own free will and choice. He said it is only fair that the background "of this young lady"—Giesler always is polite—be brought out.

Carr argued that there was nothing before the court but the law and cited decisions holding that "a female" cannot be impeached because of her relations with other men or because of her character or chastity.

"Whether the woman is pure or impure," Carr concluded, "if she is transported for immoral purposes, the statute is violated."

Giesler then submitted a list of 41 questions he wished to put to Miss Berry and Judge O'Connor declared a recess to study them when Carr insisted upon a ruling before proceeding with the prosecution.

After the recess the judge heard Carr's objections to the questions, one by one. Giesler protested each objection and after a protracted huddle at the bench Judge O'Connor denied 37 of the 41 questions. It was a blow to Giesler and the defense. The attorney was pale and upset. At this point the judge summoned the jury, who hadn't heard a world all morning anyway, to tell them they were excused for luncheon and not to discuss what they heard during the morning.

Tells of Screams

LONERGAN FIGHT TO ESCAPE CHAIR HITS EARLY SNAG

New York, March 28 (AP).—A fight to save Wayne Lonergan from the electric chair began today as the state concluded its first degree murder case against the 26 year old R. C. A. F. aircraft man accused of slaying his wealthy wife, Patricia, 22.

The defense struck a snag immediately when its first witness, Mario Enzo Gabelline, dapper interior decorator, failed to appear when his name was called.

Gabelline escorted Mrs. Lonergan to night clubs the night before she was slain. After his testimony was put off until tomorrow Defense Counsel Edward V. Broderick questioned Detective William Prendergast, who had appeared as a prosecution witness.

Dismissal Plea Denied.

Hardly had Assistant District Atty. Jacob Grumet announced, "the state rests," when Broderick called for dismissal of the indictment on the ground that the state had failed to prove its case.

General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace denied this motion and four others, which asked that verdicts of murder in the first and second degree and manslaughter in the first and second degree no longer be considered.

In the windup of its case, the state called three young women to the stand. They were Jean Jaburg, an actress; Ruth Forster, a florist, and Annaliese Schonberg, a children's nurse.

They appeared after a reading of Lonergan's purported confession disclosed that he had attempted to buy arsenic, that his wife had changed her 7 million dollar will and cut him off without a cent, and that he attempted suicide about a year ago.

Heard Screams.

The most dramatic story was told by Miss Schonberg, who said she heard screams from the Lonergan apartment over a five minute period about 9 a. m. Oct. 24, the day the heiress' bloody and unclothed body was found on her bed.

Employed in the apartment above, Miss Schonberg said she had gone down to the front door to get the Sunday newspapers when she heard shrill screams and a cry of "What are you doing? Stop that!"

On her way back upstairs she stopped to knock at the door "but thought better of it," she said, and returned to her quarters.

Mrs. Jaburg told of attending the theater and night clubs with Lonergan on Saturday night and of lunching with him on Sunday at about 2 p. m.

Altho the state contends he was scratched about the face in a Sunday morning struggle with his wife, Mrs. Jaburg said she observed no scratches on him when she saw him Sunday afternoon. Lonergan looked pensively at her thruout her testimony.

Miss Forster told of strolling her dog at about 11:30 a. m. Sunday and said she saw Lonergan with a duffle bag over his left shoulder walking toward the East river.

She was called to substantiate a prosecution contention that Lonergan placed his bloody R. C. A. F. uniform in the bag and disposed of it in the East river.

The florist, who said she had known Lonergan by sight, said she saw no scratches on his face, but that she was "not close enough for that."

Bought Makeup.

Max Levinson, a druggist, testified Lonergan bought makeup from him at about the same time and that he observed no scratches on Lonergan. The state has contended the playboy bought the makeup to hide the scratches.

Broderick clashed with Judge Wallace when the court ruled out a question asked Detective Prendergast.

"But judge, this is the first time in history the defense has had to call the arresting officer—"

Judge Wallace interrupted to say: "We don't care about history. Get on with the case."

Broderick took an exception to the order and resumed his questioning of Prendergast. Adjournment was taken shortly afterward until tomorrow morning.

So particular were the Washingtons about the freshness of foods they served that they kept an old negro, Father Jack, on the Potomac. He was supposed to watch for the cook's signal as to when to pull into shore to deliver fish just in time for the General's dinner.

Freshness MEANS SO MUCH

. . . whether it's fish or hot biscuits or eggs or candy. And their freshness is one of the big reasons why for 48 years Martha Washington's candies have been the nation's favorites. We're as finicky as can be about the freshness of every single ingredient used in making them. And then the candies themselves are always temptingly fresh whenever you buy them. And what a difference that makes!

COL. M'CORMICK URGES WEST TO BE ITS OWN BOSS

Throw Off Domination of East, He Advises.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28 [Special].—Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, today urged the western part of the country to assert itself in national politics and throw off the domination of easterners.

Col. McCormick came here to deliver addresses before the Hennepin County Bar association at noon and at the joint annual dinner meeting of the Six o'Clock club and its related Five Fifty-five club.

"We of the west have been led around by the nose by easterners too long," he said in an interview before his speeches. "A lot of rich easterners look upon themselves as the colonials and at us as natives. New York bankers who got their money from Europe laid it out in the west on the principle that the borrower is the slave to the lender, and acted accordingly."

He said the Wall street bankers have their private wires extending to every hamlet in the country.

"Too much emphasis is given news originating in the eastern states," he added, "because all the principal news services have their headquarters there, and, as a result, do not give accurate representation to the views of the nation."

Hopes for G. O. P. Unity.

Col. McCormick expressed the hope that the Republican governors and congressmen of the country would "get together for the good of the whole nation" and not "let themselves be stampeded as at the 1940 Republican convention in Philadelphia."

The largest audience in several years at the county bar association's weekly luncheon meetings heard the Chicago publisher's address. More than 300 attorneys, judges, and their guests packed Donaldson's grill to overflowing. When all of the luncheon seats were occupied, tables were moved out to make room for additional chairs, and when that space was gone many were still standing at the back and sides of the room.

"A good many people are fearful that the amendment permitting the unlimited income tax and unlimited estate tax will prove our ultimate undoing," Col. McCormick told the bar association audience.

Suggests Rewarding Workers.

"We ought to get a better method of perpetuating corporations than thru the mere inheritance of money. I have seen too many rich young bums in my time. There should be found some way of passing it on to the men who work in those corporations.

"Obviously, the men who invest and risk their money in a new venture are entitled to a very liberal reward, if successful.

"But take a company like The Tribune—97 years old—where every stockholder has drawn out a great many times his original investment, some generations of whom have contributed nothing to it. Some method should be found to translate or transfer the common stock interest to the men who perpetuate it, otherwise you won't perpetuate it."

The publisher, who also is an attorney, told of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S successful defense of a 20 million dollar libel suit filed against it in 1920 by the city of Chicago. Because of the extensive research in which he and the other members of his Chicago law firm engaged to defend the paper against the suit, he related, it was decided to use the applicable information in defending another newspaper which was later attacked under a law subsequently declared unconstitutional.

The case was that of John M. Near, editor of the Saturday Press of Minneapolis, one of the central figures in the fight against the Minnesota "gag" law of 1925, which empowered ruling authorities to suppress newspapers without a trial.

"Some years afterward," Col. McCormick said, referring to the latter case, "a little newspaper man named Near, in this community, was enjoined by the court from conducting his newspaper. He appealed to us.

"Near was a poor man and we all have to admit that the law bears heavily upon the poor. He had no funds with which to make the extensive investigation we had made. The court was ill-informed as to the law and erred both below and in the Supreme court in upholding the injunction.

Wins in Highest Court.

"I said the law bears heavily upon the poor. You will remember all thru the NRA period the victims that went to jail were all poor, and at the present time this trial in Washington is veering heavily upon the people who cannot afford to hire lawyers to give them an adequate defense.

"We took the Near case, intervened, and won it in the Supreme court of the United States.

"It seemed that the time had come, thru the growing ignorance among the laity and the bar of constitutional law, for a general attack upon the freedom of the individual and freedom of the press.

"Those 1918 sedition cases don't rest so well on the conscience of an informed mind altho they could have been worse. A number of cases of infringement of the press then followed."

Recalls Huey Long Taxes.

He listed a number of such cases, including "Huey Long's trying to reintroduce the old English taxes upon knowledge, a purely political oppression"; several contempt cases, and the "Jehovah's Witnesses cases having to do with the selling or giving away of religious tracts on the street, and the refusal of children to salute the flag."

"All the state courts upheld the statute and the Supreme court of the United States reversed them," he said. "In all, there have been 14 cases from 12 different states, 14 cases under the 14th amendment, in which the Supreme court of the United States has reversed convictions by state courts."

Col. McCormick said he has been greatly impressed by the "tremendous profundity of our political philosophies."

"Some people," he said, "say it was John Locke, some people say it was Tom Paine, some people say it was Montesquieu, who originated our theories of government.

"Bosh! George Mason, George Wyatt, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin—and don't underestimate George Washington because he wrote less but he understood it as well as any of them—were the expounders of our form of government, which is utterly different from any other form of government, utterly different in philosophy and history."

The audience greeted with applause and laughter the speaker's concluding shot in which he said:

"And so, gentlemen, my content with the Constitution of the United States is so great that I only see the need for one more amendment—to limit the Presidential term."

Opposes Super-Government.

In his address in the evening before the Six o'Clock club, half century old organization of business and professional men, Col. McCormick restated his "Confession of Faith of an American" and described as "world anarchy" the conditions that may be expected to prevail under the super-government proposed to rule the globe after the war.

He observed that the United States would be participating in a world movement in which "we will have one of 44 votes, the British empire six, and it would seem that Russia will have 16."

This super-government, he said, "is to have power to levy taxes on us without our consent, to spend the proceeds among the dominant majority which will raise and equip armies and appoint their officers, and create a supreme judiciary, before which Americans may be hauled from this country for trial, deprived of all the rights we now enjoy under our Constitution.

"Unbelievable as it is, a justice of our Supreme court is a leading advocate of this world anarchy and so is our secretary of state."

Fan's eye view of Frank Sinatra as he stepped from train in Chicago yesterday.

Frank Sinatra tried to evade an autograph hungry crowd of more than 200 hookey-playing youngsters at Dearborn station yesterday by departure thru the baggage entrance, but his admirers crushed into the street, where they mobbed the tanned, hatless crooner, and followed him into his cab.

No autographs were obtained, for it was impossible for Sinatra to extend either arm far enough to scribble anything. A red-faced policeman jerked him along by the right arm, while his unprotected left flank was subjected to sniper grabs of the crowd, who then squealed, "I touched him!"

Talking with reporters before he encountered the noisy station melee, Sinatra said he had a few business matters and shopping to conduct in Chicago before entraining for his home, Hasbrouck, N. J., to see his 2 month old son for the first time. A toddler on the platform received a pat and smile. The waiting Sinatra fans only glimpsed a worried, thin youth in khaki raincoat.

LAUER ELECTED TO HEAD INDIANA G.O.P. COMMITTEE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28 [Special].—John L. Lauer, 47, Williamsport farmer and business man, was unanimously elected Indiana Republican chairman by the Republican state committee here today. Lauer succeeds Ralph F. Gates, Columbia City, who resigned the chairmanship to campaign for governor, the candidacy for which he remains unopposed.

Lauer, who was born on a farm near Dana, has filled all offices in the party organization, as did Gates. He has served as precinct committeeman, chairman of the Vermillion county G. O. P., central committee, 6th district chairman, and state chairman. He headed the Vermillion county party organization from 1926 to 1933, moving to Warren county two years ago when the government established an ordnance plant in an area which included his farm.

Lauer is married and has a son, an artillery lieutenant stationed at Fort Sill, Okla. Lauer served in World War I. in the motor transport corps.

Going Whale Hunting? Season Will Be Longer

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 28.—Because whales can play a useful part in easing the world fats and oil shortage, the United States, Britain, South Africa, Australia, Canada, New Zealand, and Norway have agreed to extend the normal fishing period in the first post-war year, Alban Dobson, fisheries secretary to the British agriculture ministry, announced tonight. The season will run from Nov. 24 to March 24 instead of Dec. 8 to March 7, he said.

A BARBER POLE ESSENTIAL? JUST ASK MAIN ST.!

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—The busiest man in the capital today was Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.]. He was touring government agencies in the interests of Tommy Burgert, a barber of Three Rivers, Mich., and had taken a vow not to rest until Tommy's barber pole is spinning again.

Shafer said Tommy has been barbering in Three Rivers since he learned the art in 1886 under Big Bill Bigbee. He's still whisking a razor in the same shop on the east side of Main st., and his hot towel treatments are famous thruout the area.

The Burgert barber pole—but let Chet Shafer, the congressman's brother, tell the story as he outlined it in a letter.

Tommy's Needin' Help.

"Tommy needs help.

"About a year ago, Tommy went to the hospital for an operation. Doc Eberhard gave him up for dead. But he came out of the ether strong. After six months he was able to hobble downtown. Next he began drinking in some of that lethal, life giving air of the seegar store and—nourished—went back to the barber shop.

"Then he noticed that his mechanical barber pole with the spiral red and white stripes out in front wasn't running. He asked Cliff Thornton of Battle Creek and Union City, who had been keeping the shop in his absence.

"Cliff said he had cranked and cranked the blasted thing but couldn't get a whirl out of it.

Only Sign of Life.

"Every one here wants to see Tommy's barber pole whirling around. It's about the only sign of life on Main st. since the selective service asked for 427 married men in March. The town needs this barber pole in operation.

"We've got officials here planning on a nine runway post-war airport and a 12 tube sewage disposal plant, but nobody's doing anything about Tommy's barber pole."

Rep. Shafer said he is going to see to it that Tommy's barber pole whirls again if he has to disturb the repose of 1,000 burocrats.

CAPITAL BIGWIGS NEED LIQUOR—AND THEY GET IT

Dealer Tells How Orders Are Filled.

Washington, D. C., March 28 [Special].—A federal trade commission inquiry into "tie in" liquor sales between wholesale and retail dealers brought the unscheduled disclosure here today of the existence of a system by which the White House, state department officials, congressmen, and other government big shots are circumventing the whisky shortage.

All that is necessary, it was explained, is for the official in need of whisky—if he is a big enough official—to write a letter to a wholesale firm which thereupon supplies the nearest retail dealer with enough whisky to fill the order. How else, it was asked, could enough whisky be corraled to meet the entertainment demands of statecraft?

Might Need It for Parties.

Franklin G. Sartwell, vice president of Milton S. Kronheim & Sons, Inc., a liquor wholesaler, explained the system when summoned before the commission for questioning as to whether his firm required retailers to supplement their whisky order with "tie in" orders for brandy and wine.

"An official of the state department might be giving a party to entertain visiting delegates," said Sartwell. "They would need certain supplies of whisky. The White House may be having a party, might be entertaining a visitor, and might need it.

Tells How It Is Done.

"Members of congress, the foreign relations committee, might be entertaining a delegation from overseas and might need whisky, and the retailer would be put in an impossible position if he were to try to meet those needs out of an allotment of, say, 10 or 15 or 20 cases," he continued.

"When these people call I tell them to contact a certain liquor store convenient to them and then send this store what had been ordered," he explained. To prove his point he exhibited several letters from congressmen and one from Elmer Davis, chief of the office of war information.

The Davis letter revealed that the nation's war time propaganda head had written a letter stating he needed some whisky for personal use and that it would not be resold.

No Trouble for White House.

White House liquor for the most part comes from the Kronheim firm via Press Liquors, Inc., a liquor store on the ground floor of the National Press building, Mrs. Sartwell testified earlier in the day. She said a member of the White House staff calls the wholesale firm and the order is then delivered to Press Liquors, nearest liquor dealer to the White House.

Mrs. Sartwell also said five cases of bonded whisky are to be flown today to England as a gift of the Kronheim firm to Gen. Eisenhower.

THE QUESTION.

When or under what conditions do you like to nap?

WHERE ASKED.

Michigan av. and Harrison st.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. Paul Haseman, housewife, 323 Park st., Elgin—I would rather sleep one hour after the alarm clock goes off than five hours before. The room is always colder and the bed seems cozier, and my slumber is more sound. If I could always sleep as I do then, I wouldn't require so much sleep.

William Chudnof, store manager, 5009 Sheridan rd.—There is no sleep I enjoy more than the hour nap on the bus on my way home. After a hard day of work that nap is just what I need. I have it timed so accurately now that I always wake up just a few minutes before we arrive at my destination.

Charles W. Yeamans, purchasing agent, La Grange—If I deliberately try to take a nap I can never do it, but if I sit down in a big comfortable chair to read the paper or listen to the radio it's no trick at all. I like to take a short nap like that before retiring because whenever I do I sleep soundly all night.

Herbert Weitzman, office clerk, 618 N. 2d st., Milwaukee, Wis.—Give me the good old summertime and a comfortable nap on a park bench out in the open air. It doesn't matter how heavy the traffic is or how much noise and confusion there are, I can sleep right thru them. At home I'm a light sleeper.

John F. Buck, conductor, Chillicothe, Ill.—My work was first responsible for putting me on a sort of Thomas Edison sleeping schedule of four hour cat naps all thru the day and night. I got into the habit and now, even tho it isn't necessary to continue it, I feel most refreshed when I sleep that way.

F. D. R. SAYS WAR NEEDS BAR JEWS FROM PALESTINE

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—President Roosevelt said today at his news conference the military situation creates a temporary, very serious bar to free entry of Jews into Palestine but that the future of that country is a matter to be worked out later on. United States military spokesmen have opposed a pending resolution which would put congress on record in favor of unrestricted Jewish immigration into that area.

A British White Paper of 1939 will halt such immigration beginning next Saturday, and the approach of this deadline brought renewed demands in the senate today for action on the resolution.

A reporter asked how the statement of White House visitors that the President had authorized them to say the American government never had approved the British White Paper "stacks up with the army's opposition to the opening of Palestine." Mr. Roosevelt replied that it stacked up all right. One is a military subject, he said, and the other a civilian matter for the future.

CONCEDE REDS TAKE CONTROL OF N. Y.'S A. L. P.

Party's Left Wing Wins State Primary.

BY ROY GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—The Communist infiltrated left wing of the American Labor party late tonight was conceded by right wing leaders to have won control of the party in today's bitterly contested primary election.

The result in the opinion of political observers will split the party in two and possibly cost the Democrats the state in the November Presidential election.

No Democrat in recent years has been elected to important office in New York state without the support of the A. L. P., which has acted as a balance of power to swing victory to Democratic candidates in elections where the Democrats were outnumbered by Republican voters.

Hillman Group Leads.

A tabulation of incomplete returns two hours after the polls had closed at 10 p. m. showed that the left wingers led by Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee and president of the Amalgamated Colthing Workers' union, was carrying all of the eight assembly districts in the Bronx, which in prior years had been a right wing stronghold.

It was on the basis of this indication that Dr. George Counts, state chairman, and Alex Rose, secretary of the party's right wing, which is now in power, issued a joint statemen saying:

"The Browder-Hillman coalition won the primaries. The Communists who controled Manhattan, Brooklyn, and Queens, have now extended their control to the whole party. From now on the American Labor party will be controled by Earl Browder [head of the American Communist party] no matter who will be put up as its fronts. We have no regrets. We have fought a good fight for great principles."

Claim 600 Places Won.

Shortly after midnight the left wing forces claimed to have won more than 600 of the 750 places on the state committee, governing body of the party.

In conceding defeat, the right wing leadership was openly critical of the role played by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia in the campaign. Altho La Guardia, as one of the organizers of the party, was regarded by the right wing as their special friend, he stayed neutral in the contest.

David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union and one of the principal sources of the right wing strength, issued a statement after the right wing concession had been announced, saying "The mayor helped. He cost us at least 5,000 votes."

Voting in the Republican and Democratic primaries was light. The Democrats chose 86 district delegates and alternates to their national convention and the Republicans elected 85. There was no opposition to the delegate slates in either primary.

All but approximately three or five of the Republicans chosen were said to favor the nomination of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for President. The tiny minority want Wendell L. Willkie as their standard bearer. Most of the Democratic delegates are said to be in favor of renominating President Roosevelt for a fourth term.

Gage Wins in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., March 28 (AP).—Mayor John B. Gage and his nonpartisan citizens' administration was elected for the third time in Kansas City's municipal election today with a two to one margin over his opponent, A. J. Stephens of the old Pendergast Democratic organization.

BECKER FAVORED IN G. O. P. FIGHT FOR TREASURER

2 Opposing Ex-Warden of Menard Prison.

This is the fourth article in a series discussing candidates seeking nomination for state offices in the April 11 primary.

BY GUY GENTRY.

With three candidates seeking the Republican nomination for state treasurer, Conrad F. [Cooney] Becker of Red Bud is considered the odds-on-favorite because of his indorsement by the regular state party organization. He is opposed by Walter W. Waite of Mound City and Taylor E. Wilhelm of Ottawa. Earl W. Merritt of Salem is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Becker, a bulky man with a quiet manner but an effective mixer who possesses a wide acquaintance in southern Illinois, has lived all his 38 years in Randolph county, where he is county chairman. He served three terms as mayor of Red Bud. Becker resigned as warden of the southern Illinois state prison at Menard to run for treasurer.

Tried Out with Cards.

He has been associated for years with his father in the C. Becker Milling company and has gained a reputation as one of the leading business men of that section. He twice was president of the Southern Illinois Millers association and is active in business men's organizations.

An outstanding athlete of Sparta High school, Becker later worked out as a pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, but a severe knee injury ended his sports career and also kept him from military service in the present war.

Wilhelm is state's attorney of La Salle county and attorney for the executive committees of the Illinois County Officials' association, for Illinois Association of County Commissioners and Supervisors, and for the Illinois Sheriffs association. Waite has been Pulaski county clerk for 25 years and a party leader in southern Illinois.

City Business Manager.

Merritt was born in Salem in 1888, educated in the Salem schools and at St. Louis, Mo., and served in the first World war. He is an active Legionnaire, serving as post commander and as chairman of the board of the All-Veterans state commission. As chairman and manager he has built Marion county's annual Soldiers and Sailors reunion into the largest event of its kind in the country.

As business manager of Salem, he restored highly delinquent utility accounts to solvency by uncovering and collecting thousands of unpaid accounts. Recognition of his business ability came in his selection by the state auditor to liquidate three southern Illinois state banks, one of which paid 100 per cent on its deposits, plus interest.

Mrs. Merritt, daughter of the late Judge Charles Holt of Salem, is president of the Salem Women's club.

DIES COMMITTEE LOOKS INTO CIO'S 5 MILLION DRIVE

Rep. Dies [D., Tex.], in a brief Chicago stopover on his way to Texas, said yesterday that the house committee to investigate un-American activities is probing activities of the CIO political action committee, which is raising 5 million dollars for campaign purposes.

Dies also decried the use of huge sums of money to sponsor such radio programs as that of Walter Winchell, whom he recently described as the leader of the "smear bund" in America. Winchell has been attacking congress, particularly what he calls the "house of reprehensibles."

Accompanying Dies were his wife and two sons. Martin Jr., 22, will take his naval assignment at their home town of Orange, Tex., a shipbuilding center.

MAYOR BOOSTS E. M. SNEED IN 3D WARD MEETING

Mayor Kelly, principal speaker last night at a meeting of the 3d ward Democratic organization in its headquarters at 336 E. 47th st., urged solid support for President Roosevelt.

The mayor praised Edward M. Sneed, county commissioner and 3d ward committeeman, and explained that his appearance at the meeting was to urge Sneed's return to the county central committee of the party.

"I am satisfied that Sneed supports the Democratic organization," the mayor said. "I do not appear here in an effort to meddle into your affairs, but address you somewhat as an alderman of your ward, as I am, by virtue of my office, more or less an alderman of all the wards."

12 OUT OF 728! THAT'S WILLKIE VOTE IN A POLL

A footnote for Wendell Willkie's political obituary was written at the regular Republican organization mass meeting in Chicago Heights Monday night when he got only 12 out of 728 votes cast for various Presidential possibilities, Township Committeeman David Dahl said yesterday.

Dewey was far out in front with 376 votes, MacArthur was second with 150, nosing out Bricker who got 145. MacNider received 25, and Stassen 10. Among scattered votes Roosevelt's name was written in by two in the audience.

"If Willkie is running for last place for any office, I'd say his chances are good," Dahl commented.

30,000 VETERANS SIGN PLEDGES TO AID BENSON

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

War veterans' support for Arnold P. Benson for the Republican nomination for secretary of state was mobilized yesterday at a luncheon attended by more than 500 in Hotel Sherman. Benson was presented with 30,000 pledge cards signed by veterans headed by Joseph H. Novotny and William M. Devine.

"After taking a look at the candidate the Democrats will have in the fall [Edward J. Barrett of the marines], we veterans decided to back Benson in the primary," Novotny said.

"We want every precinct in the state manned for Benson by his comrades, working with the regular committeemen. That is the first instruction."

Benson Given American Flag.

Lt. Gov. Cross presented Benson with an American flag in behalf of Republican state senators who are war veterans. Present were Senators Walker Butler, William G. Knox, Arthur J. Bidwill, George D. Mills, all of Cook county; Wallace Thompson, Galesburg; Charles F. Carpentier, East Moline; T. Mac Downing, Macomb; Frank J. Dick, Quincy; John Thomas, Belleville, Everett R. Peters, St. Joseph, and Earle B. Searcy, Springfield.

"If representative government is to survive it will be by the deeds of men who continue to serve their country as Benson does," Cross said.

"As minority leader in the senate and later majority leader, Sen. Benson has demonstrated energy, integrity, and the courage to say 'no' when public interest demands it. The fact that every Republican veteran in the senate is here is sufficient evidence of the respect in which he is held. He has ended his senate career only to begin one of greater service as secretary of state."

Aid Promised to New Veterans.

Sen. Benson, a founder of Batavia post of the American Legion, pledged an honest, courteous, and economical administration. He said he would spare no effort to see to it that World War II. veterans were restored to their rightful places in civil life.

"The Republican party has always believed in free enterprise," he said. "It has always promoted private employment. It has helped the old, the sick, and the needy. It has fought to eliminate waste. It has protected agriculture. It has given the people lower taxes. It is because of these things that service men are members of the Republican party."

In a radio broadcast last night Benson promised to curtail questionnaires and to abolish all red tape in the office of secretary of state. He reiterated that, despite a reduction in the sales tax from 3 to 2 per cent, the state had piled up $75,000,000 as a post-war reserve.

Politicians said State Treasurer William G. Stratton was something of a mystery candidate for the secretary of state nomination. In Cook county, since Monday, he had not yet scheduled meetings where he will appear, altho it was reported he would speak tonight at Madison Athletic club, 4715 Madison st. Friends said he was continuing his handshaking tour in the metropolitan area.

Gov. Green was accompanied by Mrs. Green at last night's mass meetings in the park fieldhouse in Des Plaines and at 620 Lincoln av., Winnetka. Richard J. Lyons, for United States senator, and Atty. Gen. George F. Barrett also addressed both gatherings. Benson spoke in Winnetka and at 2800 South Park way.

M'NUTT JOLTS NEW DEAL CLAIM OF LABOR CRISIS

Man Power Problem in Good Shape, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—New Dealers are urging the Presidential nomination of Wendell Willkie by the Republicans in an effort to divide and destroy the Republican party, Rep. Keefe [R., Wis.] charged in a house speech today.

Rep. Keefe.

"In the current battle for delegates in the state of Wisconsin," he told members, "we find violently pro-New Deal and pro-fourth term newspapers urging editorially and otherwise the nomination of Willkie. These New Deal editors attack all Republicans who are mentioned as possible nominees of the Republican party convention except Mr. Willkie.

"They want him nominated. Make no mistake, however, they do not intend to support him if he is nominated. They have already pledged their support to Mr. Roosevelt."

Charges Political Trick.

Keefe noted the recent attack of Robert Hannegan, Democratic national committee chairman, against Gov. Dewey of New York for not being an open candidate and discussing the issues. Willkie in a number of speeches in Wisconsin, Keefe recalled, has given voice to substantially the same sentiment.

"It should be understood that under Wisconsin law a citizen may vote in any one party primary," he declared. "Thus, an appeal is being made to those committed to the policies of the New Deal to vote in the Republican primary in an effort to assist in the nomination of a candidate for whom these New Dealers have no thought of voting at the November election.

"The successful culmination of this effort would leave those who believe in true Republican doctrine and those who believe in Jeffersonian democracy politically stranded.

"Despite the fact that those who worship at the shrine of Mr. Roosevelt have long ago proclaimed their support of his candidacy for a fourth term, no word has come from the White House either that the President is or is not a candidate."

Fires Question at Hannegan.

Keefe quoted from a newspaper interview with Aubrey Williams, former head of the national youth administration, which quoted Williams as saying, after dining with the President, that he left with the "distinct impression that he would not run again altho he did not say so directly."

"Why not sweep in front of your own door step, Mr. Hannegan?" asked Keefe. "I would like to know who your candidates for the Presidency are. Why are you taking up the cudgels against Mr. Dewey at this time in support of the candidacy of Mr. Willkie?

"You know that the people will have little or no voice in determining who the Democratic candidate will be. The present occupant of the White House will determine that question for them.

"I have supreme confidence that the voters of Wisconsin, despite any smears that may be heaped upon Mr. Dewey or any other Republican candidate by Mr. Hannegan and his coterie of New Deal editors, will go to the polls and repudiate any attempt to have the Republican nomination dictated by New Dealers."

YANKEE RAIDERS BOMB 4 NAZI AIR BASES IN FRANCE

LONDON, March 28 (AP).—Striking against bases from which the Nazi air force defends Europe, 250 to 500 United States heavy bombers pounded four air fields in northern France today.

Heavily escorted formations of Flying Fortresses slapped at Chartres, 40 miles southwest of Paris; Chateaudun, 30 miles farther southwest; Reims, 80 miles northeast, and Dijon, 160 miles southeast of Paris.

United States headquarters said 30 enemy planes were destroyed on the ground at the four bases and that two American bombers and three fighters were lost.

Two of the Nazi planes were destroyed by Lt. Byron Hill of 719 S. Ashland blvd., Chicago, who damaged four others. Capt. Curtis Johnston of 20 Delaware pl., Chicago, shared credit for one plane. Lt. Charles Anderson of Gary, Ind., destroyed one Nazi plane. Also on the raid was Lt. Harold Culp of Cedar, Lake, Ind.

It was the 22d major American operation of the month.

AIR RAIDS PUT NAZIS IN DILEMMA ON WHEN TO FIGHT, SAYS ARMY

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—Elimination of enemy air opposition to the allied invasion forces in western Europe has posed a new problem for Germany, the army said today. An official report observed:

"If Germany attempts to frustrate attacks on its fighter industry by throwing a fighter screen against A. A. F. and R. A. F. heavy bombers and their escorts it may suffer a rate of attrition beyond its capacity for replacement.

"If it determines to conserve fighter strength by reducing Nazi air force opposition to the bomber offensive, it will be at the expense of exposing to more effective aerial attack those strategic target systems whose destruction will directly affect German military strength."

JAPS INVADING INDIA INCREASE THEIR ATTACKS

Battle Rages 32 Miles from Imphal.

NEW DELHI, India, March 28 (AP).—Efforts of British troops to clear Japanese invasion columns from the Tiddim-Imphal road south of the communications center of Imphal in India "continue satisfactorily," Adm. Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

However, another Japanese force pushing into India thru the Somra hills was making determined attacks in the vicinity of Ukhrul, 32 miles northeast of Imphal, with hard fighting in progress. Japanese pressure there was increasing, an allied bulletin said.

[No mention was made in the bulletin or dispatches of the Japanese column which is moving toward Kohima, 60 miles north of Imphal.]

Third Column Halted.

A third Japanese column thrusting toward Imphal from the southeast appeared to have been halted just inside the Indian border. Today's bulletin said a Japanese attack was thrown back in that area and that allied troops captured one position.

American-trained Chinese troops driving south in northern Burma stormed and captured a village in the Mogaung valley. In the same vicinity American troops used bayonets and grenades to wipe out Japanese suicide squads.

[A Japanese broadcast said "mopping up" operations were in progress against remnants of three brigades of American and British airborne troops who landed March 5-6 far behind Japanese lines in northern Burma. An allied bulletin several days ago said this force, which threatened to cut the Japanese railroad supply line between Mandalay and Myitkyina, its northern terminus in the Mogaung valley, was being supported by planes.]

Inflict Heavy Losses.

Allied operations progressed near the Bengal bay coast on the Arakan front, today's bulletin said, with the Japanese suffering heavy casualties in counter-attacks. Allied fighter pilots reported a "highly successful" attack on enemy positions. Heavy bombers destroyed Japanese supply dumps.

BOMBERS DROP 292 TONS UPON BISMARCK JAPS

ALLIED HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, March 29 [Wednesday] (AP).—Allied bombers dumped 292 tons of explosives in swings over enemy bases of the Bismarck archipelago area, Gen. MacArthur announced today.

The bombers hit Kavieng, New Ireland, Rabaul, New Britain, Japanese positions on Bougainville Island in the Solomons, and the prime bases at Wewak and Hansa bay on the northeastern New Guinea coast.

Other planes ranging along the Dutch New Guinea coast set an enemy cargo ship afire.

WLB BACKS PAY BOOST FOR 400 AT MILLS PLANT

The national war labor board has upheld a decision of the regional board granting wage increases to 400 employes of the Palmer st. plant of Mills Industries, Inc., Ishmael P. Flory, international representative of the Mine and Smelter Workers' union, CIO, said yesterday.

Flory said the company appealed a decision last September under which the workers were awarded increases of 5 to 35 cents an hour, with bonuses for second and third shifts and union dues checkoff and maintenance of membership contract provisions.

The company, he said, was directed to comply with the order by Friday. Company spokesmen said that since the original order was issued a majority of the employes had become members of the International Association of Machinists, an AFL unit.

ACQUIRE ISLAND BASES AT ONCE, REP. FISH URGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—A demand that the United States start negotiating now for outright acquisition of Atlantic and Pacific Island bases to protect its future security was made today by Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.] as the house voted to establish a special 23 man committee to help formulate this country's post-war military policies.

Fish in a floor speech asserted that additional island bases in both oceans are needed for "the future strategic defense of this country. "The bases should be chosen," he said, "not for imperialistic, but for military considerations."

The United States, he told the house, should not wait until the war is over, but should take steps immediately to acquire the necessary bases from Great Britain and other countries.

Includes Leased Bases.

In the Atlantic, he said, the United States should have bases from Greenland to South America, including those it now holds under 99 year lease in British owned islands in the Caribbean. In the Pacific, he continued, this country should hold all Japanese owned islands needed for defense and should seek other islands from Britain, France, and, if necessary, from other nations.

"The time to arrange for these bases is now, not after the war," the congressman told the house. "We should go to Britain and other countries frankly and openly. If we wait until after the war, and sneak the proposal into a secret conference by the back door, we shall never get the bases."

Fish observed that the United States is sending billions in lend-lease aid to Britain and other nations and is "defending the British empire all over the world." In view of this, he said, Britain at this time should react favorably to a request for the transfer of island bases when it is made clear that they are essential to our national defense.

Opposes 99 Year Plan.

The holding of Caribbean bases on a 99 year lease from England is unsatisfactory, the congressman said, "because we are not just a 99 year country."

Fish predicted that the acquisition of sufficient bases off our shores will make it unnecessary to maintain a huge standing army after the war.

Discussing the resolution calling for the house military policy committee, sponsored by Rep. Wadsworth [R., N. Y.], Fish said he hoped the group will give careful study to the possibility of consolidating the war and navy departments into a single department of national defense. Wadsworth agreed that this proposal should be seriously considered.

Woodrum May Be Chairman.

The committee, Wadsworth suggested, should study such problems as military training, disposal of surplus property, and unity of command. The question of island bases, he said, perhaps should not be considered until after the war.

The committee will be composed of seven members each from the military and naval committees and nine from the rest of the house membership. Rep. Woodrum [D., Va.], a veteran of 22 years in the house, is slated for the chairmanship, but the appointments have not yet been made. Woodrum is the ranking majority member of the house appropriations committee.

U. S. Will Be a Barefoot Nation, Warns Rep. Hall

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—The country will soon go barefooted unless some of the 83 million cattle on hand are slaughtered for leather, Rep. Hall [R., N. Y.] told the house today. "Well, it'll soon be warm," interjected Rep. Rankin [D., Miss.].

ILLINOISANS FIND RED CROSS HUT POPULAR PLACE

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT AN AMERICAN INVASION TRAINING BASE IN ENGLAND, March 28.—Outside it looked like any Nissen hut, and its interior didn't look much different. There were tables, benches, a radio, some games, but it was the most popular place at the encampment of troops taking a course in this assault training center because the name on the door was "Red Cross," and that agency's field director inside was Floyd H. Gates of Dayton, O.

That night as we sat there surrounded by men from the middle west, Gates talked about the boys' club he had directed at home, about the Golden Gloves teams he had sent to Chicago, about his personal plans for the invasion, and about the tough Ranger course he had taken.

Here are the names of a few of the men: Pvt. Horace L. Sisk, Arcola, Ill., brother of Mrs. Fletcher Gritton, 15035 Riverside dr., Harvey, Ill.; Corp. John C. Konopka, 2254 Logan blvd., Chicago; Pvt. 70 Palestine Jews Seized After 9 Police Die in Riots

Council Unit Allots $90,000 for Addison St. Sewer

The city council finance committee yesterday approved a request of Public Works Commissioner Hewitt for authorization to spend $90,000 to construct a new sewer section in Addison st., between Lincoln av. and Paulina st. The sewer, built in 1860 and said by engineers to be too small to carry sewage from the neighborhood it serves, collapsed March 11 under the weight of a passing truck.

LONDON REVEALS ALLIED PLAN FOR EASTERN EUROPE

Reds to Hold Sway from Baltic to Balkans.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 28.—While the utmost discretion has been exercised by responsible officials here regarding details of agreements reached at the Moscow and the Teheran conferences too many people have had to be consulted and informed for all of their secrets to be kept indefinitely. Thus, while no source can be cited, it is possible to give a rough idea of some of the plans that are shaping up for Europe's reconstruction.

Russia's absorption of the Baltic states and incorporation of eastern Poland as far west as the Curzon line has been tacitly accepted and Russia is left with little reason to doubt that in the Balkans she will recover all the territory she regards as historically Russian and exercise influence over Bulgaria, Rumania, Hungary, and possibly Jugo-Slavia.

Bar Austro-German Union.

Austria's independence was pledged in the Moscow declaration and, contrary to speculation at the time, this singling out of Adolf Hitler's first victim of aggression for special mention was at British rather than Russian instigation.

While big powers look with favor on reëstablishment of Austria as a free and independent state, they will oppose any movement either from Austria or elsewhere for a union of that country with Bavaria or any other south German state. This is on the theory that Austria should look to Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, and nations of the Danubian basin for her economic ties and because it is considered desirable in the interest of peace to prevent another anschluss [union with Germans].

No Future Polish Corridor.

There is general agreement that there shall be no Polish corridor in post-war Europe. This artificial separation of one part of Germany from another is regarded as a breeder of future wars and the present plan is to cede East Prussia to Poland, not merely as compensation for her eastern provinces which are now conceded to be hopelessly lost to Russia but for geographical reasons as well.

[Andrei Witos was quoted in a broadcast from Moscow yesterday as saying that Poland's eastern frontiers would be laid down by agreement with Russia, "just as its southern frontiers will be the result of an agreement with the government of Czecho-Slovakia." Witos is vice president of the soviet sponsored Union of Polish Patriots.]

This and the very likely shift of the Russian frontier westward to the old Curzon line, together with other boundary adjustments that are contemplated will involve huge shifts of population. Hard as that will be for those involved, the total number of people in enforced migrations is expected to be less than have been uprooted under Hitler's new order.

See Danger in Poland.

The greatest of anxiety is felt right now about the situation in Poland. As the Russian armies advance toward the Curzon line the danger of an open conflict between Polish underground and Red army troops increases despite orders from Premier Mikolajczyk to his followers at home to coöperate.

It is felt here that such conflict must be avoided at all cost because of the ugly implications it would have on the harmony of the allied nations. Indeed the restraint of the Polish underground in eastern Poland is seen here as a refutation of the Russian charge that the Polish government in exile here is without influence among its own people.

It is feared that by the time the Curzon line is reached, patience may have worn thin and it is feared that with the situation as it is there is ever present the danger of a clash.

TERRY

POLES CONDEMN SLAV CONGRESS AND WITHDRAW

Dominated by Reds, Says Resolution.

The Polish division of the American Slav congress has voted to withdraw because the congress is dominated by Communists, Dr. Wencel F. Hetman of Chicago, president of the Polish group, announced yesterday.

The withdrawal resolution said the Poles were led to believe that the congress was created for the purpose of serving America in the war, while actually it has been dominated for the last year by Communists whose purpose is to foster the overthrow of the United States government and destroy the American way of life.

Laudatory "Only of Stalin."

"It appears from the conduct and writing of the American Slav congress that the congress is laudatory only of Josef Stalin and Communists and did not recognize the efforts of the American people," the resolution continued.

The Polish division charged that Russia marched into Poland in 1939 as an enemy, seized territory which historically always had been Polish, plundered, looted, and devastated the country, executed thousands of Poles, and deported and imprisoned millions more.

Warned Against Reds.

The 600,000 Chicago area residents of Polish descent were warned by the Polish division to be on guard against Communists and their sympathizers seeking to infiltrate into Polish fraternal and national organizations and breed discord and unrest.

The Polish division comprises representatives of several organizations, including churches, districts of the Polish National Alliance, the Polish Roman Catholic union, labor groups, and clubs.

READY-TO-EAT HAM DROPS TO 2 POINTS A POUND ON SUNDAY

The ration point value of ready-to-eat ham will be reduced from three to two points a pound Sunday, the office of price administration said last night. Only minor changes will be made in the point values of other meats and processed foods, except fruits and vegetables, when April charts are published Friday.

April quotas of new passenger car tires will remain at virtually the same low levels as in the last two months, but there will be more for small trucks, tractors, and farm implements. Increased production of synthetic rubber was given as the reason for the boost in casings for trucks and farm equipment.

HIKE IN B RATION GAS STILL 2 OR 3 MONTHS OFF: OPA

Gasoline rations for B coupons holders will not be increased for two or three months, Col. Bryan Houston, head of all rationing for the office of price administration, disclosed yesterday. He said statements quoting him as saying B rations would be raised in 30 days were "erroneous."

"Apparently my statement that in 30 days we could begin to tell whether there will be an increase, and how much, was misunderstood," Houston said in Washington, D. C. "It is probable that by May 1 my office will be able to make plans for an increase of possibly 100 miles a month when and if there is more gasoline available for B ticket drivers."

Salesmen and others who use their cars in the course of their work are given B books, Houston said. Originally good for 720 miles a month, B coupons now permit 475 miles of driving in the midwest, 400 on the Pacific coast, and 325 in the east. Houston said that by fall he hoped to be able to restore the original 720 mile allowance in all areas except the east.

Altho OPA will allot to motorists all gasoline permitted by the petroleum administration for war, Houston added, A rations will not be increased in this area. The black market, he said, "is gradually being whipped, and we hope this saves enough gas to permit larger allowances for honest motorists."

PRE-INDUCTION TESTS FACE ALL MEN UNDER 26

Draft Orders Ignore Job and Family Status.

Ignoring family and occupational statuses, Illinois draft boards yesterday began sending orders for pre-induction physical examinations to registrants under 26 years of age. The action was in accordance with instructions from Washington, D. C., last week which virtually barred any occupational deferments for men under 26.

Hereafter, the 151 draft boards in Chicago, 15 in Cook county, 14 in suburban county towns, and 181 downstate will order pre-induction examinations in this order: Those who volunteer, registrants under 26, nonfathers 26 to 37, and, finally, fathers 26 to 37.

Few to Get Job Deferments.

Registrants 18 to 26 will find it almost impossible to obtain occupational deferments, regardless of their jobs, after current deferments expire. Those under 26 who do get deferments will have to file either form 42 special or 42A special.

Form 42 special is for deferment of students who have been approved by scientific or specialized personnel officials in Washington, and for others not engaged in essential war production.

Form 42A special is for essential war workers. Before a local board may give consideration to a registrant under 26, his form 42A special must be indorsed by a representative of the army, navy, maritime commission, war production board, office of defense transportation, war food administration, petroleum administrator for war, solid fuels administrator, rubber director, or war shipping administration.

Must Get Armstrong's O. K.

After a representative of one of the 10 government agencies indorses the 42A special form, it will be sent to the state director, Paul G. Armstrong, in Springfield, for his recommendation. If the state director does not approve the application for deferment, the local board has no choice other than to order the registrant's induction.

Should the state director approve the application, however, the local board is not bound by his decision, and may order the registrant inducted at its discretion. Local boards are bound by the general restriction on occupational deferments for men 18 to 26 and cannot deviate from the rule without approval of the director.

Registrants under 26 who are unfit for general military service may be classified 2-A or 2-B by local boards if they are engaged in essential war work, or they may be inducted for limited service if there is need for them. Registrants under 26, and fit only for limited service, may be classified as 2-A or 2-B by boards in the hope of keeping them in essential war work, but the registrant is not bound to his job.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

March 28, 1944.

If the manager of the Fox river farm plants soybeans again this year he will take pains, as usual, to see that the crop goes onto a flat piece of land not susceptible to erosion.

For many years farmers have believed the soybean to be a soil building crop. Row cropping the beans up and down a hill, failure to inoculate the roots properly and not following the beans with a winter cover crop have resulted in many acres of good land being washed down the creek.

Farmers have become wary of soybeans and now are considering them only a soil depleting crop like corn. They are justified in this assumption, and a recent article in THE TRIBUNE termed beans the Mr. Hyde of crops. The article was the result of many conversations with farmers who had misused soybeans and were suffering the ill effects.

Smaller Crop in '44.

Some agricultural colleges expressed disapproval of the story because of the urgent need for soybeans as a source of oil. The assertion in the article that many farmers were thru with soybeans was backed up by the recent announcement that in almost every state the acres set aside for beans this year would be fewer than last year.

Officials of Iowa State college wrote that "as a grain crop soybeans do not remove significantly larger amounts of mineral elements, such as phosphorus and potassium, than the average for other crops commonly used in the rotation."

A rotation of corn, corn, oats, and clover in a four year period removes approximately 9 pounds of phosphorus and 29 pounds of potassium per acre. Soybeans grown for grain, the college asserted, remove 12 pounds of phosphorus and 27 pounds of potassium per acre.

Facts to Be Understood.

As for nitrogen, the college states that a properly nodulated crop of beans does not take as much from the soil as do comparable nonlegume crops.

All of these facts are true and should be understood. The manager of the Fox river farm points out, however, that there are many farmers who still believe the bean to be a soil builder and classify it along with other legumes such as clover and alfalfa.

If farmers will take the soybean at its face value—a soil depleting crop, a grain crop, and a nonlegume—then they will be able to handle it properly without sustaining the soil losses that have plagued them thus far with its use, the manager explained.

Beans definitely hurt the soil; if planted, they should be contoured on sloping ground, followed by a winter cover crop, and fertilizers should be used to replace the elements taken from the soil. Inoculation to improve the nitrogen fixing quality of the beans should be done without exception, he said.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

Jersey Queen variety of cabbage proved to be the best all-around type of the four grown in the farm gardens last season. Jersey Queen is extra early, because month old plants can be put in the garden around April 15 in normal years and produce heads 60 days after transplanting. The same variety can be planted from seed in the open row in the first week of April, and produces heads about 90 days later.

A common fault among novice gardeners is that of planting too much cabbage at one time. If the entire crop is planted from sets in mid-April, or early May, all the heads will mature at once. If this occurs, many of the heads will split across the top and deteriorate unless used immediately. For this reason it is advisable to transplant a few sets every three to four days, or to sow seed for part of the crop.

The Tribune booklet, "Gardener's Diary," contains more complete information on the culture of cabbages. It is on sale by The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and Tribune Tower, for 15 cents over the counter, 18 cents by mail.

NAVY INCREASES BUILDING PLANS ON WEST COAST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—Emphasis on the construction of navy shore facilities is being shifted to the Pacific coast, navy department officials told the senate naval affairs committee today at a closed hearing, Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the committee, told reporters.

Capitol observers believed that the officials' testimony indicated that naval action against the Japanese in the Pacific can be expected to spread and its tempo to increase.

Walsh said Vice Adm. F. J. Horne, assistant chief of the bureau of naval operations, had told the committee that in the Pacific theater the navy needed a free hand in authorizing construction activities and determining where they were needed.

The committee's hearing was on a bill which would authorize the secretary of the navy to proceed with the construction of shore facilities at a cost of one and a half billion dollars. Construction authorized includes fleet and cargo piers, supply depots, aviation training bases, harbor improvements at naval bases, repair depots, and hospital facilities.

The bill was approved by the committee late today. Individual provisions in the measure totaled $1,644,373,024, but the overall expenditures are limited to the one and one-half billion dollar figure. A companion bill was passed by the house and was sent to the senate.

To Increase Hospital Beds.

Altho today's sessions were secret, Walsh revealed that Vice Adm. McIntire, chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery, had outlined plans for malaria recuperation facilities, a need growing out of warfare in the South Pacific. Naval hospital facilities to increase bed capacity from 60,000 to 80,000 also were asked, Walsh said.

Plans for expanding marine corps training facilities were discussed by Lt. Gen. Vandegrift, marine corps commandant, Walsh said. Expenditure of two million dollars for construction at Camp Lejeune, S. C., where members of the marine women's reserve are trained is contemplated, he reported.

MRS. W. R. KIRK SUES IN EAST FOR SEPARATION

Mrs. Louisa N. Kirk, well known in Chicago and the east, has filed suit for separate maintenance in New York state against her millionaire husband, Walter R. Kirk, former soap manufacturer. He will contest the action.

The suit was filed in the Supreme court of Westchester county, N. Y., Monday by the New York law firm of Swigert, Chambers & Kelly. It gives Mrs. Kirk's residence as West Tarrytown, Westchester, and states that Kirk's residence is New York City. A hearing is scheduled in New York April 4.

Mrs. Kirk charges that Kirk wilfully and without cause abandoned her April 23, 1943, and refuses to contribute to her support. They were married Dec. 12, 1934. Mrs. Kirk was formerly Louisa Nevins Johnson.

In Chicago, Kirk's lawyer, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., said Kirk will resist the New York action on the ground that he and Mrs. Kirk are legal residents of Illinois and not New York. An effort will be made to dismiss the complaint, Cantwell said. The lawyer said Kirk was served with notice of the suit while in New York awaiting the birth of a child to his daughter by a former marriage.

40 TONS OF WAR MATERIAL TIED UP IN UNION ROW

Forty tons of material consigned to war plants lay stranded yesterday on the docks of the Northwestern Transit Lines, Inc., 3800 Halsted st., because of a dispute between local 705 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters [AFL] and the Chicago Truck Drivers union, local 705, an independent union.

C. P. O'Connor, manager of the trucking company, said his drivers were members of the independent union, and the firm had a labor contract with that union. However, the company's dock laborers belong to another AFL union, Dock Laborers' local 710, which ordered them to load no trucks driven by members of the independent union.

"We want to be neutral," said O'Connor, "but we can't understand why the company and the war program are being made to suffer because of a dispute between two unions."

Lt. George Barnes of the police labor detail explained that the IBT union had been trying to absorb the 5,000 members of the independent union.

STOP MEDDLING IN U. S. POLITICS, BRITISH WARNED

Byrd Tells Senate Note to Troops Was 'Fake.'

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—Sen. Byrd [D., Va.] bluntly warned the British today to keep hands off the Presidential election.

Byrd delivered his warning after reading to the senate the British United Press' admission that its recent story asserting enemies of President Roosevelt were willing to spend 50 million dollars to defeat him—a story distributed to American troops landing in England—was "purely conjectural."

Byrd charged use of the story in an official British publication sponsored by the British ministry of information could now be regarded in no other way than as "purely propaganda."

Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] called upon the British government agencies concerned to show good faith by disclaiming the 50 million dollar anti-Roosevelt fund in its next leaflets published for American soldiers in England.

New Dealers Glare.

Glares of New Deal leaders failed to daunt Byrd and he went on to read the senate more fourth term propaganda; an office of price administration letter, mailed under government frank, calling on price and rationing boards to "lay aside our mulligrubs and get on our knees and thank God for Roosevelt and his NRA, OPA, AAA and FHA."

[A mulligrub is defined in the dictionary as an intestinal griping. Hence, senators explained, a mulligrub is used colloquially to mean grumbling.]

Director Elmer Davis of the office of war information had told the house rules committee earlier today he favors creation of a congressional committee "to keep track of us." Davis and the OWI have been under fire for propaganda among soldiers which members of both houses say has been disseminated to promote the fourth term.

Relates "Explanation."

The story of a supposed 50 million dollar anti-Roosevelt fund was distributed to American soldiers by the British ministry of information. It was written by the British United Press. Byrd reported he wrote this news agency for an explanation.

"I have received a letter," he said, "from Mr. R. W. Keyserlingk, managing director of the B. U. P. at Montreal, to the effect that this article was sent by one of the staff writers of the B. U. P. at New York, and that the 50 million dollar estimate was his own; that he had no information to sustain this statement, which was purely conjectural on his part.

"I speak as a friend of the British government, but I say that nothing will do more to destroy the unity between our two countries than occurrences such as this. . . . The representatives of Great Britain in America should inform those who control these leaflets that are being distributed to American troops that they can do no greater disservice to their country than to insert political propaganda in these publications that are given to American troops while they are on British soil.

[News and propaganda leaflets prepared by the British government are used to welcome American troops.]

Plea for Roosevelt.

The plea to "get down on our knees and thank God for Roosevelt" originally appeared first in the Atlanta [Ga.] Journal, according to Administrator Chester Bowles of the OPA, ostensibly as a letter to the editor.

Next day, according to an explanation from Bowles which Byrd read the senate, the Atlanta regional executive of OPA directed the office for emergency management to reprint 3,000 copies. These were printed at government expense and mailed out in franked envelopes to the regional office's 890 local price and rationing boards.

Miscreant Is Punished.

Bowles did not name the executive responsible. But the OPA director said he punished the fellow—ordered him to pay the cost of the printing out of his own pocket.

"I think," commented Byrd, "that any employe of the government who would so abuse the franking privilege as to send out such an article as an official communication should be dismissed."

The letter, a lengthy document, praised the Roosevelt administration for a "fabulous" rise in farm prices and "billions of dollars in subsidies."

Byrd said Bowles explained: He was "shocked." Politics is "none of OPA's business."

HOLD UP CANADA AS EXAMPLE FOR U. S. IN RATIONING

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP). "Rationing suspended" advertisments from Canadian newspapers were displayed to the house today, as three Republicans assailed administration handling of the food distribution problem.

Rep. Hartley [R., N. J.] showed his colleagues the ads and related that rationing of shoes and meat has been lifted in Canada.

"If Canada, under efficient management, can do this, why can't we?" Hartley asked. "Particularly when a good share of the goods for sale there come from our country."

Rep. Gross [R., Pa.] read part of a letter from a relative in Quebec, Canada, and voiced agreement with a section of it which said: "Rationing has not reached us . . . why has it affected you so? What has become of the great American spirit?"

HOW POLITICAL 'NEWS' IS SPREAD IN ARMY PAPER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—An article headed "FDR to Run Only if 'Best Fitted'," which appeared in the March Mediterranean edition of The Stars and Stripes, army newspaper, was exhibited today by Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] as a typical example of how the army news service dispenses political news to troops overseas.

Article Quotes Michelson.

The article, which was datelined Washington, quoted a recent magazine article in which Charles Michelson, one time political director of the Democratic national committee, said that President Roosevelt would seek a fourth term only if convinced that he was the only Democrat who could win.

"This article requires no comment," Brewster told THE TRIBUNE. "It obviously was circulated by the army news service."

"Same Trail for Farley."

"Only the 'imminence of war' prompted Mr. Roosevelt to run for a third term," Mr. Michelson said in the article. He also predicted that James A. Farley, former national chairman who broke with Roosevelt over the third term, will not lead a third party revolt if the President again is the Democratic candidate.

"'Farley will follow the same trail he trod in 1940—that is, he will amass as many delegates as he can to stop Roosevelt in the convention, and if that fails he will again announce that he will vote for the ticket, and then take no further part in the campaign,' Michelson wrote."

TRIBUNE AWARD PRESENTED TO STEEL WORKER

Clair M. Harter, who devised a procedure for the manufacture of a bomb fin lock nut which saved the taxpayers $300,000 on one order, made a 40 per cent saving in critical steel, and reduced man hours by 30 per cent, was presented The Tribune War Workers' award last night in a broadcast on station W-G-N.

Harter, an employe of the Cyclone Fence division of the American Steel and Wire company, a United States Steel corporation subsidiary, was the 20th to win the award, which is symbolized with a diamond studded gold pin.

Maj. J. Albert Roesch, assistant chief of the ammunition branch, Chicago ordnance district, made the presentation to Harter, who lives on a farm near Gurnee, Lake county. It was explained that a bomb fin lock nut holds in place the fins which guide bombs truly to targets. The saving resulting from Harter's process are achieved thru improvements on old methods.

EVERY NATION WILL BE HEARD, EDEN PROMISES

LONDON, March 28 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden predicted today that every nation would have an opportunity to be heard in international discussions. However, he said, "Responsibility for the preservation of peace must fall in the first instance on Britain, the United States and Russia, and they must have a greater voice in deciding any action taken in the general interest."

In an address before the Free Church Federal Council, the foreign secretary said the "first problem is to secure and maintain coöperation of the great powers. This can only be done if we have some common purpose, some common set of principles."

He said that even after the principles had been agreed upon problems of their application would require "daily continuous consultation" by the big three.

"Every state must have the right to make its voice heard in discussions of means by which we are to arrive at our common ends," Eden said, adding:

"But let us admit that, altho all states are equal in status, they are not equal in power, and consequently their duties must vary."

Two Dutchmen Sentenced to Die for Stealing Meat

New York, March 28 (AP).—The Berlin radio said today that two Dutch farm hands, Peter Heelhoed and Henrik Buursma, had been condemned to death in Cologne on charges of stealing and slaughtering cattle and selling the meat.

SIREN GOES OUT OF AURORA LIFE WITHOUT A SONG

That big, booming air raid siren the city of Aurora received 11 months ago was shipped back to the Detroit manufacturer yesterday because of priorities.

The siren was ordered last March, with the understanding that a priority must be obtained from the war production board before acceptance. But WPB ruled Aurora was not eligible for that particular priority. City officials appealed to state and national civilian defense officials without success.

Thruout the months, the siren remained crated and unopened in the freight offices. To have accepted or used it might have meant a $10,000 fine.

People are talking about the FOREIGN ARTICLES in the new Post

NOW—more than two years after Pearl Harbor—what do the people of Tokyo think—really think? How do the Japanese master minds influence their thoughts . . . and actions? Are they confident of victory? Is the real truth beginning to dawn?

The answers to these, and many other questions of vital concern to American millions, come straight from Tokyo itself via this week's new Post—now on sale.

This amazingly absorbing and revealing article comes from a woman who saw Doolittle come over . . . who has talked to "the man on the street" in Tokyo. It gives you the true thinking of a strong, vicious enemy—an enemy Tojo calls "a ball of fire—100,000,000 strong!"

In Today's Post—by Arthemise Goertz

THIS IS TOKYO TODAY

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

One of the Last Nine Americans Allowed the Freedom of Tokyo

ARTHEMISE GOERTZ went to Japan late in 1939 to gather material for a book. She was caught, with hundreds of other Americans in Tokyo when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor.

Of the 200-odd who failed to return on the Asama Maru in June, 1942, all except nine were sent to concentration camps. Miss Goertz was one of the nine.

While under constant surveillance, she was allowed comparative freedom in the enemy capital—and to this day does not know the true reason.

Miss Goertz returned recently, bringing with her what is certainly the latest, and perhaps the last, on-the-ground report of the true attitudes of the Japanese people.

Her article is presented as another outstanding evidence of the fact millions know—that great things naturally come first to the new Post.

NAZI'S NEW LAND MINE LOOKS LIKE A BAR OF SOAP

But It Can Blow Off a Soldier's Foot.

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—A new product of Teutonic ingenuity, a small but deadly land mine which cannot be located by detection instruments, has appeared on the Italian front.

Lt. Col. Alfred K. Du Moulin, back from observation duty with the 34th infantry, told of the mine in a report today to Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, commanding general of ground forces.

Known as the "wooden shoe mine," the anti-personnel device is made of plywood or plastic and is called the worst curse of all the enemy's weapons.

Looks Like Bar of Soap.

The new mine, Du Moulin reports, "looks like an innocent bar of soap, but has enough TNT in it to blow off a man's foot when stepped on."

A kettle shaped, portable pillbox "is one of the most astonishing defenses the Germans have developed," the observer said. Altho it is about five feet in diameter and six feet high, only the six inch concrete dome and machine gun snout are visible when the pillbox is sunk into place. Camouflage makes it indistinguishable beyond 10 yards.

Always Another Pillbox.

"Our men can destroy it with Molotov cocktails [containers of gasoline which are ignited and tossed onto the target] after outflanking it," Du Moulin said, "but the hills are so studded with them that there always seems to be another one behind the pillbox just smashed."

The Nazis are adapting every feature of the rugged Italian terrain to defensive use, he said.

LT. DONALD M'NALLY, WINNETKA FLYER, IS KILLED OVER FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. McNally, 195 Ridge av., Winnetka, said yesterday they have been notified by the war department that their oldest son, 1st Lt. Donald B. McNally, 23, was killed in combat over France last Nov. 15. McNally, a Thunderbolt fighter pilot stationed in England, previously had been reported missing.

Lt. D. B. McNally.

A graduate of Notre Dame university, Lt. McNally enlisted in the army air forces, had been overseas since last June 20 and held the air medal.

Lt McNally's father is president of the Mountain Valley Water company, 739 Jackson blvd. Two brothers and two sisters also survive.

POUND GERMANS CLINGING TO TWO CASSINO HOTELS

ALLIED HDQ., Naples, March 28 (AP).—Allied artillery broke up a German attack north of Cassino and continued to hammcr the two hotel "key point" areas of the German defenses within the ruined town, it was announced today.

Allied planes, flying about 1,400 sorties, blasted at railway lines and bridges yesterday, striking targets in central Italy, swarming over the battle area, and lashing shipping off the Italian west coast. Targets beyond the ground front also included the industrial area at Sette Bagni, on the northeastern outskirts of Rome, a power house at San Valentino, and planes on the ground at Rimini and Forli.

About 65 enemy planes were reported active over the battle area. Two were destroyed. Three allied planes were lost in all operations.

[Tuesday's German war bulletin said "German battle planes attacked enemy shipping [on Monday] off Anzio with good results. One freighter was sunk. Three more were damaged."]

690 Officials Suspended in Purge of Italian Fascists

5 KILLED IN NEW NAZI SHELLING OF ANZIO HOSPITAL

NAPLES, March 28 (AP).—Five soldiers were killed and 11 wounded on Sunday when 80 German shells fell in an American tent hospital area on the Anzio beachhead, it was learned today. The five soldiers all were patients.

Stars and Stripes said that the casualties brought to 33 the number of American hospital patients killed by shells and bombs on the beachhead, and that 74 have been wounded.

Lt. Isabelle Huffmar of Danville, Ill., night nurse in charge of the two tents, said, "There was no confusion. Nobody said a word until I asked for a flashlight. Then the first thing I saw when I turned it on was two dying men on the ground, one at each side of my desk."

BRIDE, 18, LOSES BATTLE TO GET HUBBY, 16, BACK

Judge Rules He Should Stay with Parents.

Cambridge, Mass., March 28 [Special].—Romance had a bad day in Probate court here today where an 18 year old bride of a month—once voted the sweetheart of the marine corps—lost a legal fight to get her 16 year old husband out of the custody of his parents.

J. P. Mulligan Jr.

She is the former Mary Ann Brydges, whose "sweetheart of the marines" title was bestowed in a contest in 1942 and followed by the girl's appearance in New York on a radio program. On Feb. 26 she was married at Town Gates, N. Y., to Joseph Patrick Mulligan Jr., a high school junior and former schoolmate, who neglected to consult Joseph Patrick Mulligan Sr. concerning his plunge into matrimony.

'Tis a Sad Story.

A sad story of an interrupted honeymoon was related by the bride before Judge John W. Monahan while the Mulligans, stern faced senior and red faced junior, listened with varied emotions.

Mary Ann said she had the blessings of her own family on the marriage and had financed the venture with $30 she had earned.

Parents Whisked Him Away.

As they stepped from the train on their return, she testified, her husband's parents rudely separated them and whisked him away from her. Since then, she said, they had kept him a prisoner. To support her demand that her husband be freed, she said she is pregnant.

Judge Monahan was unmoved by the story, commenting, "No matter how you try to classify them, they are still children." He denied her petition and set April 24 for a hearing on the elder Mulligan's request for an annulment."

STEEL WORKERS SCORN PLEAS TO RETURN TO JOBS

Striking workers in the steel erection department of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company at Michigan City, Ind., last night refused to return to work despite pleas of their local and international union officers and of fellow workers in other departments of the plant.

William Gunther, business agent of the union, local 290, of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, described the strike, called Monday morning, as an unauthorized walkout. The shutdown paralyzed production in all departments.

The walkout was engineered by Everett Brooks, chairman of the shop grievance committee, who was discharged after he had voluntarily absented himself from work because his request to have another worker transferred into the steel erection department was not granted by the company.

At last night's stormy session, Brooks and the striking workers were assailed by Mrs. Coy Bonner, an employe, who shouted that in war time it was their duty to work and continue production of needed materials. Brooks retorted: "I don't believe in that flag-waving stuff."

AGRICULTURAL DEFERMENTS.

Letters to this department reveal that there are many pre-Pearl Harbor fathers who have been employed in various nonagricultural activities who anxiously inquire if they could get a II-C classification if they returned to agriculture. Illinois state headquarters of selective service in state memo No. 776 of March 7, authorizes local boards to give consideration to such requests for agricultural deferment to "pre-Pearl Harbor fathers with agricultural experience" who return to agriculture and become "employed full time on a farm with substantial production," provided such "registrant returns to an agricultural occupation or endeavor before the local board has mailed him an order to report for induction" [form 150]. This provision also applies to any pre-Pearl Harbor fathers who, because of slack season, etc., left agricultural endeavors to accept work in war plants, and who now wish to return to such activity. Such registrants may request their local boards to reopen their classifications if they come within the provision noted, even tho they have been classified 1-A in the meantime.

In this state memo, there is also provision for registrants classified II-C or III-C who left agricultural employment to accept war work to be retained in class II-C or III-C even tho they may have been included on an industrial replacement schedule with release indicated in the first month. It is stated that "if such registrant has been granted a temporary release by the local board, his classification should be considered as a regular II-C or III-C registrant." However, "if no release was granted, the registrant is subject to reclassification," in the same manner as a registrant who left agriculture without a "determination from his local board that it was in the best interests of the war effort for him to do so."

State memo No. 776 also urges local boards [a] to give special consideration to registrants who are "fathers" or who have dependency acquired prior to Dec. 8, 1941, and [b] "It is recommended that a registrant, and especially a pre-Pearl Harbor father, who otherwise qualifies for agricultural deferment, but who has insufficient war unit production should be referred to the county United States department of agriculture war board for a period of 30 days for placement wholly or in part on other farms where he can make a substantial contribution.

"When a registrant in class II-C or III-C leaves an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort, he shall be reclassified in class 1-A, 1-A-O, or class IV-E unless, before leaving such agricultural occupation or endeavor, he requests a determination in writing from his local board that it is in the best interest of the war effort for him to leave such agricultural occupation or endeavor for other work." The term "other work" means work other than in agricultural occupation or endeavor, such as work in a defense plant. It is not necessary within limitations, for an ordinary farm hand, for instance, to apply to his local board for "a determination" in order to shift from one farm to another, especially if the worker feels that he can be personally responsible for greater production. Of course there is a limit to shifting and if it becomes chronic, the worker is likely to find himself reclassified on the grounds that he is a "floater" and not engaged full time. It is the intent of the regulations and selective service to permit workers to move freely, and the regulations cannot be so construed as to "freeze" a particular worker to a particular farm because such action would represent "involuntary servitude."

THE CENSORSHIP OF INVASION NEWS.

American newspapers should be roused to immediate action by the announcement from London that news from the projected invasion front will be handled by the British censorship. American officers, according to this announcement, will be given a sort of stand-by status in the censorship setup.

Our own censorship has been bad enough—worse than in the last war. The actual censors are, to a large extent, newspaper men doing an unpalatable job as gracefully, and often as helpfully, as possible, but as much cannot be said for the state department's cloudy suppressions of fact or the efforts of the brass hats to conceal their own failures, or of the OWI to cast a favorable light on everything.

Even so, the American public has not been so badly treated in this respect as has the public in Britain, for the simple reason that Americans refuse to accept the British view that the military are a superior class, entitled to rule and instruct the common people. It was the British minister of information, Mr. Bracken, who first extended censorship beyond military information of possible value to the enemy to include the suppression of news that "might create disharmony" among the allies. These restrictions, which were not displeasing to the obscurantists in our own state department, have by now had to be abandoned in the face of protests from British newspapers and American correspondents. But British policy on military matters is not such that we can submit to having news of American soldiers in battle filtered thru their censorship.

We have recently had an example of it in Italy. Correspondents were denied transmission facilities at the Anzio beachhead, and elsewhere in the area were put under pressure to send falsely favorable reports on the progress of the operation. Military considerations were not paramount, if indeed they were involved at all. The Germans in the hills dominating the beachhead obviously knew the advantage they held over the allied landing force. Censorship was perverted from its proper uses in the attempt to conceal the inept generalship of the commanders in the area.

In any invasion of western Europe the stakes and risks will be immeasurably greater than they are in Italy. The American people expect that the invasion plan is that of trusted military leaders. A great danger is that under the shield of censorship commanders will incur needlessly heavy losses if something goes wrong and their sacred reputations are endangered.

There were instances of that kind of stubborn stupidity in France in the last war. The Anzio censorship incident discloses that the tendency has not disappeared. American newspapers, as a duty to their own people, must insist that reports of American military action be passed by American censors, and by them alone.

THE TOUGH CASE OF FINLAND.

Finland is afraid of Russia. Its situation may be hopeless. Here in America we once thought highly of the Finns, of their honesty in international affairs and of their national life. What they have done to change this opinion is not disclosed. When Russia attacked them in the Hitler-Stalin honeymoon period they had our deepest sympathy. Even Mr. Roosevelt said a harsh word about Russian aggression. Their fight to keep out of the hands of the despoiler reproached what were called the democratic peoples for their failure to aid a small neighbor whose house had been invaded by gangsters. That was the way it seemed then.

During the honeymoon when Russia divided Poland with the Nazis and absorbed the Baltic countries and part of Finland Mr. Stalin was not regarded as a great democrat and the soviets were not listed as champions of the freedoms. The Finns have not observed any change in their Russian enemy. He has not become a great liberal. He is the same fellow more powerful than ever and now with the support of the countries which before gave Finland at least their good wishes. Now they tell the Finns to submit and take what they get. The longer they hold out the worse it will be for them. No guaranties are given the small country. It has no standing in any court of equity.

Here is a tough case, one of unconditional surrender demanded. The exigencies of war and the changed attitude of former friends and two-timing moralists have reduced a free people to extremity, hemmed in by fears of German retaliation and of the Russian flood. The Atlantic Charter is lost at sea.

CONGRESSMEN ACROSS THE SEA.

At the invitation of the house of commons, a group of congressmen is expected shortly to pay a visit to London to see parliament in action. It is to be hoped that the American guests will bear in mind that they are the representatives of a free people and that their hosts are members of another long parliament.

Elections have been held regularly in this country, in war as well as in peace, ever since the Constitution was adopted. The house of lords, by way of contrast, is not an elective body and there has been no general election of members of the house of commons for nine years. Nobody in England who has come of age since the war began is a registered voter and, thus even in the few parliamentary by-elections that have taken place, a great number of persons entitled to vote have been deprived of their franchise.

Our congressional delegation in England will see a great many American soldiers there and will hear many stories indicating discontent, if we may judge from the comments some of our men returning from Europe have made on their arrival here. Our soldiers may be unhappy but they may console themselves with the thought that they are doing more for the British than merely winning the war for them. Our men overseas are going to vote in the November elections and this demonstration should have a profound effect on the islanders. It will show them the difference between a government in which the people are sovereign and the kind of government that exists in England where there is no written constitution to safeguard the people's rights; where parliament is unchecked; where men can be held in jail indefinitely, without trial, and where elections can be dispensed with.

THE CONSPIRACY AGAINST CHICAGO'S HEALTH.

The war production board has denied priorities for construction necessary to complete a water filtration plant for Chicago's south side and give that section of the city protection against contaminated drinking water drawn from the lake. WPB officials said the denial was made at the request of the war man power commission which has held Chicago to be a critical labor shortage area. Public Works Commissioner Hewitt polled the Chicago Building Trades Council and found that less than 1 per cent of the available unemployed men in building trades would be required for this vital piece of construction.

Disease of epidemic proportions faces the south side residents who must drink and use city water contaminated by sewage from Indiana communities which backs up into the stagnant end of the lake. Such an epidemic can be averted either by allowing the Chicago sanitary district to draw more water from Lake Michigan and flush the contamination downstream or by rushing thru completion of the filtration plant as a project necessary to the health and protection of a war working community. Both steps should be taken, but the New Deal administration has refused flatly to permit either one.

Men like Commissioner Hewitt, who have been working earnestly in the interests of Chicago's health, have exposed time and again the fallacious grounds upon which the New Dealers base their refusals. They wouldn't let the sanitary district draw more water because it might infringe upon the rights of other communities of the Great Lakes, yet the Canadian power companies divert 10 times as much water as Chicago is allowed and for commercial, not public health, purposes. They say Chicago hasn't enough workmen to build a filtration plant, yet the city has 100 times the necessary number of men, and all of them now unemployed.

Chicago must have relief from the terrible hazard of death and disease that water pollution creates, but it certainly isn't going to get that relief from the New Deal-Democratic machine which now rules the city and the nation. This is another one of the reasons why the voters in this community are going to be glad to see a change of administration in November and are going to help to bring it about.

RAISING WHAT PRICE CEILINGS?

Reports of the crowded state of the cocktail lounges in Washington indicate that the retail prices of liquor are one subject upon which the staff of the OPA should have practical, first hand information.

The OPA, however, has just authorized a series of increases in the ceiling prices of liquor by the drink, ranging from 1 to 4 cents, all carefully classified according to the proof and variety of booze and the size of the glass. The new price schedule is effective Friday.

It is going to be a great surprise to the saloon drinkers of this and other communities to learn that there have been any ceiling prices on drinks. They must have been extremely flexible, for in the last 18 months the price of drinks has steadily mounted, not by 2 or 4 cents, but a nickel at a time, until, so we are reliably informed, they are today fully 50 per cent higher than they were last year. At the same time the size of the glasses has been getting smaller. We met a gentleman the other evening who reported that he had plied himself with scotch in a Rush street night spot for five hours, and walked out of the place as sober as Carrie Nation, and in about the same mood.

The OPA, it is obvious, has followed its usual practice of assuring impartiality in the regulation of any industry by entrusting the task to some one completely ignorant of its practices. Mr. Bowles, after a painstaking canvass of his staff, found three teetotalers, who probably drew up their schedule in the back room of the W. C. T. U. headquarters.

DRACULA'S CASTLE.

As a supplier of literary footnotes to the cold geography of military communiqués, this column fixes its curious eyes upon the city of Cernauti in Bukovina, now in the embrace of the Russian bear. Its name in World War I., when it belonged to Austria-Hungary, was Czernowitz, and it figured frequently in dispatches until the Russian steamroller broke down. In English literature it is the gateway to the land of werewolves and vampires.

* * *

"Dracula," a novel that has frightened and fascinated two generations of horror story readers, plainly states that the castle of the master vampire was situated in the mountains of this region and that it was accessible by stagecoach from a fairly large old town. The author calls that town Bistritz and locates it on a railway from Buda-Pesth; this clearly suggests Czernowitz. There the narrator of the tale received a letter from his future host which read in part: "Welcome to the Carpathians. At 3 tomorrow the diligence will start for Bukovina; a place on it is kept for you. At the Borgo Pass my carriage will await you and bring you to me."

And so a tremendous adventure among supernatural horrors began. You will read of fighting at the Borgo Pass [a real place-name] unless the Russian drive halts at the Carpathians.

* * *

The population of the region is largely Ruthenian peasantry, famous for superstitions, charms, and uncanny folklore. On the high authority of Frazer's "Golden Bough" it may be stated that a Ruthenian burglar can put a household to sleep by playing on a flute made from a human legbone. Accomplishments of this sort among the common people formed an appropriate background for the higher magic of Count Dracula.

* * *

There may be dozens of old castles in the Carpathians that answer to the descriptions in "Dracula," and we hope that one of them breaks into the Russian victory bulletins as the authentic place, with inscribed tomb. But it may be assumed that the old fiend no longer haunts the premises. He has taken up his abode in another mountain eyrie called Berchtesgaden.

ON JOINING A GLEE CLUB.

I listened one night when the Choraliers sang,
And the music was lilting and true.
Their voices were sweet and the melodies rang . . .
And I wanted to sing with them, too!
It was easy to join, but sad as it seems,
I've discovered it's harder than that . . .
I have a suspicion
I'm not a musician,
My voice is so dismally,
So cataclysmically
Flat!

Altho the accompaniment helps me along,
And the others have learned it by rote,
The tunes that I sing don't belong in the song . . .
And cacophony swells in my throat.
It's sad, but I've found that my voice is a cross
'Tween a sneeze, and a choke, and a cough . . .
I've reached the conclusion
It's all a delusion,
My voice is dejectably
So uncorrectably
Off! The Rebel.

Now It Can Be Told.

[Epilogue to "The History of the Gold Coast."]

One fine morning in 1942 a query appeared in the Line as to the local name for the neighborhood along the lake just north of Chicago avenue, the northern limit of the old village of Chicago over 100 years ago. Now my father, who as a youngster used to hunt quail where our house now stands, had told us that it used to be called New Buffalo because its first settlers, the first Germans in Chicago, had come from that village in Michigan. New Buffalo was the Lake Michigan terminus of the Michigan Central railroad for a number of years and expected to become the big city of the west, and there the first Germans in this part of the country had stopped. When the railroad came into Chicago, they very sensibly took it and came around the lake. When asked where they came from they would reply, "New Buffalo," and so the name was given to the neighborhood in which they lived.

The Linemaster is a wily fellow. I sent in a sketch to this effect and he, to my delight, ran it, labeling it "The History of the Gold Coast—I." It was like holding out a handful of hay on a long stick to a hungry horse, just in front of him. I sent in another instalment and he labeled it "II." He led me on. If any credit is due, it belongs to him. And now I say, "Beware, beware, beware."
Captain John.

ECHOES OF YOUTH.

(For one who fell in combat.)

In springtime streams I catch his flash of laughter,
In springtime winds I hear his glad, young breath;
The stir of boughs repeats some word, some whisper
Of his across the distances of death.

The rhythm of the rain upon the window
Brings back his footstep light, and swift, and free;
O, earth has held these fragments of his living,
These echoes of himself to keep with me.
Gloria A. Love.

The Mythology of Printing.

Linemaster: It is easy to explain why the Line, altho three inches shorter, contains almost the same amount of print. This is due to a comparatively new invention, the "type squeezer." The column is set in its regular length, then subjected to treatment in the squeezer, which shortens it considerably. This process, however, is hard on type lice, who are squeezed unmercifully, some of them even dying.

LOCKJAW CAN BE PREVENTED.

LOCKJAW [tetanus] is a preventable disease. There is really no excuse for its existence, but when it appears a fight for life is on.

Old as the hills, the malady was described by ancient Greek physicians. Despite its frequent occurrence as a complication of battle wounds, the cause remained an enigma for centuries. Today every student of first aid is familiar with the fact that air must have free access to scratches and cuts because tetanus germs cannot grow in the presence of oxygen.

One of the chief reasons why this microbe is so persistent is because it can form spores which may be likened to seeds. These parasites are able to resist dry heat or even a dilute solution of carbolic acid. They can live for years under conditions which would destroy other types of "bugs."

Unfortunately, they are prevalent in rural districts or wherever animals abound. Their favorite lurking places are the intestinal tracts of grazing kine. Thus they are found within the digestive canals of horses, cattle, sheep, and even man. Stables and fertilized fields, where manure has been spread, may harbor them.

A most serious type of injury is one in which tissues have been crushed and dirt has been allowed to penetrate. In other words, the very nature of the accident has created deep pockets wherein organisms may hide. But even superficial lesions may be dangerous particularly if foreign material has been ground into the epidermis.

This means that minor abrasions cannot be looked upon as innocent. Far from it. If the skin has been sandpapered, as we say, thru sliding on a rough surface, the germs which may be present will find a favorable place to flourish. Such a situation may constitute a real hazard should the cuticle heal quickly. The custom of covering insect bites with mud may be dangerous, especially if the earth is taken from the barnyard.

The way to avoid this menacing ailment is to vaccinate every one, either by the administration of tetanus antitoxin at the time the wound is experienced, or by the injection of repeated doses of toxoid.

The first procedure is an immediate precaution. Protection lasts for a week or 10 days. It does not get rid of the organisms and the treatment may need to be repeated. A far safer and wiser plan is the use of toxoid. After three doses, the individual may be looked upon as safe for at least a year—perhaps two years. In order to maintain resistance, one who is susceptible may be given a booster dose annually, or whenever a cut or gash is sustained. With this precaution, practically no risk from lockjaw will be encountered.

With the warmer weather, our youngsters will indulge in more play out of doors. The spirit of adventure will lead to climbing which in turn means falls and mishaps. Before that interval arrives let us make certain that our children are well armored against a dreadful disorder, one which may defy the best efforts of medical science once it has launched its vicious attack.

STRONG HEART.

L. D. writes: What causes a muscular heart?

REPLY.

The pumping organ is largely muscle and performs an enormous amount of work. Its labor equals the force required to lift a weight of 78 pounds one foot off the ground every minute. You can figure out how many tons the heart is capable of raising in each 24 hours.

Perhaps you mean an enlarged or thickened left ventricle. This is nature's way of overcoming a valve leak, which demands additional power.

BE ALERT.

S. R. writes: If a person had rheumatic fever as a child, are recurrences to be expected later?

REPLY.

Assume that they are, altho they may not. Much depends upon hygienic living, your standard of health, exposure, etc. Don't disregard twinges. They may have a meaning.

DISTURBED CIRCULATION.

N. I. W. writes: What disorders are conducive to rupture of the blood vessels in different parts of the body?

REPLY.

The principle cause is arteriosclerosis—degeneration of the walls of the conduits. In the presence of high blood pressure they cannot withstand the extra "pound."

CALCIUM IN ASTHMA.

G. F. writes: In what way does calcium benefit an asthmatic patient?

REPLY.

Sometimes it won't help. If there is too little of this element in the system, allergic symptoms may increase. On the other hand, it may neutralize a tendency to sensitivity.

CLOGGED NOSE.

J. F. writes: My young son has a red lump in his right nostril. Can you tell me what the trouble is?

REPLY.

Consult a nose specialist as a polyp may be present.

Quacked Siwash Evermore.

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Remember the story of Siwash the Duck who landed at Tarawa with a marine artillery unit, spent 36 hours on the beach under fire, then routed a Jap rooster and pig? Some one named him the quack hero, and a camera man took a picture of him on the fourth day of fighting at Tarawa, which, back in the United States, became the picture of the week, and, altogether, he has become the most eulogized fowl of World War II.

Well, Siwash is still around out in the Pacific, and, as turn about is fair play, it seems only just to write about the man who made Siwash famous, Staff Sgt. William K. Beech of Akron, O. Beech now is a fugitive from a duck.

Until Beech, a marine combat correspondent, wrote a story about Siwash, he was just another mascot, a fowl of uncertain origin who came aboard ship under questionable circumstances and later manifested a shameless fondness for alcoholic beverages. Now he is the darling of his battery. A record book has been made out for him, and he has been recommended for the Purple Heart for a head wound, a trifling thing which he sustained in combat with a rooster.

But to Beech he has become the terror of war of which he was never forewarned. He wrote of the duck incidentally, as one of 50 stories he wrote at and after Tarawa, but now he is greeted only as "the guy who wrote the story about the duck." His official title has become "Beech, the Birdman." Marines quack at his approach and so, he learned on his one visit to see the duck he made famous, does Siwash. Siwash's quack, moreover, was unfriendly.

"Poe had his raven," he wrote unhappily, "and I have my duck."

All of this prompted 1st Lt. Thomas N. Green, formerly a Detroit newspaper man, to rush into rhyme. Not since "Beowulf" and "Sohrab and Rustum" have the splendors of the battlefields been as eloquently described in verse, both blank and rhyming, as in his parody of "The Raven." As far as this department's prolonged research has been able to ascertain, it is the first ballad of World War II. extolling the aid given by our feathered allies. Here it is:

Once upon a coral atoll as I struggled in my foxhole.
While the snipers were all sniping more and more,
Suddenly there was a quacking; yes, it surely was a quacking,
Quacking on Tarawa's hectic shore.
So I looked about and backed up, wondering if I had cracked up,
Hearing ducks upon that bloody shore.

Then I saw it was that hellion,
Siwash of the [censored] battalion,
Come to morally support the corps.
Up he stepped with cocky waddle, stepping over sand and puddle,
Puddles there of sand and gore.
Tho the bullets snap and whine over caravere and mine.

Siwash charged along the shore,
Straight he charged up to a pen, saw a Jap duck here and then,
Knew that he at last had found his chore,
No more time for hesitation here, no more reveling in beer,
Beer that was his downfall of before.
He charged the Sambo like a hero,
Chased him underneath a Zero,
Chased him far along Tarawa's shore.

HOW THE COMMUNISTS CAN NAME A PRESIDENT.

Kansas City, Kas., March 24.—In the 1940 Presidential contest, there were 2,834,500 Democratic votes cast in New York state. There were 3,027,478 Republican votes cast. Despite the preponderance of the latter, the Democratic candidate carried the state. Why? The Democratic nominee received 417,418 American-Laborite votes, giving him a total of 3,251,918. Of these 417,418 votes, 317,009 were cast in New York City; the Democratic candidate could have won the state without the 100,409 cast upstate.

If this fall's Presidential election is close, especially in the electoral college, New York might be the pivotal state. If the Republican vote does not exceed the Democratic by a substantial margin, the American-Laborite vote, which exceeded 300,000 as recently as last fall's lieutenant-gubernatorial race, will decide who carries New York and the nation. Inasmuch as the bulk of the American-Laborite vote is concentrated in New York City, it can be seen that only a comparative handful of the 40 or 50 million who will vote in November might decide who will be President for the next four years.

Suppose Woodring's third party develops sufficient strength to carry one or more states. The election might be thrown into the house of representatives for the first time since 1825. Thanks to the "lame duck" amendment to the Constitution, the incoming house would elect the President. However, it is interesting to speculate on what would happen if the old system still prevailed, whereby the retiring house chose the chief executive.

In a house Presidential election, each state has one vote. At present, the Republicans control 22 states and the Democrats control 21. There are five split delegations. Idaho, Washington, and West Virginia are all evenly divided between the two major parties. Wisconsin has five Republicans, three Democrats, and two Progressives. New York has 21 Republicans, 21 Democrats, one American-Laborite, and two vacancies. If the two Wisconsin Progressives swung their state to the Democratic nominee, and he carried two of the three evenly divided states, which could happen thru deaths or other disabilities, he would have 24 votes. Suppose the two men who fill New York's vacancies are a Republican and a Democrat. The deadlock between the two major parties in the Empire state delegation would be intensified. The deciding vote would be cast by a man named Vito Marcantonio, an American-Laborite, who would not only say how the New York vote would be cast, but would say who should be President from 1945 to 1949.

Fortunately, we will be able to elect additional Republicans to the incoming house and prevent a situation such as I have outlined from occurring in the 79th congress. Let us give the Republican candidate [may God forbid that he is the same one offered in 1940] such an overwhelming margin that the American-Laborites of New York City will not be in position to decide who shall be President for the next four years. In the event the third party proves strong enough to throw the election into the house, let us be sure that the Republicans control enough delegations to keep Vito Marcantonio from telling us who shall live in the White House for the next term. SVEND PETERSEN.

COLLEGE THE EASY WAY.

Chicago, March 26.—Due to the release of over 600 teachers from high school faculties, and thru no administrative fault of any kind, high school classes have been in a state of ferment the first few weeks of this semester. Crane did not escape these conditions. Some of its students had as many as six different teachers in certain subjects before their classes took a final form. If the Herzl Junior college students are brought to Crane now, as apparently they will be, the school will not recover from the shock for the rest of the present term.

The board's first duty is to the elementary and high school students and not to the college students. We have reached the point where some people not only want free college education, but they also want it handed to them on a silver platter. If the college is not next door to their homes, they take to the air.

I was no rich boy. I worked my way thru the Armour institute. In those days I lived in the far west side. I paid my tuition and I did not protest because my school was situated 10 miles from my home. This also applies to the thousand of students of the University of Chicago and of the Evanston campus of Northwestern. After all, no one can point to any constitution saying that the taxpayers owe our youth a college education. TEACHER.

THE FARMERS UNION.

Emerson, Ia., March 23.—I have been a member of the Farmers union for almost 35 years. When John Simpson, E. H. Everson, and Milo Reno were at the top of the Farmers union it was a real two-fisted organization and worked for the welfare of farmers. But it is a different story today. Those at the top do not represent thinking farmers, nor do they uphold the principles that brought the organization into existence.

The present officers of the national Farmers union are no credit to the organization or to farmers as a whole, rather they are endeavoring to deliver the votes of the organization over to the New Deal, and sell the farmers down the river. The national organization has lost the prestige and standing that it had some years ago, I am very sorry to say. The change is because of the leaders and not because of the rank and file of the organization.

OUT OF STATE COLLECTION.

Detroit, Mich., March 21.—I hold a personal note on a loan which was made in Illinois five years ago. Since then, however, the borrower moved to California. Is there any reason why I cannot collect this money in view of his absence from Illinois? J. S. L.

The Illinois limitation period is 10 years from the maturity date. The California period is shorter. We advise you to place the instrument in the hands of an attorney immediately.

U. S. PROTESTS FOUR BIG NEWS LEAKS IN LONDON

Lists Specific Cases of Premature Release.

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—The state department disclosed today that it had protested to Britain against four news leaks in London, but reiterated its denial that it had sought to have the British impose political censorship.

At the same time it appeared that the British similarly had complained to the United States about "premature" disclosures on important news. The state department said it was customary to register protests on either side whenever the other let important news leak out prematurely in violation of British-American secrecy agreements.

Today's disclosures stemmed from a recent charge by Gov. Dewey of New York that the state department had requested British censors to suppress political news sent to American newspapers by American correspondents abroad. Secretary of State Hull yesterday replied that Dewey was 100 per cent wrong.

Reporter Raises Question.

At Hull's press conference today, Bertram D. Hulen, New York Times reporter, called attention to a dispatch from London to his paper. This dispatch said Hull's denial yesterday raised the question of what he meant by political, adding that if the word was used synonymously for "diplomatic" the record "is not so clear."

"There have been repeated instances," the dispatch said, "of objections from Washington to stories by American correspondents for American newspapers about diplomatic developments which had been passed in regular routine thru British censorship."

Asked for comment on this, Hull stood by his denial of any desire for political censorship. There was no comment immediately from Dewey, but his secretary, Paul E. Lockwood, said in New York: "It looks like the truth is coming out."

Subsequently, the state department issued a statement in which Hull said that the question of complaints about news leaks was entirely separate from the question of censorship.

List Four "Leaks."

"Any claim that the state department has requested the British censors to suppress political news is therefore entirely wrong," Hull said.

The four instances on which complaints were registered with the British were:

1. October, 1943, disclosure in the British press of the impending arrival of Secretary Hull and his party in Moscow for the meeting of foreign ministers.
2. Also in October, disclosure from London of Premier Badoglio's declaration of war on Germany. Simultaneous government announcements had been agreed on for London, Moscow, and Washington.
3. Also in October, disclosure of the signing of the third lend-lease protocol or agreement between the United States and Russia, and the similar arrangement between Britain and Russia.
4. The Reuters [British news agency] story from Lisbon concerning the meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Cairo late last year.

INDICT ENGINEER AT ELKHART IN Y.M.C.A. SLAYING

Elkhart, Ind., March 28 (AP).—An indictment charging second degree murder in the death of 16 year old Harlan V. Elliott was returned today against Cleo Fred Davis, 35 year old bachelor, who had been employed as building engineer at the Elkhart Y. M. C. A.

The Elliott boy, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson B. Elliott, co-pastors of the Elkhart Free Methodist church, was drowned March 19 in the "Y" swimming pool.

Davis, in the county jail at Goshen, has indicated he would plead guilty, with knowledge that penalty under the charge is life imprisonment, when he is arraigned tomorrow.

Reopen Inquest; Decide Hunting Death Accidental

A Will county coroner's jury, at a reopened inquest yesterday into the fatal shooting Jan. 9 of Joe Cordeau, 17, of 8218 Maryland av., held the youth's death was accidental. Clarence Miller, 17, of 817 E. 87th pl., who had been hunting rabbits with Cordeau near the village of St. Anne, admitted holding a .38 caliber revolver when it was discharged, the bullet striking Cordeau. He insisted the gun was fired accidentally.

FOUR BANDITS ROB COUPLE.

Four men, two with revolvers, yesterday held up and robbed Sam Frongopulus, 46, and his wife, Susie, 29, owners of a restaurant at 3108 Broadway, of $80, Sheffield av. police said.

BILL ASKS HOME LEND-LEASE FOR WAR SURPLUSES

Unused Materials Will Go to States.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 28.—Distribution of surplus war materials to states and local communities thru "domestic lend-lease" was proposed in a bill introduced in the senate today by Sen. Clark [D., Mo.], while Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.] resumed his attack on army and navy methods of disposing of surplus clothing.

Sen. Clark's bill would enable local highway districts to obtain army and navy highway building machinery, states and cities to acquire abandoned army facilities for use as hospitals, and flood control and soil conservation authorities to get construction equipment.

Seeks Benefits for Taxpayer.

"The United States has been more prodigal than any nation in history in its lavish generosity to other nations," Clark said in introducing the bill. "Both by lend-lease and by UNRRA [united nations relief and rehabilitation administration] we are holding ourselves out as outfitters and providers for the world. I am introducing this bill so that the hard pressed American taxpayer may get some of the benefits of the lush expenditures which have been made from his funds."

Clark's bill would create a surplus property administration with a $10,000 a year administrator to direct the distribution of surpluses.

To Legalize Baruch Plan.

This office already has been established by executive order by President Roosevelt upon the recommendation of Bernard M. Baruch, advisor to War Mobilization Director Byrnes. Passage of the Clark bill would give legislative sanction to the President's order.

Wiley charged that "army and navy" stores have been established in some western communities for the sale of surplus army and navy clothing in competition with established retail merchants. He quoted advertisments of army and navy stores from Colorado papers.

"There are enough misdeeds in government already without creating more," Wiley said. "Here is a subject for which congress should immediately provide a remedy."

PHYSICIAN'S HOME ROBBED.

Burglars in the home of Dr. Edward A. Holberg, 3217 Altgeld st., took stamp albums, yiquor valued at $250, a watch valued at $75, and two suitcases valued at $30, he reported to police yesterday.

BERLIN'S SHOW IN NAPLES.

NAPLES, Italy, March 28 [AP].—Irving Berlin arrived today from England and will open the performance of his "This Is the Army" here April 3.

TAKE $65 AND SHIRTS.

A gunman took $65 and two dozen shirts valued at $48 from a shirt shop at 1268 Milwaukee av. yesterday after forcing the clerk, Morris Brodsky, into a closet.

QUIZ MAN IN DEATH OF GIRL WHOSE BODY WAS FOUND STABBED

Detroit, Mich., March 28 [Special].—Police tonight were questioning a 20 year old man whose name was withheld, but who was said to have aided them in tracing the movement of Joyce Raulston, 14, from the time of her disappearance Friday to the discovery of her stabbed and beaten body on a city dump this morning.

"We know now there was nothing to the story that Joyce was married," said Russell Gregory, chief of Wayne county detectives. His reference was to the story of Joyce's mother, Mrs. Ida Raulston, that a man called her yesterday and told her not to worry about Joyce as the girl had been married and gone to California.

PRACTICE BOMBS FROM PLANE HIT N. Y. COMMUNITY

New York, March 28 (AP).—A navy plane from Floyd Bennett field accidentally dropped two miniature practice bombs today on the community at Rockaway Beach. The 3d naval district announced the accidental bombardment resulted from "malfunctioning of a release mechanism" on the plane and said the bombs contained smoke producing charges but no harmful explosives.

One bomb fell in a yard of the Rockaway Beach hospital and the other went thru the roof of a restaurant and exploded at the feet of a porter. Meyer Weiss, owner of the restaurant, said two windows

NORMANDIE MAY NEVER BE USED IN WAR SERVICE

Fear Waste of Millions on Idle Vessel.

New York, March 28 [Special].—First the navy spent 20 million dollars to refit the former French luxury liner Normandie into a troopship. When nearly ready for service, the ship burned and capsized at a pier in the Hudson river.

Then the navy spent 5 million dollars and 18 months of toil to refloat the gigantic vessel. Now the Normandie is lying unrepaired at her berth at a Brooklyn shipyard. In marine circles it was reported today that the ship never will be repaired for war time service, but may be reconditioned after the war at a cost of approximately 30 million dollars more.

Original Cost 60 Million.

If this report is correct, the Normandie will be returned to France at a total cost to this country of 55 million dollars without doing a lick of service for the United States. The original cost of the ship was 60 million dollars.

After the fire wrecked the Normandie in February, 1942, the house naval affairs committee investigated and reported that the blaze was caused by carelessness. It placed full responsibility with Navy Secretary Knox.

A naval court of inquiry blamed "gross carelessness and utter violation of rules" by employes of the contractor.

French Pride Involved.

Navy public relations officers refused to comment today on the report that the navy has decided against rehabilitating the ship as a troop carrier. If the vessel is not to be used in war service, the only way it could serve the war effort is to be junked for scrap iron.

This is unlikely, marine circles reported, because French pride is involved. Many Frenchmen were angered when the navy seized the vessel after Pearl Harbor and stripped off its luxurious fittings to make a transport. They were not made any happier when it burned. Junking it, they feel, would be the supreme humiliation.

Britain Will Not Ask Reds to Oust Japanese Envoys

LONDON, March 28 (AP).—Britain plans no request to Russia or any government other than Ireland for removal of Japanese ministers, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the house of commons today. Replying to a question whether such action would be asked of Russia, Portugal, Spain, Turkey, Sweden or Switzerland, Eden said: "No, the considerations which apply in the case of Ireland do not apply in the cases of other countries mentioned."

FEDERAL AGENTS UNCOVER STILL; GET CONTRACTOR

Federal agents raided a one story brick building at 7637 S. Racine av. yesterday and seized a still with a daily capacity of 300 gallons of alcohol. They also found two 5,000 gallon vats containing mash and 38 five gallon cans full of alcohol. The still was in the rear of a building formerly occupied by a tavern. The agents arrested Reint List, 50, who lives next door at 7639 S. Racine av. He said he was a cement contractor and admitted he owned the building where the still was found. The raid was made by agents of the alcohol tax unit under Ralph E. Herrick, acting district supervisor.

Rock Island City Council Raises Pay for Officers

FURLOUGH HOPES FOR OVERSEAS ARMY UNITS DIM

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—There is apparently little likelihood of wholesale furloughs by army units to men serving overseas.

The war department is adhering strictly to a policy of giving furloughs to individual combat soldiers on a rotation basis, Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.] said today, adding, "It is manifestly impossible for overseas men to come back in units."

He said he was so advised at a conference he and other midwestern senators held with army officials in an effort to obtain a respite for the famed 34th division, which has been overseas more than two years and is now in the Italian campaign after having been in battle in Africa.

Midwestern Division.

The 34th division originally was made up of men from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa, but Gillette quoted army officials as saying that there has been such a rapid turnover that "not over 20 per cent come from those states now—in other words, over 80 per cent are replacements."

Length of service overseas is only one of several factors taken into consideration in the case of individual furloughs, the senator said the group was told. Hence, he said, almost two years of overseas duty, as in the case of members of the 34th division, does not assure furloughs.

"While the 34th division is at the top of the list in the number of casualties," Gillette told reporters, "three or four other divisions have had longer service.

May Get Temporary Respite.

"The army has thoroly in mind doing something to bring the boys back for a temporary period. The principal factors are the matter of shipping and preparations for campaigns ahead.

"It is true that many ships come back empty, but we were told that there is a problem of shore handling after the ships get here.

Trio Slugs Truck Driver; Takes $5,000 Liquor Load

Hyman Brodosky, 25, of 3229 Evergreen av., a truck driver, reported to police yesterday that three Negroes slugged him and robbed him of his truck, loaded with $5,000 worth of liquor, at Halsted st. and Roosevelt rd. The Negroes blindfolded him and drove him around the city for two hours while the liquor apparently was being stored, he said. He was released at Archer av. and Troy st.

CLAIM FIREBUG SET HOTEL BLAZE THAT KILLED 22

San Francisco, Cal., March 28 (AP).—An arsonist turned a Fourth st. hotel into a whirlwind of flaming death today.

Twenty-two persons were killed and some of the 30 injured may die.

Police agreed with Fire Marshal Frank Kelly that there was no question the blaze in the New Amsterdam hotel was set; that five other fires last night, and five Sunday night also were the acts of a fire bug.

Fire Marshal Kelly said he had evidence that a pile of "highly inflammable material" had been touched off at the second floor stairway landing, blocking the only route of escape for many residents.

U. S. Steel's 222,602 stockholders would fill Soldier Field nearly 3 times
For this army of owners, U. S. Steel earned in 1943 the smallest return on investment (3.97%) in any year of large production. Rising costs in 1943, pushing against price ceilings, resulted in lower net earnings and therefore in lower taxes. There were $8 million less for future needs than in 1942 ($53 million less than in 1941), despite a substantial increase in receipts in 1943.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Miss Venn Weir, 1156 Farwell av., is a veteran on the campus of the Illinois Institute of Technology. Her first course was one in industrial drafting. After being graduated, she was retained on the staff to teach succeeding courses, and gave instruction to both daytime and evening classes.

Early this year she accepted a full time job at the Kohler System company, which manufactures industrial equipment used primarily in paper processing, to roll paper into machinery and then rewind it. Miss Weir's job is detail and design work in the drafting department.

Taking the war job didn't mean that she had severed relations with Illinois Tech. No sooner had she gone to work for Kohler than she enrolled in an evening course in fundamentals of machine design, which will aid her to a great degree in the job she now is doing.

Miss Weir is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where she majored in art. When the United States entered the war, she decided to utilize her art ability in war industry. Before the war, she was an art production manager for a greeting card company and a children's librarian.

The Illinois Tech veteran paid no tuition for her training. Costs of all war instruction courses at the institute are financed by the United States office of education thru its engineering, science and management program.

Both day and evening classes in drafting are still in progress at the institute, 1951 W. Madison st. Day classes open every ten weeks; evening classes, three times a year.

The nurse recruitment committee of the Chicago chapter, American Red Cross, has been asked to enlist as many registered graduate nurses as possible in the army and navy by Saturday.

Mrs. Erma Brannon, director of nurse recruitment, reports that a large proportion of the more than 475 nurses to be signed up from Illinois in the latest assigned quota already have enlisted, but many more must go into uniform now, due to the military services' invasion plans.

Hundreds of army nurses are being sent overseas in connection with projected plans for a European invasion, Miss Myrtis Coltharp, director of Red Cross nursing service in the midwestern area, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., stated recently. The over-all national recruitment need is 2,000 more nurses.

Nurse recruitment headquarters of the Red Cross in Chicago is at 529 S. Wabash av. Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas is chairman of the committee of volunteers assisting in the drive.

Special facilities for interviewing and processing applications from women, employed during the day, who wish to enlist in the SPARS, women's reserve of the coast guard, have been set up, Stuart Logan, chairman of the Chicago's own SPAR drive, announced this week.

SPAR officers will be on duty thru April 10 at drive headquarters, 67-69 E. Monroe st., during the noon lunch hour and also between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. daily. These facilities are in addition to the regular recruiting headquarters at 53 W. Jackson blvd.

Nurses Land, Begin to Tidy Up Solomons

TULAGI, Solomon Islands, March 28 (AP).—White women have come back to the Solomons—127 navy nurses have arrived.

The G. I.'s courteously took the arrivals in hand, taking them for boat and jeep rides to the island's points of interest. The nurses weren't long in tidying up five barracks and adding other feminine touches.

Their 17 days on the way out left them with an immediate job on arrival: For two days the nurses washed and hung out their voyage soiled clothes.

Lt. [j. g.] Marie Petersen of Capron, Ill., found morning glories growing near her barracks' window.

Tulagi was much better than the new arrivals had expected. Barracks had rough wood floors. "We had expected them to be dirt," said Lt. [j. g.] Catherine Yarnall, Mount Carmel, Pa., chief nurse. In the navy nine years, she came to Tulagi prepared for the worst. Included in her duffle were many kinds of garden seeds and enough others to start a victory garden.

Ensign Helen Bohn, 5219 West Cullom av., Chicago, remarked: "The most disappointing thing is that we can't go swimming." This sport is forbidden because the water causes a fungus growth in the ears.

The road leading to the barracks, which are on a hill, has a sign: "Out of bounds." A guard stands beneath it. The barracks were built under the eye of Capt. Otto W. Girissier of Columbia City, Ind.

Nurse Yarnall commented: "It looks like the safest place he could find for us. By the time a man climbs that hill he would be so winded and weak we could push him over the side with our little finger."

Lange, Szigeti Give a Concert Free of Flaws

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange conducting; Joseph Szigeti, violinist. Presented at Orchestra hall Tuesday afternoon, March 28, 1944. The program:
Concerto Grosso No. 5, D major, for string orchestra .... Handel
Concerto for Violin, A major, Köchel 219 .... Mozart
Poème, for Violin and Orchestra.... .... Chausson
Suite from "El Amor Brujo" .. de Falla

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Joseph Szigeti and Hans Lange returned to Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon to share honors with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in one of the most satisfactory concerts of a turbulent season. It was filled with interesting music beautifully played by musicians who know their business. If that seems a modest achievement for a leading orchestra, remember it is not one we recently have been able to take for granted.

Mr. Szigeti made two appearances, playing the fifth of Mozart's violin concertos, an intricate and exquisite work too fastidious to be a showpiece, and the Chausson "Poème," that haunting reverie so drenched in fragrance even people who know it only from Antony Tudor's ballet swear they can smell the lilacs.

Both were performances without flourish, simple, sensitive, absorbed in the music, and by that very absorption, perfectly projected. Even the Mozart cadenzas, of the greatest technical dexterity, became a part of the orchestral pattern held by Mr. Lange in such supple reins of control. There was a quality of repose about the music, a confident serenity the exact opposite of the sluggish. There was Mozartean synchronization so deft it seemed effortless, even to the unforgettable signature that ends the concerto, and in the Chausson the orchestra flowed about the solo instrument with the magic of tonal splendor, rich in color, velvet in texture, warm and full in tone, creating and never relinquishing the nostalgia of the dream from which the score is spun.

Such a concert might have tuned up with Bach, but Mr. Lange was not doing the expected. Instead, he reminded us of Handel's Fifth Concerto Grosso, a beautiful work that rejoiced in the clean clarity of the violins played by John Weicher and Franz Polesny, and that brought out the best of the whole orchestra in the sweet gravity of the largo and the brilliance of the style demanded by a worthwhile score.

For a finale there was something new in subscription concert lore, a glinting, glittering performance of a suite from "El Amor Brujo," by that Spanish Stravinsky, Manuel de Falla. Here the orchestra took on a liquid audacity Massine would have liked to dance to. It made some of us feel like writing a fan letter that would go something like this: "Dear Orchestra: It was so nice hearing you again. Please don't go away. Your Devoted Admirer."

Marriages Told of Daughaday Sisters, Marion and Eleanor

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE romantic announcement which Mr. and Mrs. C. Colton Daughaday of Winnetka are making is of double interest to their friends, for it contains news of not one marriage but two. On Monday Miss Marion Daughaday and Irving Robert Wechsler were married at Longmeadow farm, the Daughadays' country home near Winnetka, and three days earlier Miss Eleanor Daughaday became the bride of Lt. Edwin L. Popper of the naval reserve in Cambridge, Mass.

Neither engagement had been announced, and both weddings were planned hurriedly. Mrs. Daughaday went east for the ceremony on the 24th, which took place in Christ church, Cambridge, when Lt. Popper received a short leave. Because of the other approaching wedding Mr. Daughaday remained in Winnetka. The second ceremony at 11:30 a. m. on Monday was followed by a wedding breakfast, attended by members of the family and the best man, Howard Chase, who came from Minneapolis with Mrs. Chase.

The sisters, two of six children, attended the North Shore Country Day school. Mrs. Wechsler later studied at Radcliffe college, and her sister at Vassar college. Both bridegrooms are alumni of Harvard university. Lt. and Mrs. Pepper will live in Portland, Me., while he is stationed there. Mr. Wechsler and his bride have taken an apartment in Washington, D. C., not far from the office of war information, where he is connected with the Far Eastern division.

Weddings.

Friends of Richard Hackett and Mrs. Alice Crane, who has been making her home at the Whitehall, will be delighted to hear that they were married quietly at 4:30 p. m. on Monday at the Drake hotel. The ceremony and dinner which followed in the Camellia House both were small, with only Judge Daniel P. Trude, who read the service; his daughter, Mrs. Trude Olmsted; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Magnus, and Thomas Sullivan of Pasadena, Cal., in attendance. Missing from the small circle was Mrs. Trude, who is vacationing in New York.

The bride, whose first marriage to Charles Crane ended in divorce, has a 17 year old daughter, Carol. Mr. Hackett's first wife, the former Martha Pattee, died in 1939. Mr. Hackett and his bride will live at the Drake.

Mrs. Charles Jonas Holden of E. Delaware pl., and her daughter, Ginger, are returning tomorrow from Washington, where they attended the marriage last Saturday of Miss Judy Holden and Lt. Martin Thomas Burns of the naval reserve. Miss Holden was her sister's maid of honor during the ceremony in the chapel of St. Dominic in Washington, at which the bridegroom's half-brother, Fr. James Murphy, officiated. The bride attended Barat college. Lt. Burns, a graduate of Notre Dame and of the Northwestern university law school, has been on active duty in the Pacific for four years. He and his bride will live in Norfolk, Va.

Births.

A first grandchild for Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Theobald of East Chestnut st. arrived last week in St. Luke's hospital, where the first child of Dr. and Mrs. Pierce Theobald [Alice Ann Brice] was born on March 24. The baby has been named Joan Harriet, the latter name for her aunt, Miss Harriet Theobald. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Brice of Racine, Wis., are Joan's maternal grandparents.

Mrs. George Coleman returned last week from Camp Farragut, Idaho, where she visited her son-in-law and daughter, Lt. [j. g.] and Mrs. Donald E. Casey [Betty Coleman] and their infant son, born there on Jan. 13. The baby was named George Coleman for his maternal grandfather, Dr. Coleman.

Thru the Looking Glass

We're rather taken with the current vogue of wearing headbands, particularly in conjunction with the flat top hair style. They seem to emphasize the sleek, close look of so many of the new coiffures and certainly call attention to the hair. In this connection, if you're thinking of .ying a ribbon of velvet or other material around the head, give close scrutiny first to the tresses to see if they can pass the inspection that will be given them.

There's no sense in turning the spotlight on hair that is dull and lifeless looking, rather get busy with your ever-faithful hairbrush and do a little polishing. Brush the hair furiously until it has a burnished brilliance that will be complemented by a touch of color worn directly against it. Don't be discouraged about trying to induce a few highlights in locks that are naturally rather mouse colored.

Even the most uninteresting looking hair can be given a sheen and lustre thru the ministrations of a hairbrush. Brush vigorously and unstintingly, never skipping a day in giving the hair its beauty treatment. You'll find that the tresses will not only be far shinier, but will be more tractable. Hair that is brushed consistently stays in place and looks well groomed at all times.

Should the locks be dry and brittle, use a hair dressing in conjunction with your brush. Apply your favorite dressing directly to the hair and then distribute it with long, penetrating strokes of the bristler. The combination of brushing and dressing will work the magic of converting strawlike hair into a cap of shining attractiveness.

Fashion Show Takes a Look at Dresses for Next Fall

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

"WATCH THESE," the final episode in the Fashion Group's annual fashion show yesterday in the Drake hotel, brought back on the runway eight dresses that members of the group collectively predict will be high fashion next fall. They are the long torso dress, the two piece pullover, the long jacket, the tunic dress, the collarless coat worn like a dress, the long evening dress, an ensemble heralding the popularity of tangerine color, and a dress showing back interest.

"This will be a year of slim, sleek dresses, devoid of gadgets," said Mary Sharp, general chairman of the show, who served as commentator. Illustrating her point were the first two predictions, one a black crepe frock with the merest hint of sleeves and a lavish bow of black taffeta accenting the new long torso look; and the other a simple two piece frock of black, also practically sleeveless, with a huge pink cabbage rose just below one hip for its only decoration.

Suits were not forgotten, however, for the show opened with a blast of Chicago's famed wind, simulated by two huge fans, thru which the models walked in the sort of suits that could weather Michigan avenue's most capricious breezes. Fortunately the fans ceased operating as the models introduced more fragile afternoon and evening fashions.

Ginger, peacock blue, calypso pink, carbon blue, big hats, a new bare look in after dark fashions; a collapsible, packable hat, and huge handbags were other highlights of the show. Also introduced were "ration prints," one of butter and cheese in "dairy colors" [yellow on white] and another called beefsteak print in "rare" red on white, which alternately amused and horrified the audience.

Some of the most striking dresses shown included a new dress-up cotton frock that combined a black and pink full checked skirt with a black top; a stunning beige crepe dress girdled in gold and trimmed with four little pockets; a boxy coated suit of navy with a red and white checkerboard silk blouse to match the lining of the coat; a perfectly plain gray dinner dress made on slim princess lines brightened by a huge yellow taffeta bow at one shoulder, and a white cotton dress printed all over in small red and blue stars with interesting detail at the squared-off cap sleeves.

There wasn't an empty seat in the grand ballroom where the show was held, and afterward the Fashion Group presented its profits of about $700 to Col. John R. Hall to go into the special services fund of the Gardiner General hospital. Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker and a companion who came without reservations were turned away regretfully.

Spring Brings Out Umbrellas, Both Somber and Brightly Hued

BY REA SEEGER.

April showers, a little ahead of schedule, bring a new crop of umbrellas, ready for the customers caught downtown without a hat protector. Among the new arrivals are brilliantly colored, flowered prints, and some other almost gaudy affairs that look like stained glass windows. More somber models feature conservative browns, navy blues, and the dull blacks. The brighter shades, however, promise to beat all records.

The handles are of special attraction, smooth shapes that remind you of victorian cut glass, but are infinitely lighter in weight. Others have simulated malacca crook handles, the long ferule of the masculine type umbrella, and the 16 spokes of the current feminine umbrellas. These long ferule umbrellas come in neutral colors with one of dull beige the most unusual. Plaids, checks, and a few stripes in horizontal formation make eye catching numbers to bob defiantly above spring hats on a rainy day.

Who says the umbrella designers are not equal to new ideas? Note the new red, blue, and the less vivid shades of brown and black that come in a case. These numbers have the carrying strap handle copied from the popular carrying strap handbags. The straps are narrow and braided and of the same color as the covering of the umbrella. These hat protectors are unquestionably the smartest rainy day umbrellas of the season. They'll stay on the shoulder and you can carry all kinds of war time bundles and packages with them.

'Good Night, Sweet Prince'

INSTALMENT XXI.

A HAYMAKER AT THE HAYMARKET.

Jack did not say good-by to "Hamlet" permanently. He toured as the Dane for a brief season of nine weeks the following year. The largest theaters were inadequate. In Cleveland his last classical appearance in America was made, and there passed from us the theater's richest gift.

It was during this tour, in Boston, that Jack met the ageing portraitist, John Singer Sargent. The artist had sketched Ethel during her early London days, and Jack hoped that he would do even more for him—perhaps paint his portrait. Sargent, however, at 67, had put away his brushes for all time. He visited Jack's dressing room, and showed considerable interest in Barrymore's skill at making-up, complimenting the actor on the deft manner with which he accentuated the frown lines and the highlights of the cheekbones.

Sargent finally arranged to do a crayon sketch, nothing more, of Barrymore's head and face. He would not undertake an oil painting. "Besides," Jack remembered him as saying, "you would be a difficult subject for any artist not in his best stride. Your features are too regular. There is, you know, a bit of the caricature in every great portrait."

The sketch, made and presented by Sargent to Jack, would seem to bear out the artist's contention in respect to the features of the sitter. The sketch, altho highly prized by Jack, lacked distinction. It had a collar advertisment quality, a pretty boy aura.

Jack at one time intended to present this full face sketch of himself to the Garrick club. A sheriff, however, impounded it in behalf of Barrymore's great hearted prosecutors during his dark days. It now hangs in the San Diego museum.

After a series of hit and miss attempts to mend his domestic life, Jack went to Europe. He and Michael Strange were alternately together and apart. Once he stormed out of their quarters in Paris to go alone to Switzerland, where he climbed Mont Blanc. From St. Moritz he wrote an impassioned love letter to Michael. He was unhappy with her or away from her, it seemed.

He finally decided to become an actor-manager and himself put on "Hamlet" in London. He had retained about $25,000 from his recent theatrical proceeds, and put this amount into the London venture.

Constance Collier, forever grateful to him for his help in the "Peter Ibbetson" dream, now offered to try to interest London managers in the Barrymore "Hamlet." This was a difficult task, one that required many months of diplomatic persistence.

They went, week after week, to the managers, in the endeavor to hire a theater. "Just as success seemed near," said Constance, "Jack would spoil everything by putting on a tough voice. The manager would be shocked. 'How can you expect in England,' an impresario would ask, 'the home of Shakespeare, a man to be any good with a voice like that?'"

"I now persuaded Jack to let me do most of the negotiations," she said. "I talked to Frederick Harrison, lessee and manager of the Haymarket theater, and fortunately I got the contracts drawn up before Jack met that very conservative and dignified gentleman. Mr. Harrison had a production coming on, but there was an intervening period of six weeks, and he was glad to get his rent paid."

Michael Strange attended the London debut of her husband at the Haymarket. Her escort was George Bernard Shaw. The eminent Irishman next day composed and sent to Barrymore a long letter attacking him, not as an actor, but as a person who dared to alter the play as written. This oft quoted philippic for a time nettled Jack. It was a minority report, but such a solid Shavian uppercut that Barrymore called it "A haymaker at the Haymarket."

Constance Collier, who played the queen in this London "Hamlet," says that the first night at the Haymarket was an incredible success, Shaw or no Shaw. She embellished her eyewitness statement by saying:

"Our six weeks were soon over, with standing room only for every performance. Then, for the following six weeks, Jack had to pay the entire cast of Mr. Harrison's incoming play; but at that we could only continue on for the additional six weeks, as otherwise the option on the new play would have lapsed to the loss of the Haymarket management, so our run had to be curtailed!"

All the young and aspiring actors in London, Miss Collier recalls, tried to get into the "Hamlet" company. It wasn't the money they wanted, it was a desire to act with Barrymore. The part of Laertes required several changes of personnel. Miss Collier tells us why.

"Boys used to come in, proud and happy to have been chosen for the role. Little did they know what was in store for them. When it came time for the graveyard scene, Jack would fight violently. While in Ophelia's grave with her unfortunate brother, the young and enthusiastic actor who had lately told me how proud he was to receive the great honor of being allowed to play with Jack, was led to the slaughter! He would come from the encounter dripping with blood! These successive young men would bear it patiently for a time, quite bewildered as to what had happened to them, thinking it was their own clumsiness, that the blows they had received were accidental. But not at all: Jack fought Laertes with the greatest realism, as if he were attacking a true opponent. He actually hated the actors who played the part. In the end each Laertes had to give up and send in his notice and retire—covered with scars. Then another bright, young faced actor, full of enthusiasm, would take his place!"

When Jack closed as Hamlet in London, he quit the theater itself. He arrived home in America on what he called a "cloud of glory," with a valet, Blaney, and a small white nosed monkey, Clementine: Blaney had been Sir Herbert Tree's dresser, and Clementine was the gift of Actress Gladys Cooper, leading lady for Sir Gerald du Maurier.

Life in School Succession of Dateless Days

BY MAUREEN DALY.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

on the SOLID side

Don't believe it! High school life isn't what it's conned up to be—at least not these days. According to the movies and magazines every high school honey chile should be living a wonderful date-to-date existence full of phone calls from tall, blond football captains with crew cuts and broad shoulders, of corsages, class rings, school dances, and regular Friday night dates with interesting joes in sport coats who are a satisfying cross between Mickey Rooney and Alan Ladd. That's the way it's supposed to be, but then high school life no longer is all it's conned up to be.

Take it from eight lonely gals who know and who sing out their woes this way:

"Maybe some one can solve this one. There are eight girls in our crowd; that is, when we go to a stag dance at school, a friend's house or some other social activity. Otherwise we travel in a smaller number. I can truthfully say there is not one homely girl in our crowd. We are all in our last year in school and each of us is a smooth character in dress, conversation, and general personality. As far as being 'dead heads' is concerned, we seem to have an adequate amount of humor. At dances we manage to get most of the dances—but dates!—they're few and far between. In other words, we live alone and hate . . ."

This same sad situation has many a pretty pigeon pouting these days. The man power shortage [and it's acute even in high schools] has even the best of gals depressed into thinking they are goon girls, gone goslings, and strictly nondateable. The school enrollment in the city of Chicago alone has shrunk 50,000 in the last year and chances are 10 to one that if all the fellows who are now G. I. joes were back in circulation, at least two dozen of those same khaki kids would be hanging on your telephone right now, asking you for dates, waiting at your locker after school. But if any one tells you it's easy to sit home patriotically on week-end date nights without complaining about the fun you're missing—let them tell you another while that one's still warm! It's a difficult time to live thru and it takes a good gal to live thru it without turning melancholy.

Yeast breads are too much trouble, some cooks think. [I don't agree, do you?] But quick breads are simple enough for even a lazy baker. Some of them are mixed like muffins, in the twinkle of an eye; others are made by the cake mixing method and require slightly more time—but not too much.

Orange prune bread is made like a cake, and is almost sweet enough for cake. It's wonderful for tea sandwiches, plain or with cream cheese. Let the loaf ripen 24 hours before cutting, if you'd have neat, noncrumbly slices.

Orange Prune Bread.

[4½ by 8½ inch loaf.]

- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- ¾ cup chopped cooked prunes
- 2½ cups sifted enriched flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 cup ground whole orange, pulp and juice
- ¼ cup milk
- ¼ cup chopped nuts

Cream shortening and sugar until light, add eggs, and beat well. Add prunes and mix thoroly. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and cinnamon. Add to creamed mixture alternately with ground orange and milk. Mix thoroly. Add nuts and mix well. Bake in greased loaf pan at 350 degrees for 1½ hours.

Orange dessert pancakes are so easy to make that any amateur cook can have herself a fine time impressing family or friends with her culinary skill, no matter how clumsy she is with most desserts.

First she makes the sauce and has it ready for reheating at the last minute. Then she takes a box of pancake mix from the shelf and the fun begins.

Orange Sauce for Pancakes.

- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1⅛ cups water
- ⅛ cup orange juice
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 4 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Combine sugar, cornstarch, and salt in the top of a double boiler, add water and cook, stirring constantly over direct heat until mixture thickens. Place over boiling water, add orange juice, rind, lemon juice, and butter. Cook 15 minutes longer, stirring occasionally.

To make the tiny pancakes to go under this sauce, mix 2 cups pancake flour with 2¼ cups milk and the grated rind of a lemon. Bake on a very lightly greased griddle. You may make tiny pancakes and stack them, or bigger ones and roll them.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Otto Preminger is paging Ilka Chase for a wonderful part in "Laura." Ilka did pretty well by him, too, under a different name in her book, "In Bed We Cry." . . . Charles Boyer and Universal still are seeking Ingrid Bergman for a part in "Better Than Before," but Selznick doesn't want her to do it. She'd have to play the mother of a 12 year old child. . . . Darryl Zanuck thinks he has another Janet Gaynor in Jeanne Crain after previewing "Home in Indiana," so a stop order has been put thru for all casting on "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" until he decides which part Jeanne will play.

Distance Lends.

Before Pierre Aumont joined the "Free French" he went with Maria Montez to see her picture, "White Savage." He was sad about it. You know what a husband can say to his wife. She just had a letter from him and he wrote, "When I was invited to go with some friends to see your picture over here, I was filled with fear, because in Hollywood—if you'll remember—it didn't look so good, but in Algiers I was so proud of you—it's art." . . . Deanna Durbin's wardrobe for New York certainly is going to show her off. It's extremely decolette, and did you know she's gone blonde? Which surprises me. Her own hair was so lovely.

Still Waiting.

So Garbo will make a picture about the heroic exploits of the Norwegian merchant marine. Story comes from Norwegian embassy in Washington. What I'm waiting to hear is what Garbo is doing for the war effort. . . . Don Loper, who designed it, was looking Gypsy Rose Lee over in a low cut, strapless evening gown. After his inspection, he said, "It's all right for length." "Yes," said Gypsy, "but is it tall enough? This is for the screen, you know."

New One to Me.

Mrs. John Royal [Leonore Corbett] is having a time getting reservations back east. Guthrie McClintic wants her to begin rehearsals immediately for "The Golden Violets" which will get another title. She got her husband, John, to reminisce at the Mendls' about old days and especially Harry Houdini, who then was touring in vaudeville. In Cleveland, Harry went to a seance being held by Mr. and Mrs. Conan Doyle, where Mrs. Doyle supposedly did writing dictated by spirits. When the lights came on there was a page of beautiful sentiments supposedly from Harry Houdini's mother, and Harry said, "Heaven must be a wonderful place. I can hardly wait to get there, because in real life my mother could neither read nor write."

Deeds Live On.

Myron Selznick should be pleased that his clients Bill Powell, Pat O'Brien, Geraldine Fitzgerald, and many more, will continue under Myron's banner, and remain with his firm, which will be managed by Reeves Espy. It was so like our agents offering to take on Myron's stars. So like them, because during his lifetime many of them pried his players away from him. Our stars should build a monument to Myron. Because of him, they live in luxury and many have been raised from strolling players to artists. . . . Now that Linda Porter is here, and such a nice person, our hostesses are tearing their hair trying to get enough food points to give her parties.

Gang All There.

Mrs. Charles Cooper, Gary's mother, wouldn't cut the cake young Walter Tetley sent her on her 50th wedding anniversary, altho at least 300 friends came to her reception. She said, "This cake is going to be cut for our boys at the Hollywood canteen." It was a lovely party. All members of Our Mothers club sent her a bouquet of white satin ribbon with little bow knots, and holding the bows together were the names of the members written on gold seals. Some mothers were pretty upset when Melvyn Douglas' mother started campaigning for Helen Gahagan, who's running for congress. It seemed to me it wasn't the time or place for vote getting. . . . Benny Goodman was watching a young lady's hair change color at 20th Century's beauty parlor. She smiled and said, "This is a pretty shade of hair I've got, wasn't it?" . . . Another reason "Voice of the Turtle" is closing for the summer is that Elliott Nugent has another picture to direct. He did "Up in Arms," remember?

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1944: By Ely Culbertson.]

It usually is a bridge sin to let the declarer discard a loser from one hand while he ruffs in the other, but at times this becomes superlative defense. For example:

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K J 8
♥ A 5 2
♦ 7 2

WEST
♠ 7 5 4 3
♥ K 8 4
♦ J 10 5
♣ 8 6 3

EAST
♠ 9 6 2
♥ Q 10
♦ A K Q 8 4 3
♣ 7 5

SOUTH
♠ A Q 10
♥ J 9 7 6 3
♦ 9 6
♣ J 4 2

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 club
1 diamond	1 heart	Pass	3 hearts
Pass	4 hearts

West opened the diamond jack; East overtook and cashed another diamond trick, then shifted to a spade. Declarer won this in dummy and carefully considered how to attack the trump suit. He finally decided to lead a low trump from dummy, hoping for just such a break as existed. East played the queen, making matters as difficult as possible, but South was not to be led astray. He won East's spade return and led the heart jack. Now, whether or not West covered made no difference, because the blank 10 was being smothered. Four hearts, bid and made.

East should not have been so determined to prevent a ruff and discard on declarer's part. What good could it possibly do South to discard from either hand, since he obviously had solid spades and clubs? If East had correctly led a third diamond immediately, South would have had to ruff in his own hand, or shorten dummy's trumps fatally. Then, when East got in with the heart queen, a fourth diamond lead would have been a "killer." If South ruffed with the seven, West could play the eight to force the ace; if South ruffed with the nine or jack, West could discard, retaining a tenace over South.

Wise Parent Is Tolerant Toward Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

It's perfectly possible, of course, to make your children impossible by allowing them to run wild, giving them an unwise "license" and calling it "freedom" or "liberty." It's bad for children to hold them up to no standards of behavior and considerateness—to expect nothing of them.

But it's equally bad—altho in a different way—to expect too much of them. Yet innumerable fathers or mothers expect perfection of their children. But since we, who are older and presumably wiser, aren't perfect, why should we expect our children to be models of mannerliness?

Mothers who are quick tempered or inclined to irritability are more often than not the ones who punish an outburst or tantrum, or who resent the unevennesses of a little girl's disposition. Often they have little patience with the lack of sunny willingness of a small boy to do as he is asked.

And here's another thing that's odd about this human nature of ours. Those other persons, whether they're parents, relatives, or family friends, who hold themselves most closely to an ideal of self-control and considerateness, are the very ones who are least censorious of children. They are the ones who do not expect perfection of children of any age, but accord them understanding and tolerance. They are also—here again is that funny old human nature at work—the ones to whom children respond most sweetly and before whom they are at their best.

So it's human for us who are grown and should have learned much, not to be perfect. But by that token we certainly should not expect perfection of behavior from children, but show them a wise degree of tolerance.

White Collar GIRL

—BY RUTH MAC KAY—

Typing Ten Years Hence.

Last Saturday morning the fifth of a series of lectures was given in Chicago's oldest business college for the instruction of teachers of typing. Every seat was taken as Olive Bracher, head of the typing department, began to speak on our typing program 10 years hence. Her attentive audience was composed of high school teachers, parochial school instructors, members of the staff of other business colleges, and teachers of typing from Chicago and outlying towns spanning the shore line from Gary to Racine.

Predictions.

In predicting a typing program 10 years hence Miss Bracher began, first of all, with attitudes. "We're going to develop a better attitude in these years ahead," she said, "a feeling of fellowship between student and teacher, based on experience shared and guidance which imparts to the young student the importance of typing in our business world."

She believes that teachers are going to find it necessary "to perfect their own techniques" so they can demonstrate to their students, emphasizing not so much "Do as I say," but "Do as I do," in the class room of youthful commercial aspirants.

She foresees much more time spent in teaching students to read "letter by letter." Reading a book, she remarked, is five and a half times more rapid than reading for typing. So, regardless of our hurried tempo of today, the typist, when she reads, must slow down and concentrate letter by letter, coordinating the eye, the mind, and the finger—so essential to accurate typing.

And Those Desks.

She looks into the future and sees far more attention to correct height of desks. "Typewriting suffers when desks are wrong," she said. "Twenty-seven or 28 inches off the floor, or possibly even 31 inches if the typist is tall—these measurements are going to be taken into consideration in the future in the name of efficiency." [A murmur of relief came from the many teachers who struggle with classroom chairs and desks, all exactly the same regardless of the height of the student or the length of her arms.]

More electric typewriters in general use—10 years hence—was another prediction. And here the speaker permitted herself a digression on the subject of the much publicized new keyboard which abruptly dropped out of the news. She sees white collar girls going along with our present keyboard for quite some time until a far greater improvement is offered.

Keeping in mind that 90 per cent of the errors in typing come from transposition, Miss Bracher came to her final prediction: An emphasis on concentration in a task "in which one little finger motion can cause an error."

The student in the complex world of today—the world of scattered interests—Red Cross meetings, movies, recitals, sports, the world of war and all that it brings, finds it hard to shut out of her mind those intruding thoughts which come between the typist and accurate typing, she said.

There was a blizzard Saturday morning. Perhaps the classroom white collar girls might be encouraged if they knew how many teachers came out in the storm to learn—so their students could learn more readily.

DODGE'S WIFE MISSED YACHT TRYST BY A DECK

Girl Friend Left by Port; She Was on Starboard.

New York, March 28 [Special].—A wifely visit to Horace E. Dodge's yacht, Vanities, on a September day in 1940 while Dodge, in the nude, was entertaining an equally nude girl friend in the sumptuous master stateroom was the sizzling "see story" contributed to the torrid Dodge divorce saga today by the yacht's erstwhile captain.

Capt. Matthew [Mike] Shannon told the tale in the salty language of a master mariner, disclosing himself as a man of action in an emergency, but with a good memory and few reticences.

Viewing the approach of blonde Mrs. Martha [Mickey] Dodge in a launch thru binoculars, he warned the multimillionaire playboy and got orders from him to get rid of the girl Dodge was entertaining by throwing her overboard, if necessary, he averred. Instead, he said, he helped her dress, slipped her thru an escape door to the engine room, and helped her into another launch conveniently moored on the ; cht's port side.

Tells of Sylvia's Visit.

The captain's affidavit was added to the evidence by which Mrs. Dodge hopes to substantiate charges that her husband's acts of unfaithfulness since their marriage May 17, 1940, "may well run into hundreds."

A former Vanities show girl, Mrs. Dodge is seeking $75,000 counsel fees and $12,000 for prosecution of her divorce suit. She has scorned alimony, explaining she gets $48,000 a year from Dodge in addition to $12,000 under a pre-marital agreement. This agreement also contains a provision for the payment to her of $1,000,000 net "upon the happening of certain events," she said.

Capt. Shannon's story began when a woman he named as Sylvia Hofstadter of 411 West End av. came aboard the yacht about 5 p. m, Ordered on Lookout.

"Mr. Dodge was already on board, completely nude except for a blue robe he was wearing," the skipper related. He said Dodge and Miss Hofstadter went to the bar and that after they had had a few drinks Dodge ordered him on deck with his spy glass to watch the dock. The yacht was moored in the municipal yacht basin off 79th street, he said.

"About 6:30 p. m. I spotted Mrs. Dodge," Capt. Shannon said. "She was on the dock and walking toward the gangway that led down to where the yacht was moored. I immediately ran down the deck to the master's stateroom to tell Mr. Dodge. The glass door to the master's stateroom had no lock on it. I went in quickly and there I saw Mr. Dodge and Sylvia Hofstadter nude in bed."

The captain said he gave the alarm with a brusque, "You had better get the hell up out of there before murder happens," and that Dodge excitedly appealed to him to get rid of Miss Hofstadter.

"Get her out of here! Put her in the bilge. Throw her overboard. Do anything," he quoted the millionaire as saying.

Dressed While Fleeing.

The captain then described Sylvia leaping out of bed and putting on her clothes as he handed them to her.

"She put on her bloomers and slip and stockings and shoes and a light coat," he said. "She grabbed her bag in one hand and said to me, 'How am I going to get out of here.'"

The captain was equal to the occasion. He led her by a circuitous route to the after deck, waited until he heard Mrs. Dodge's launch stop at the main gangway, then slipped her over the side to the other launch, he said. A sailor took her ashore.

Mrs. Dodge has accused Miss Hofstadter of trysting with Dodge at various places from May 16, 1940, to Aug. 14, 1943, and of receiving gifts of jewelry from him valued at $21,000. She has also named six other women as love pirates.

YANK'S BROTHER HELD FOR URGING FLIGHT TO NAZIS

Walter Francis Bober, 26, a radio and electrical technician, was ordered held under a $5,000 bond yesterday after he pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker to a charge of violating the federal sedition laws in letters he wrote to his brother, Raymond, an army private.

Walter F Bober.

Bober, who, until two months ago lived with his wife and small daughter at 4819 N. Oakley av., is accused by the federal bureau of investigation of suggesting to his brother that he desert from the army and that the two of them flee to Germany. Both he and his parents, who live at 4018 N. Hamlin av., were born in this country.

Spencer J. Drayton, head of the FBI here, said Bober was 1-A in the draft, but had attempted to get a reclassification by claiming ill health.

FRED MANDEL JR. SUED BY WIFE ON CRUELTY COUNT

Mrs. Lois Mandel, of the Ambassador East hotel filed suit for divorce in Circuit court yesterday against her husband, Fred L. Mandel Jr., owner of the Detroit Lions' football club.

The suit, drawn up by Atty. Benjamin B. Davis, charges Mandel with cruelty, specificaly alleging that he slapped Mrs. Mandel on Feb. 5 and Feb. 8, this year. The Mandels were married March 14, 1935, and separated Feb. 9. They have one child, Stephen, 6, whose custody Mrs. Mandel asks. She is the former Miss Lois Klafter.

Shortly after the divorce action was begun, Mandel's lawyers, Francis L. Harris and Robert E. Cantwell Jr., filed a formal answer, denying the cruelty charges. Mandel is 36.

Bennett Doesn't Believe the More Is the Merrier

South Bend, Ind., March 28 [Special].—Carl E. Bennett knew his wife, Gertrude, was a widow with seven children when he married her. What he didn't know, he said in Circuit court today, was that some of the children, including a married daughter who had six children of her own, were going to make their home with him. He said that by the time 16 moved in he had decided to move out. He was granted a divorce today on grounds of cruelty.

HOW JAPS FAKED SURRENDER TO YANKS; KILLED 3

HILL 260 BOUGAINVILLE, Solomon Islands, March 26 [Delayed]—(AP).—A story of Japanese faking surrender and then killing an American captain, sergeant, and private with machine gun and mortar fire was told today by Lt. Richard L. Roy, Mountain Lake Park, Md.

"We talked with the Japs for 10 minutes," Roy said. "The captain asked them to throw up their hands and surrender. He and I were standing in the open on the cliffside below their pillbox. A Jap motioned for us to come in. Suddenly all the Japs dropped down in the pillbox and opened fire."

Deny German Troops Move Into Bulgaria

CAIRO, Egypt, March 28.—It was learned today from a reliable source that contrary to current rumors no German troops so far as it is known have been dispatched to Bulgaria. Also so far as is known no Bulgarian forces have been sent to Rumania. The Bulgarians, however, strengthened their garrisons in Serbia, Macedonia, and Thrace.

★ ON THE QUIET SIDE

Toned-down greys, dull blues, deep browns ... all with the intent to cater to men who take their color in small doses—who shy away from bold tweeds and go in for patterns sparingly. Perhaps their schedule doesn't call for such—or maybe it's for no other reason than the fact that they're more comfortable in dark colors. At any rate there are a good many men who dress on the quiet side. That's why we've a substantial selection of topcoats in subdued shades. And all the better to accent the elegance of the coatings, which in this case should be, because each one is an imported coating—a matchless British Isle coating. All tailored by Malcolm Kenneth.

French Lick, Ind., March 28.—The White Sox, who frightened the Cubs out of playing the Chicago city series last fall, will have a whack at Jim Wilson's proteges tomorrow afternoon in the first game the two teams have played against each other since last spring. The contest will be for fun and the entertainment of the fliers at Freeman field, 65 miles from here.

Two White Sox gents who did not make the trip to Evansville for the two game series with the Detroit Tigers will be the center of interest for White Sox partisans. Thornton Lee, greatly encouraged with the state of his left arm, ailing for two years, will start for the American leaguers. And Hal Trosky, former Cleveland Indian first base star, who has been in actual retirement for two years, is scheduled to start at first base.

Thornton Lee. Eddie Hanyzewski.

Play Series with Pirates.

Manager Jim Wilson said he might change his pitching plans following the cancelation of the Cincinnati-Cubs game here this afternoon. Henry Wyse, Les Fleming, and John Miklos were to have pitched today and Eddie Hanyzewski, John Burrows, Bill Sahlin, and Dale Alderson had been slated for tomorrow.

Following Lee in the Sox array will be Bill Dietrich and Orval Grove. Dietrich, like Lee, did not go to Evansville, but Orval Grove was the starting and winning pitcher in the Sox victory over the Tigers Sunday.

It was learned tonight that Johnny Humphries, a member of the Sox pitching staff, has been classified 1-A by his New Orleans, La., draft board.

WEATHER HALTS CUBS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

French Lick, Ind., March 28.—Jim Wilson's Cubs were reduced to common spring camp antics today instead of experiencing the pleasures of competition with Deacon Bill McKechnie's Reds in what would have been the 1944 inaugural exhibition for both squads. The Reds came down from their Bloomington camp fully intending to do something about the advancement of physical conditioning, but all arrangements were tossed aside when the two bosses noted that the mercury had stuck below the 50 degree mark.

With the exhibition out of the question, the two teams quickly proceeded to make the best of it. McKechnie shooed his Reds back to their Indiana university igloo and the Cubs absorbed one session of this or that on their breezy parade ground. The latter's lessons for the day were built around the fact that tomorrow they will take on their ancient enemies, the White Sox, on Freeman field near Seymour, Ind.

Wilson Readjusts Personnel.

Naturally enough, Boss Wilson wants his boys to appear at their best, at least what can be considered best at this time of the year. Not having to dig into his limited pitching supply today, Wilson was able to make adjustments by which he thinks he can give the Dykes squatters something slightly tougher on the mound. It will be Ed Hanyzewski, Hank Wyse, Bill Fleming, and Johnny Burrows.

Nobody seems to be concerned about it, but nine of the Cubs are still absent, only one of them, Jodie Phipps, the Los Angeles pitcher, being a holdout. Some of them, Claude Passeau, for instance, are waiting to get straightened out on their draft status. The others, such as Bill Nicholson, the more or less celebrated and berated Lou Novikoff, and even Peanuts Lowery, apparently are taking advantage of the times.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Others may rave about the performance of 16 year old Major Jones, Chicago featherweight who last night became the Intercity Golden Gloves champion of 1944 by defeating Frank Perone of New York before 18,630 roaring fans in Madison Square Garden; some are shouting the praises of Johnny Wilson of New York, who climbed off the floor to win a decision from Chicago's Levi Southall, top favorite of the western squad. But the performance which made this writer's heart strings strum the loudest was the triumph of Henry Sumi, Chicago bantamweight, who literally licked his opponent with one hand. . . . Chicago had lost both flyweight bouts when Sumi, 118 pound alternate, entered the ring to battle Sam Chernoff of the Bronx.

New York was ahead, 2 to 0, in team points. . . . Sumi lost no time convincing the overflow crowd that a Jap can fight elsewhere than in a jungle, if he is American born. He jarred his foe with two handed volleys to the head. . . . He doubled him up with body punches. . . . Chernoff barely weathered the first round. . . . Sumi started the second in the same fashion. . . . Then came the break that would have beaten an athlete less courageous. . . . In landing a blow Sumi's right arm slipped out of the shoulder socket. . . . The pain was terrific. . . . The Chicagoan winced only a moment, then began jabbing his foe with straight lefts to the head. . . . That's the way he carried on the rest of the route. . . . Trainer Issy Kline and Sgt. Barney Ross, who were working the Chicago corner, tried to prevail upon the stout hearted fellow to withdraw from the match. . . . Sumi refused and, with one hand useless, managed to hold off his adversary while he piled up enough points to win a unanimous decision. . . . Of such stuff are champions made.

Next to Sumi, the Chicago fighter who merits special mention is Corp. Dick Young, Texas middleweight, who whipped Hy Bronstein, the famed knockout puncher of the New York squad. . . . Bronstein finished every opponent in his march to the championship of the New York tournament. . . . His devastating left hook ended title dreams of five or six of the best amateur 160 pounders in the eastern section of the United States. . . . Young whipped him by beating him to the punch, keeping him off balance, and tying him up in the clinches. . . . His technique probably didn't thrill the fans, but he proved that brains are the decisive factor, even in a sport where the old sockeroo is supposed to be the all-important weapon. . . . Our congratulations, too, for the work of Ragon Kinney, captain of the Chicago team, who outsmarted an opponent carrying a 30 pound weight advantage to win the heavyweight championship. Team victory hinged on that bout. . . . Chicago was leading only 8 to 7 when Kinney squared off against burly Gerald Jackson of New York. . . . Kinney won by the tedious process of wearing down his opponent. . . . He had his foe so fatigued by the middle of the last round that he was scoring almost at will.

Thus the Intercity Golden Gloves score stands at 10 victories for Chicago, four for New York, and three ties. . . . And the 1945 bouts will be in Chicago, where New York still is waiting for its first triumph.

NEW YORK GETS 2D GOING OVER BY CHICAGOANS

Intercity Champs Turn Sightseers.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 28.—Chicago's 1944 Golden Gloves team, one of the truly great squads in the 17 year career of amateur boxing's No. 1 competition, today began a well earned recess of relaxation after last night's dramatic 9 to 7 conquest of an able New York crew in Madison Square Garden.

A majority of the party, composed of service men and lads about to don uniforms, forgot the cheers of the 18,630 fans who saw them surge back from a 2 to 0 deficit for the sixth 9 to 7 triumph in the history of the series and the second scored by a Chicago team on the easterners' home grounds. They slept late. They partook heartily of wheat cakes and other edibles that had been restricted in their training preparations since last Thursday morning's arrival. They made the town—the subway, the battery, Broadway, the Empire State building. A number even went out and discovered how it felt to walk thru the bright sunshine in near-by Central park, where for five days they had undergone strenuous road drills.

Six Hurry Home.

Tonight they attended a topnotch Broadway musical show before retiring and they'll enjoy still another tomorrow night, before leaving for homes or stations on Thursday afternoon.

Six members of the victorious Chicago squad, which now bears the proud record of 10 victories, four defeats, and three ties in the perennial feud with New York, couldn't even wait to enjoy tonight's theater party.

Pvt. Ragon Kinney, captain of the team and the man who decided the result in the 16th and final bout of last night's thrilling show, headed for Arkansas and a triple reunion with his wife, his 18 month old son, and a brother just returned from the Aleutians, before going on to his own base at Camp Callan, Cal.

Uncle Sam Calls.

The others who left today included Tommy Nate, the South Bend aviation worker; Sgt. Jim Donohoo, who flew to his home in St. Louis before reporting back to Truax field in Madison, Wis.; Mert Herrick, the Minnesotan who shortly is to enter the service; Pvt. Vince Di Venti, who planned to stop off at his Baltimore home prior to returning to Camp Ellis, Ill., and Corp. Sam Schipani, who visited the home folks in Pittsburgh en route to his army post at Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

The training diet was broken at midnight after the bouts when the national champions sat down to a repast of minestrone, meat balls and spaghetti, ice cream and pie in their hotel headquarters. They had plenty to talk about, both winners and losers.

Praise for Little Major.

The boys were high in their praise of Major Jones, the 16 year old Kansas City boy, who shares with Tony Janiro of last year's Chicago team, the distinction of being the youngest boxers ever to win intercity Golden Gloves. The Major showed a poise beyond his years, in and out of the ring. The team members had reason to salute two of the greatest understudies ever sent into a Golden Gloves ring—Corp. Dick Young of Camp Barkeley, Tex., and Sgt. Gene Joyce of Camp Ellis. This pair, substituting for the ailing Collins Brown and Johnny Bratton, carried out their roles like masters. Young whipped Hy Bronstein, the favorite, in the middleweight title bout to bring the score to 3 to 3, and Joyce trounced a gritty New York lightweight, Garrett Nagle, for the 6 to 5 lead which Chicago never yielded.

UTAH CAPTURES N. C. A. A. TITLE

Beats Dartmouth in Extra Period, 42 to 40.

New York, March 28 (AP).—University of Utah defeated Dartmouth university, 42 to 40, in an overtime game in Madison Square Garden tonight to win the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship. The Utah victory was another in a string of upsets which has marked play in both the N. C. A. A. and National Invitational tournaments the past two weeks.

Utah will meet St. John's college of Brooklyn in a Red Cross benefit game in Madison Square Garden Thursday night. St. John's won the Invitational tournament Sunday night, defeating De Paul of Chicago in the finals.

Free Throws Help.

Beaten by Kentucky in the first round of the Invitational tournament, Utah accepted a belated bid to compete in the western sectional of the N. C. A. A. tournament and beat Missouri and Iowa State to qualify for the return to Madison Square Garden.

Dartmouth was favored to take the title tonight and held an 18 to 17 lead at half time, but the Utah team, taking advantage of Dartmouth fouls to sink 10 free throws while the Indians made but two, stayed in the running thruout the see-saw second half and might have won in regulation time but for a basket by Dick McGuire of Dartmouth just as the period elapsed.

Wilkinson's Goal Wins.

With the score tied at 36 to 36 going into the extra period, the teams exchanged the lead. Then with only seconds to play Herb Wilkinson scored the winning basket.

ZIVIC TO FIGHT TONIGHT ALTHO HAND IS INJURED

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 28 (AP).—Army bound Fritzie Zivic announced today he had decided to go thru with his scheduled bout with Freddy Archer at Newark tomorrow night despite the protest of his physician.

Zivic said he again injured his left hand in a fight in Milwaukee last week with Harry Teaney but "rather than cause any trouble I'm going thru with the bout." He fractured a bone in the hand in a fight with Jack Lamotta at Detroit Jan. 14.

Fritzie also confirmed announcement of a match with Tommy Bell at Cleveland April 11—six days before he's scheduled to leave for the army.

CHANGE BASKET RULES TO CURB GOAL TENDING

New York, March 28 (AP).—The national basketball committee, making the first important changes in basketball rules in two years, today moved to eliminate goal tenders by sharply restricting their activities.

Requested by the college coaches to make some move to curb excessively tall players, who have been used in recent seasons to bat shots away from the baskets, the committee complied by forbidding defensive players from touching the ball on its downward flight on a shot for the goal. The penalty is the award of a field goal, the only exception being when the ball obviously is falling short of the basket. The changes will apply to high schools as well as colleges.

Three other rules changes made during a two-day session were: raising from four to five the number of personal fouls a player may commit before being disqualified from the game; permitting players to reënter the game an unlimited number of times instead of being restricted to two reëntries after once leaving the court; granting the officials authority to suspend play immediately in the case of an injury to a player.

The committee was headed by James W. St. Clair of Southern Methodist university and included representatives of the National Collegiate A. A., the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, the Y. M. C. A., and two Canadian groups.

TORONTO, Ont., March 28 (AP).—The Montreal Canadiens took a 3 to 1 lead over Toronto in their best four of seven game semi-final series in the National Hockey league's Stanley cup play-offs tonight by beating the Leafs for the third straight, 4 to 1.

After a scoreless first period the Canadiens, league champions during the regular season, swept into the lead late in the second with a two goal outburst and made their triumph more emphatic by getting two more in the third after the Leafs scored one.

Heffernan Starts It.

Murph Chamberlain fired the two third period goals for the Canadiens, his second counter coming on a long shot with 12 seconds to go after Coach Hap Day of the Leafs took Paul Bibeault from the nets and used six forwards in a final, futile effort to get the tying goals.

Jerry Heffernan started the Canadiens on the road to victory. His shot at 15:35 of the second period struck a Toronto player and then caromed into the net. Toe Blake scored the second goal on a play with Phil Watson and Chamberlain. Ted Kennedy, 18, a rookie from Port Colborne, Ont., got the Toronto goal.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The Blackhawks skated the Detroit Red Wings into the Stadium's ice last night, crushing the defending champions, 7 to 1, for their third triumph in four Stanley cup hockey play-off games. A crowd of 17,533 watched the Hawks' terrific bombardment of young Connie Dion, the Detroit goalie.

Now the Chicagoans are only a game away from the cup finals, with a 3 to 1 series lead, the same margin which the Montreal Canadiens hold over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Bentley Counts Three Goals.

Until Fido Purpur stole the puck in mid-ice from Syd Howe with only three seconds of the game remaining to bear down on Dion for the seventh goal, the Chicago scoring had been divided among the great line of Doug Bentley, Clint Smith, and Bill Mosienko.

Bentley, held scoreless in the two previous matches, cut loose with a barrage which netted him three goals and one assist. Smith had two goals and an assist, while Mosienko had a goal and an assist. Johnny Gottselig and George Allen also were credited with assists.

Jubilation in the Hawks' dressing room was tempered with worry over injuries suffered by Mosienko and Mush March. Mosienko's right shoulder was injured in a crash which broke a 1 to 1 tie. The veteran March's knee was twisted when he tumbled, also in the first period. He came back for the second period, played only briefly, and remained off the players' bench in the third session, along with Mosienko.

Mass Production Starts.

The mass production began at 4:44. Mosienko shot from left center ice, Smith tried a shot, then Bentley took the rebound and scored. After a delay caused by a protest that the photographers' flash bulbs were bothering Dion, the Detroiters soon had the tying score. The Hawks' Virgil Johnson and Mud Bruneteau of the Wings were milling for the puck back of the Chicago nets when Murray Armstrong pitched it out to Carl Liscombe, who cashed his first shot of the series, a head-on effort from 25 feet out at 6 minutes.

Detroit was one man shy when the Hawks took a 2 to 1 lead at 11:09 in the same period. Allen broke thru and passed to Earl Seibert across the ice on the right side. Big Earl batted it down to the mouth of the net and Mosienko was in the proper spot to send it home.

At 16:54 the Hawks made No. 3. Bentley raced down from the blue line and neatly shoveled the puck back to Smith, who knocked it in from 10 feet out, right thru Dion's legs.

One-Man Show.

The Chicagoans made the second period another three goal job, with Bentley figuring in each of the scores. After a minute and 42 seconds, Gottselig passed to Bentley just past mid-ice. Doug flashed in, swished the rubber to Smith, who drove it in on the fly from point blank range.

Penalties slowed the action until the final five minutes when Bentley put on his one man show. He skated into a corner and fired as his teammate, Allen, hovered near the nets for the rebound. Dion pivoted to turn his attention to the expectant shot from Allen. But Bentley's shot never reached Allen. Instead the puck hit Dion's skate and caromed inside for a goal.

Bentley wound up the period by taking the puck deep in his own territory, deftly eluding Bruneteau and speeding down along the boards. From 15 feet out, he rifled the nets with a hard shot, the time being 19:18. Then came Purpur's windup shot.

LANIER OF CARDS SUFFERS ATTACK OF APPENDICITIS

Symptoms Subside; Hopp Gets Draft Call.

Cairo, Ill., March 28 (AP).—Southpaw Pitcher Max Lanier suffered an attack of appendicitis and Outfielder Johnny Hopp received his orders to report for pre-induction examination in the main developments today at the training camp of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lanier was taken to a hospital for observation. A physician said the symptoms apparently were subsiding. Hopp's draft board at Hastings, Neb., ordered him to report April 5.

Weather forced the Cardinals indoors after eight successive days of outdoor practice.

YANKS' ZUBER REPORTS.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 28 [Special].—For at least one afternoon, the New York Yankees are able to boast additions instead of the relentless daily subtraction from their ranks. Veteran Pitcher Bill Zuber suddenly reported; Infielder-Outfielder Jack Phillips phoned that he'd rejoin the squad tomorrow and Michael [Molly] Milosevich was purchased from the Yanks' Kansas City farm club.

DODGERS TO FACE ARMY.

Bear Mountain, N. Y., March 28 (AP).—Chief Scout Wid Matthews' checkup today showed there were 70 players in the Brooklyn Dodgers' camp.

The feature workout of three practice drills to be held tomorrow will be a game between the Dodgers and West Point cadets at West Point. Before the contest a squad will engage in a drill in the Army cage and while the Army game is on Matthews will have another batch of players working out here.

BROWNS LOSE CHARTAK.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., March 28 (AP).—Cold weather drove the St. Louis Browns indoors today and canceled the scheduled practice game with their Toledo farm club.

Every member of the Browns now is accounted for with news on four more players. Outfielder Mike Kreevich and Catcher Myron Hayworth are on their way to camp. Outfielder Harold Epps passed his military examination but will report and play until he is called for service. Outfielder Mike Chartak has decided to remain on his war job.

It was also announced that the Browns have accepted Outfielder Gene Moore from Washington in payment for Catcher Rick Ferrell. Catcher Angelo Giuliani, who was Washington's original trade, decided not to play baseball this year.

RIDDLE LEAVES FOR CAMP.

Columbus, Ga., March 28 (AP).—Elmer Riddle, star hurler of the Cincinnati Reds who passed his army physical last week, left today for the Reds' Bloomington, Ind., training camp.

Riddle said his draft board advised him it might be several weeks before he would be called to service and he decided to get in as much baseball as possible before the call.

ROSS UNDERSTUDIES YORK.

Evansville, Ind., March 28 (AP).—Don Ross, who played all the other infield and outfield positions last year, understudied big Rudy York at first base today as the Detroit Tigers raced thru an infield drill that was curtailed by chilly weather.

Ross has been mentioned as a possible replacement for York if the Tigers' regular first baseman is drafted. Otherwise he'll concentrate on a bid for the right field assignment.

JAVERY IN FORM.

Wallingford, Conn., March 28 (AP).—Most of the Boston Braves players who had been hitting the ball in previous batting drills were nonplused today when Al Javery fed them a 20 minute dose of his best curve ball pitching in the Choate school cage.

Lamotta Goes Four Rounds; Shows Skill

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Jack Lamotta yesterday opened sparring sessions for a 10 round bout with Sgt. Lou Woods in Chicago Stadium Friday by going four rounds with two partners.

The workout in Ringside loop gymnasium showed the New York middleweight contender, an aggressive, two fisted slugger is in good physical condition.

Likes Woods' Chances.

Nevertheless, Ever Hammer, inspector for the Illinois Athletic commission, after watching Jack's drill with Walter Thomas, New York heavyweight, and Eddie [Kid] Carson, south side lightweight, predicted that Woods would score an upset.

Woods, who has been doing heavy training at his post after performing his regular duties there, may be given a pass until after the impending match. If he does he will finish workouts in the Ringside gymnasium this afternoon and tomorrow.

Final Drills Today.

Lamotta also will end boxing drills today, as will Nate Bolden, who has shifted his training site from a south side gymnasium to the Ringside. Bolden will appear in an eight round secondary feature on Friday against Georgie Parks, Washington, D. C., heavyweight.

MEISTERS FACE THOMPSONS IN CLASSIC TONIGHT

It's up to the Thompson's Restaurants to maintain the uncertainty of the second half winner of the Classic Bowling league this evening when they engage the league leading Meister Braus in an important set in Gateway Recreation, 6432 W. North av. The Meisters are in front by only one game and, since they've already won the first half title, are anxious to acquire a commanding lead to avoid the necessity of a post-season play off for the championship.

In other matches tonight Washington Shirts meet the National Bowling Equipment five and the Monarch Beers face the United States Brewery team.

Ready for All-Star Feud Tonight

These three members of the B. B. Y. O. team take their last warmup before meeting the C. Y. O. five in tonight's 7th annual All-Star game in Lane Tech's gym for the Lipschultz trophy. Pictured taking shots at the basket are, left to right: Art Weber, forward, for the Boys' Brotherhood Republic team; Harry Krotish, forward, and Cy Newman, guard, of the Jewish People's institute quintet.

The seventh annual all-star basketball game between the Catholic Youth organization and the B'nai B'rith Youth organization will be played tonight in Lane Tech gymnasium, Addison st. and Western av. Preceding the all-star clash, at 8 o'clock, there will be a junior game between the Yanks, B. B. Y. O. champions, and St. Sabina, title holder in that division for the C. Y. O.

The game, originated in 1939, was won for three consecutive years by the C. Y. O. before the B. B. Y. O. broke the streak in 1942. Last year the Catholic Youth organization entry finished on top to take possession of the Lipschultz perpetual trophy for another year.

The C. Y. O. squad is under the direction of Charley [Stretch] Murphy. Players are Oscar Green, St. Anselm; Sam Incandela, St. Philomena; Troy Logan, St. Elizabeth; Lou and Bob Werderitch, St. Philomena; Fred Stone, St. Anselm; James Matthews, St. Anselm; Al Pullins, St. Anselm, and Jim Watkins, St. Anselm.

The B. B. Y. O. squad will be coached by Vic Mann of Crane Tech, and Charles Goldstein of Von Steuben. On the squad are Art Weber and Charley Allen of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic; Irving Deins, Phil Mosser, and Harvey Feingold of Jensen Park; Phil Edelheit, Cy Newman, Buddy Burrows, and Harry Krotish from the Jewish People's institute, and Jordan Rothbart of the Chapell Bull Dogs.

IZAAK WALTON MEETING WILL OPEN TOMORROW

Chicago will be the meeting place for conservationists from various states and fishermen and sportsmen from all over the country starting tomorrow morning when the Izaak Walton League of America opens its annual convention in the La Salle hotel. Kenneth A. Reid, executive director of the organization, said yesterday that the program of this meeting includes discussions of many restoration projects for public recreation and also a number of federal engineering works that are extravagantly wasteful both of the taxpayers' money and natural resources.

Chicago Gets Distance and Grass Races

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

While the winter racing season is tapering off in Florida at Tropical Park and in Arkansas at Oaklawn, Chicago, New York, Maryland and Kentucky tracks are vieing for the spotlight with announcements of rich purses, brilliant fields and promises of spectacular competition.

In Chicago yesterday, Arlington Park, thru Executive Director B. F. Lindheimer and Racing Secretary Webb Everett, announced plans for feature races on the grass every Thursday and distance events on Fridays during the 70 day coödinated meeting which will open June 19 at Washington Park.

Derby Is Wide Open.

In Kentucky they're preparing for the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby on May 6 at Churchill Downs in Louisville aften the short Keeneland meeting which starts April 15, while from the east comes notice that everything is in readiness for the opening of spring racing at Jamaica, L. I., and Pimlico at Baltimore, Md., a week from Saturday. These meetings will attract all of the better veteran campaigners and test the youngsters until such time as many of them are shipped westward for the lucrative Chicagoland season which will be inaugurated by Sportsman's Park on April 29.

Midwestern interest, naturally, is centered on what promises to be one of the most wide open Kentucky Derbies in history, so the events on the programs of the eastern tracks are especially important.

Preview of Derby.

The $25,000 added Chesapeake Stakes to be run April 29 at Pimlico shapes up as a preview of the Derby and the Preakness with the Maryland Jockey club's announcement of 65 eligibles for the traditional fest for 3 year olds at a mile and a sixteenth.

Arlington Park plans a series of turf and distance races, including two grass events worth $10,000, the Grassland Handicap on July 13, and the Meadowland Handicap Aug. 10. Conditions for the distance races are being written in series to range from a mile and a quarter to two and a quarter miles.

Bears Engage in Widespread Talent Search

The fine tooth comb the Bears are using to find football talent, both available and unavailable, is getting a workout as a prelude to the National Football league's draft meeting on April 19-20-21 in Philadelphia.

The pro champions are keeping results of their man hunt a secret, but it's known that they expect to sign a player who lives in International Falls, Minn. He is Bronko Nagurski, who was supposed to have sung another farewell to the gridiron after participating in the Bears' successful title drive last winter. But the Bears confidently expect the Bronko will return.

Possibility that Nagurski again will be available was balanced by the report from Morgantown, W. Va., that Harry Clark, Bears' half back, who was second in the league's individual scoring race last season, has passed his pre-induction physical examination and expects to be called by the navy next month.

BASEBALL COACH HAS BUILT FINE BASKET RECORD

Lou Weintraub.

For one whose personal athletic career is mostly in baseball, Lou Weintraub has been most successful as a basketball coach. This sport oddity is revealed in the life of the Marshall High school coach whose juniors represent the City league in the all-city championship game against Weber, Catholic league champions, in the Chicago Stadium, April 8.

At Lane Tech Lou played two years of basketball and one of baseball, winning three letters. At the University of Michigan he forgot about basketball and concentrated on baseball, winning three letters and playing on the 1928 and 1929 conference championship teams. His next connection with basketball was in the season of 1939-'40 when he took over the Marshall team.

Joined Marshall in 1931.

Weintraub's baseball experience covers the professional and semi-pro field as well as college and high school. After being graduated from the Ann Arbor school in 1929 with a bachelor of science degree in physical education, Lou first toured the orient with the Wolverine squad. The following year he was in the New York Yankee farm system, playing at Jersey City, Lynn, Bridgeport, and Hazelton, most of the time at third base.

He joined Marshall in March of 1931 after previously turning down a chance to get into the local school system to sign with the Yankees. This time he reversed the procedure and turned down the Yankees after substituting in the school system during the fall and winter of 1930.

Won 98 Straight.

League titles came his way when he took over the Marshall basketball teams in the fall of 1939. Until Parker turned the trick in the semifinals of this year's league play-offs, his juniors had won 98 consecutive games and five league titles, including last year's 21 to 12 victory over Mount Carmel for the all-city crown.

When Parker and Hyde Park, this year's league finalists, were declared ineligible, Marshall was selected to represent the league in the title game against Weber. Lou is coaching the team for the last time, having announced his retirement from basketball two weeks after Parker defeated the Commandos in the semifinals.

Quality Brands Are Scarce Today

Naturally they would be. All cigar production is affected by war labor conditions, but the really heavy demand is for the finest quality. This is why, in these shortage days, El Producto is more frequently out of stock than any other popular brand.

THE armed forces ask for plenty of El Producto, too. They know that El Producto's real enjoyment comes from a quality that never will let them down.

We are working our hardest to distribute El Producto fairly so that no territory is ever out of El Producto for long. We know how you feel when you have to smoke another brand that happens to be plentiful. But tomorrow, ask again for El Producto. Your dealer is trying to serve you.

FIND 3 CHILDREN HUNGRY, ALONE; MOTHER HUNTED

Mrs. Virginia Collen, 9028 Escanaba av., a waitress, is being sought by police, who were informed yesterday morning by neighbors that her three sons, Bucky, 7; Ray, 5, and James, 4, had been unfed and unattended in their one room apartment since 3 p. m., Monday, when the mother left for work in a tavern. The father, according to neighbors, is overseas with the army. South Chicago police said the family had lived at the Escanaba av. address for six weeks. No food or dishes were in the home. DR. H. L. WILLETT, SCHOLAR, CHURCH LEADER, IS DEAD

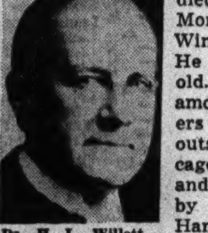
U. of C. Professor Chosen by President Harper.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Dr. Herbert L. Willett, one of the best known religious and educational leaders of the last generation, died in his sleep Monday night at Winter Park, Fla. He was 79 years old. He is listed among the founders of several outstanding Chicago institutions, and was selected by President Harper of the University of Chicago to teach in the newly installed department of oriental languages and literature, which he headed from 1915 to 1929, when he retired.



Dr. H. L. Willett.

The call from President Harper came in 1894 when Dr. Willett was pastor of the old Memorial Church of Christ, on Oakwood boulevard, which he served until 1920. After taking his university post, he was one of the organizers of Hyde Park Christian church, later known as University Church of the Disciples, 5655 University av.

Founder of Church Bodies.

Dr. Willett was the guest of honor at University church's golden anniversary dinner last September. He also is listed among the founders of the Chicago Church federation, of which he was president from 1916 to 1921. In 1923 Dr. Willett was elected president of the [international] Congress of the Disciples of Christ. At that time he was secretary of the western division of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. He was one of the founders of the federal council.

Dr. Willett's scholarship was recognized far beyond the bounds of Protestantism. Jewish scholars sought his counsel as a noted Talmudist.

Pastor and Editor.

As founder and early co-editor of the Christian Century, Dr. Willett saw this weekly journal rise to leadership in Protestant journalism under the later editorship of Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison. For 15 years, until three years ago, Dr. Willett was minister of Kenilworth Union church.

There will be no funeral. Following cremation, the ashes will be interred in Kenilworth, with a memorial service in Kenilworth Union church later in the spring. Dr. Willett is survived by his widow, the former Gussie Price of Kenton, O., and by three sons, Herbert L. Jr., Robert L., and Paul.

Judge Fardy was born in Chicago 63 years ago and always lived on the west side. He was admitted to the bar in 1907 after graduation from the Chicago Kent College of Law.

The judge was a protege of the late Democratic leader, Patrick A. Nash, who also was a close friend of his father. After his admission to the bar, Judge Fardy engaged for a time in private practice and then became chief examiner of land titles for the Torrens system of title transfer from 1912 to 1916. In 1918 he was appointed an assistant state's attorney under the late Maclay Hoyne.

Elected to Bench in 1928.

Judge Fardy was appointed master in chancery of the Superior court in 1925 and served in that capacity until 1928, when he was elected to the Municipal bench. He was elected judge of the Superior bench in 1932 and was reëlected for successive terms until his death.

Oak Park av., are recovering from slight injuries received yesterday in a Douglas Aircraft plant explosion which took the life of Gordon Clinkunbroomer, 42, of 1407 Oakton st., Evanston. Miss Verhoeff was cut and burned and Mrs. Oie suffered from shock.

The three were testing hoses and valves used in the hydraulic systems of the giant transport planes built in the Douglas plant when the testing machine, which operates under 1,000 pounds of air pressure, exploded. Investigations were conducted by army air forces officers, plant officials and the coroner's office.

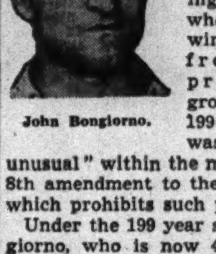
BARNES UPHOLDS POLICE SLAYER'S 199 YEAR TERM

After deliberating nearly 11 months, Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday dismissed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed by John Bongiorno, convicted of murdering a policeman, who sought to win his freedom from Stateville prison on the ground that his 199 year sentence was "cruel and unusual" within the meaning of the 8th amendment to the Constitution, which prohibits such punishment.



John Bongiorno.

Under the 199 year sentence, Bongiorno, who is now 41, will be 92 years old before he is eligible to apply for parole. If he had been sentenced to life imprisonment he would have been eligible at the end of 20 years.

The opinion declared that the purpose of imposing a 199 year sentence is to prevent a prisoner from ever being paroled and thus is "an effort to circumvent the parole laws of the state."

INSURANCE MAN SLAYER FOUND INSANE BY JURY

J. Walter Tarpy, 42, an insurance agent who shot and killed Walter Habenicht, also an insurance dealer, last Oct. 4, was declared to be criminally insane by a jury yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Harold G. Ward. Tarpy was ordered committed to the hospital at Menard.

Only one witness testified before the jury, composed of eight women and four men. He was Dr. William H. Haines, head of the Cook county psychiatric clinic, who said he had examined Tarpy five times and found him to be a "paranoid" type.

He said Tarpy became emotionally unstable two years ago and since had imagined he was being persecuted by associates. In other respects, Dr. Haines said, Tarpy, was an intelligent man. On June 28 a jury found Tarpy guilty and his sentence was fixed at life imprisonment, but he was never committed.

WRIGLEY QUITS PRESIDENCY OF GUM COMPANY

James Cox Named to Succeed Him.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Philip K. Wrigley stepped out of the presidency of the Wm. Wrigley Jr. company yesterday, turning over management responsibility to James C. Cox who was elected to succeed him.

Wrigley told stockholders he disagreed with other directors over certain management policies and indicated that he wished to be relieved of responsibility for such policies.

Associates of Wrigley expressed the belief that he [may] resume the presidency later. As the company's principal stockholder, controlling nearly one-third of the stock, there is no question of his ability to control the company's affairs if a showdown developed. Wrigley has been president since the death 12 years ago of his father who founded the company. He is 48 years old.

The arrangement under which Cox takes over the presidency was said to be an amicable one. Wrigley will continue to be "very active" as a director but the management responsibility will rest with others. Cox, who has been executive vice president, is a second cousin of Wrigley's wife. B. L. Atwater, vice president, is Mrs. Wrigley's father. Cox, Atwater and W. H. Stanley, vice president and secretary, are all past 65.

Wrigley said that he had begun several years ago to build a group of younger executives, but the war had taken many of them from the organization.

Wrigley is known as a devoted follower of the management policies and methods of his father who built the company by intensive promotional activities.

Supervised All Advertising.

Wrigley did not mention any specific points of policy on which he disagreed with other directors. As president he had devoted a great deal of his time to supervision of the company's advertising by reading and writing copy and going over radio scripts.

Wrigley agreed that he could obtain control of the board of directors if he wished. "But our business is not run that way," he said. "If I have to kick myself into some position I don't want it."

He expressed the opinion that "things are going right" with the company and added, emphatically, "I intend to see that they continue to go right."

Wrigley's successor deprecated the differences over policies, saying he did not think this was the main reason for Wrigley's resignation. "I think he is just worn out," Cox said.

Move to New Office Planned.

Wrigley said he would move into another office in the Wrigley building and devote some of his time to the management of his personal affairs. He plans first to take a vacation.

"I'm going to French Lick and find out what's wrong with the Cubs," he said, referring to the baseball club of which he is the principal owner.

Associates said Wrigley had not taken a vacation in 12 years. He formerly visited California during the spring training trips of the Cubs, but these trips have not been made in the last three years. Wrigley said in his letter to stockholders that he was "pretty well worn down physically, with a consequent lack of enthusiasm and vigor."

All directors, including Wrigley, were reëlected at the annual meeting of stockholders. At the subsequent directors' meeting, E. D. Atwater was elected treasurer and Arthur Sauer Jr. was named assistant treasurer.

Retain Price Control Law, Stimson Asks

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—Price controls are necessary now to save the government as well as the people from spiraling prices and will be needed for some time after the war to facilitate reconversion and protect returning service men, Secretary of War Stimson said today.

Sen. Taft [R., O.] told him extension of the controls is "a matter of course" and the only changes in contemplation are such as may be needed to eliminate possible "injustices."

Opposes Modifying Law.

"Having chosen greater emphasis on regulatory governmental control without substantially heavier taxes," Stimson told the senate banking committee, "I suggest that it would be highly unwise at this stage, at least, to remove or materially modify those controls and thus to run the risk of a price rise that might well be the beginning of the dread spiral of inflation."

He testified in support of legislation to continue stabilization controls for a year beyond June 30. Removal of controls now might be interpreted by many people as a deliberate "invitation to start a spending spree," he said, and all the gains from two war years of relatively stable prices might be swept away.

Would Avoid Severe Rise.

A severe rise would "cause distress and consternation to all our people, especially to those who are obliged to lived on fixed incomes," he said.

The government itself has benefited from controlled prices to such an extent, Stimson said, that its money is "actually purchasing more airplanes, tanks, guns, and ammunition than were originally anticipated."

AWFUL, BUT MORGAN FIRM WINS ITS FIRST BOND ISSUE ON BIDS

New York, March 28 [Special].—Long an opponent of the competitive bidding method in the sale of new securities of corporations, Morgan Stanley & Co. today emerged as the successful bidder in the competitive offering of 18 million dollars of first mortgage bonds of Oklahoma Natural Gas company.

Its success did not change the firm's opinion of this system of flotation, however. "I think it's awful," said a Morgan Stanley spokesman.

The firm had participated in other corporate competitive sales, but today's bidding was the first in which it came out winner. Its bid was 101.0939 for the bonds, with a 2⅞ per cent coupon rate. The bankers expect to reoffer the issue publicly Thursday at 101.592.

The Oklahoma company also sold 180,000 shares of $2.37½ dividend preferred stock, $50 par, on a bid of $50.05 a share, submitted by a group headed by Stone & Webster and Blodgett.

Aiken Blasts Profit Allowed Ship Owners

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP).—Sen. Aiken [R., Vt.] told the senate today that the maritime commission had allowed "unconscionable profits" to shipping companies and that some sunken ships carried insurance 64 times their legal valuation.

Recalling the Red sea charter voyages of 1941 by 19 operators, Aiken said that except for Weyerhauser Steamship company and American President Lines, "the companies receiving these tremendous profits have refused to return any of it."

There should have been "a complete investigation of the commission a long time ago," Aiken said, charging that "mismanagement and wastefulness existed in the maritime commission long before war began."

He did not enlarge on his statements about insurance on ships sunk at sea or on inflated prices paid for vessels.

The profits on 90 Red sea voyages by 81 vessels, he said, amounted to $26,874,176, "or about three times the value of the vessels themselves."

CATTLE PRICES GAIN; MARKET RECEIPTS LOW

Strong to higher prices were paid for most steers and yearlings in yesterday's cattle market in the Chicago stock yards as volume continued small. Arrivals of 8,000 head were second smallest for a Tuesday in three months and most sold 25 cents a hundred pounds above last week's closing price.

Arrivals of hogs continued small, but demand narrowed and prices fell 10 cents. Receipts of 28,000 including direct shipments to packers, compared with 34,183 a week ago.

Only 3,000 sheep and lambs arrived, the second smallest Tuesday total in nine months. Buyers were cautious, however, and bought the small supply at unchanged prices.

Grain Demand Lags; Market Mostly Lower

Weakness in securities and cotton markets, and favorable crop weather in parts of the wheat producing area helped push grain prices lower yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. After a small early upturn commission houses with eastern connections started to sell and uncovered a lack of demand.

Reports that an early morning radio broadcast told of a "peace strike" in Berlin recently were said to have influenced some of the selling.

In the active months wheat lost ¼ to ⅜ cent a bushel, oats declined ¾ to 1⅛ cents, rye was off ⅞ to 1⅛ cents, and barley lost ⅝ to ¼ cent.

May Futures Trade Active.

Trading was active in May grain futures. May wheat finished unchanged at $1.73¼, or ⅛ cent below the ceiling. May oats closed at 81⅞ cents, a decline of ⅛ cent below the ceiling. May barley was offered at $1.27½, a decline of ½ cent.

Cash interests were buyers of May and July wheat and brokers said feed manufacturers may be forced to purchase cash wheat in the open market. However, the Commodity Credit corporation has allocated 25 to 30 million bushels of wheat for feed in April, compared with 17 million bushels in March.

In reference to the Berlin strike story, it was explained that a dispatch from Stockholm said that a Free Danish News Service special correspondent reported 30,000 German and foreign workmen struck, using the slogan, "End it by Easter." The Associated Press said the story was not confirmed by any other source and advised that it be treated with reserve.

Canadian Rye Buying Heavy.

Substantial quantities of Canadian rye have been purchased by American interests recently and will be shipped into this country shortly after the opening of lake navigation. Some of the grain is scheduled to come to Chicago, which has about half the 21 million bushels held at major domestic markets.

Ceiling prices on oats will be reduced to 100 per cent of parity in about a month, a few cents lower than the present ceiling, the office of price administration said.

Chicago Mail Order Acts to Ease Future Financing

Restrictions on the issuance of 200,000 authorized but unissued shares of capital stock of Chicago Mail Order company were removed yesterday by vote of stockholders at their annual meeting.

HIGH TAX RATES HELD PERIL TO FUTURE OF U. S.

'Venture' Capital Is Discouraged.

High tax rates that discourage the employment of "venture" capital in new job creating enterprises threaten the country's economic future, Richard Wagner, president of the Chicago corporation, said yesterday in his annual report to stockholders.

Newly organized businesses without benefit of tax credits based on average earnings of prior years are especially penalized in the computation of excess profits taxes, he said.

Wagner found indications that members of congress in increasing numbers recognized the seriousness of the tax problems facing business.

Year's Earnings Rise.

The corporation, largest of the midwest investing companies, increased its 1943 net earnings to $1,724,844, reflecting an increasing return from investments in oil and gas properties. The earnings were equal to $3.67 a share on preference stock and compared with 1942 net income of $1,275,356, or $2.68 a share.

Net assets on Dec. 31, 1943, totaled $33,713,622, equal to $71.68 a share on preferred stock and $3.04 on the common, compared with a 1942 year-end figure of $26,627,175, or $55.96 and 50 cents a share, respectively. Assets increased 28 per cent and income 37 per cent.

Wagner's remarks on taxes were prompted by the corporation's expansion into the field of large scale natural gas transportation thru its 90 per cent ownership of the Tennessee Gas and Transmission company, which is building a 51 million dollar pipe line from Texas to West Virginia.

Returns Are Inadequate.

"The rewards for the risks assumed are not adequate under the present tax structure and under the formula for return adopted by the federal power commission," he told the shareholders. "This situation is an illustration of the trend in this country toward the discouragement of risk undertakings. Unless new ventures are accorded special tax relief and unless other inhibitions and restrictions are removed economic progress in this country will be seriously curtailed."

Wagner detailed for shareholders the corporation's growing stake in the oil and gas industry, beginning with the acquisition of Texas gas properties in 1938 and leading to the construction of the 1,263 mile pipe line.

Wagner said the Tennessee company had petitioned for a special tax amortization certificate to offset the higher costs of construction during the war.

Granting of this certificate would enable the company to fully meet its obligations during the first five years of operation even at present tax rates, he said.

Chicago corporation's oil and gas division contributed $706,029 to the 1943 earnings, against $270,346 the preceding year.

2.3 Millions of Baltimore Bonds to Be Offered Today

Offerings of $2,311,000 City of Baltimore 3½ per cent water bonds will be made today at prices yielding 1.60 to 1.75 per cent, according to serial maturities, by a group headed by the First National Bank of New York, and Glore, Forgan & Co.

Link-Belt Reports Increase in Non-War Order Backlog

Despite some large cancellations, Link-Belt company's present order backlog of 44 million dollars, exclusive of 10 millions on the books of Link-Belt Ordnance company, is still close to last June's peak of 46 millions, W. C. Carter, president, told stockholders at their annual meeting yesterday.

Substantial changes have taken place since June in the composition of unfilled orders, he added. Contracts for products not directly connected with the war increased to 36.9 per cent of the total as of March 1, compared with 19.1 per cent in June.

Easy Reconversion Predicted.

Reconversion of plant facilities has not been, and is not expected to be, much of a problem for Link-Belt, Carter said. Despite the large volume of ordnance, naval, and marine aircraft equipment, and other war orders, the company's technical staff has been engaged in further refining and standardizing the company's peace time line of industrial equipment, he said.

In addition to the 73 million sales of Link-Belt itself last year, the ordnance subsidiary handled 14 millions, Carter said.

A substantial increase in Continental Can company's sales of all major lines in the first two months of 1944, compared with the same period of 1943, was reported to the stockholders at their annual meeting in Milbrook, N. Y. Carle C. Conway, president, said that altho volume had risen approximately 48 per cent, this could not be taken as indicative of expectations for later this year because of seasonal factors.

Predicts Larger Can Sales.

Continental Can is doing much government work at its Chicago plant and similar operations will be undertaken soon at the Jersey City, N. J., plant, Conway added. He predicted increased can sales this year as a result of a modification of government restrictions, which added 22 commodities to those which may be packed in metal containers.

Sewell L. Avery and Philip R. Clarke, Chicago members of the board of United States Steel corporation, whose terms were to expire in 1946, resigned technically and were reëlected to vacancies in the class of directors whose terms expire this year. With Benjamin F. Fairless, William A. Irvin, and Enders M. Voorhees, they will be nominated for reëlection for a three year term May 1 at the annual meeting in Hoboken, N. J.

MURCHISON RESIGNS RFC POST TO BECOME CHICAGO BANK HEAD

Frank M. Murchison yesterday resigned as manager of the Chicago loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to become president and chairman of the North Shore National bank. W. R. Davis, president, will become executive vice president. G. K. Hall, chairman, will remain with the bank as vice president.

Benjamin A. Mattingly, assistant manager of the RFC branch, will succeed Murchison and Peter I. Bukowski will succeed Mattingly.

Murchison was president of the First National bank of El Paso, Tex., for several years. Mattingly came from Maryland in 1922 and was vice president of the Central Trust company of Illinois and later held a similar position with the Central Republic Bank and Trust company.

BACK DIVIDEND PAYMENTS FAIL; TAXES BLAMED

Springfield, Mass., March 28 [Special].—Stockholders of the American Woolen company who questioned high salaries and legal fees were told at their annual meeting today that "the real reason" the company had been unable to pay more back dividends was because it had to pay 28 million dollars in taxes.

Joseph B. Ely, former Massachusetts governor and a director of the company, termed these expenditures "chicken feed" in replying to a shareholder's comment that $418 a day was too much to pay the American Woolen president, Moses Pendleton, and that legal bills had been heavy.

"You should direct your zeal toward reducing the running expenses of the government," Ely told the shareholder. "The company has made a good showing considering the extra war taxes and heavy general taxes."

STOCKS SLUMP 1 TO 3 POINTS IN WIDE TRADE

War Uncertainties Held Responsible.

New York, March 28 (AP).—Many stocks broke 1 to several points today and, for a brief period, the high speed ticker tape fell a minute behind actual transactions on the floor of the exchange for the first time this year.

No particular piece of news was responsible for the decline. Generally it was attributed to the battle stalemate at Cassino, growing talk of a near-by European invasion and the belief the lengthy spring rally called for more of a correction than had occurred.

Scattered favorites touched peaks for 1944 in the forenoon, but the majority failed to hold. Selling dried up near the close and extreme declines were reduced in many instances.

Average Price Falls.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was off 0.7 point at 51.8, biggest setback since last Nov. 8. It was one of the broadest markets in months, 972 issues appearing. Of these 750 were down, 92 up, and 130 unchanged. Transfers totaled 1,344,220 shares, compared with 692,650 yesterday, which were the smallest since March. 1.

Kansas City Southern was at the year's top most of the day on reports mid-west and southern business men were moving to acquire voting control of the road. It finished down ⅛. Douglas Aircraft dropped 2½ on a disappointing annual profits summary.

Park and Tilford and Twentieth Century-Fox set 1944 highs, but the former ended off 2⅜ and the latter ¼. Prominent losers included Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Chrysler, United States Steel, United States Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Dunhill, Distillers corporation, Westinghouse Electric, Allied Chemical, Western Union "A," and J. C. Penney.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Prices weakened on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with volume increasing to 41,000 shares, and relatively few issues were able to advance against the trend. Chicago corporation, the volume leader, lost ⅜. Utah Radio Products, Libby, McNeill & Libby, and Commonwealth Edison also were active with small declines. Bastian-Blessing reached a new peak for the year at 22¼, but closed ⅛ lower.

RAIL BONDS SAG.

New York, March 28 (AP).—The bond market took a moderate nosedive today when the none too steady price structure supporting the rails gave way in a late selling flurry, induced by weakness in stocks. Other sections got off without much damage. A trickle of investment interest held the low yield group steady.

The word "securities" as used in the Decree dated August 4, 1942 includes (a) securities and their attached coupons, and (b) cash warrants issued by the Bankers Trust Company, of New York, under the agreement between the Mexican Government and the International Committee of Bankers on Mexico, dated June 16, 1922, and the Deposit Agreement dated July 1, 1922, both as amended October 23, 1925.

It being the desire of the Mexican Government not to disregard the request of "non-enemies of Mexico" to register their securities, but to deny registration to enemies of Mexico, accordingly, by Presidential Decree dated December 16, 1943 it extends to the holders of any of the aforementioned securities who have not presented their securities for registration the privilege of applying for the exclusion of their securities from their present status as "enemy Bonds".

Request for exclusion shall be made in the form of a letter addressed to Nacional Financiera, S. Such request must be presented to Pan American Trust Company, Trust Department, 70 Wall Street, New York 5, N. Y., together with the securities and an application for registration covering said securities. Upon receipt thereof the undersigned will submit such letter and a copy of the application to Nacional Financiera, S. A. for approval and when authorized will register and return the deposited securities.

Application forms for registration may be secured from the undersigned.

RAILROADS MAKE CLOSE STUDY OF AIR LINE RIVALS

Report Shows Aviation Is Aided by Subsidies.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Air transportation was put under the microscope by its railroad competition in a study made public yesterday by an Association of American Railroads subcommittee. Few conclusions were reached, altho it was indicated thruout that the railroads believe air transport companies are favored by subsidies, direct or indirect.

L. F. Whittemore of the Boston and Maine railroad is chairman of the group which made the study. Chicagoans on the committee are E. E. Adams, vice president of the Pullman company, and R. H. Bierma, an attorney for the Burlington road.

Factors Aiding Air Lines.

The committee listed the following factors favoring the air lines: Speed; frequency; probable savings in cost; round trip reductions; credit cards; free food, no tips; known cost; sales commissions; hotel encouragement; bus and taxi service; free parking at airports; direct service without change; alternative routings; prestige of air travel, and avoidance of undressing en route.

Factors which work against the air lines were listed as: Overcoming fear of family or employers; possibility of cancellation or delay; advance reservations a necessity; reservations from off air line points; undependable time of arrival; time and cost to airport; limitation of baggage weight without substantial excess charge; air sickness and other discomforts, and additional hotel bills.

The study said the cost of fuel is the largest single expense item borne by the air lines.

Doubts Wide Glider Use.

The study said a favorable factor is the air line distance between cities which is nearly always shorter than railroad or highway mileage.

The committee doubted there will be extensive commercial use of gliders, or "air-trains," in regularly scheduled common carrier operations. Regarding helicopter operations, in which the railroads have shown much interest for feeder lines, the committee said many problems of refinement have yet to be solved, but if development continues to progress successfully, many new flying possibilities may open.

Regarding air line growth in the future the committee said that in 1941 the ratio of air passenger revenue to rail revenue in Pullman was 29 per cent and air executives have predicted this may reach 66 per cent in the post-war period.

FARM CORN'S SEIZURE MAY BE FORCED, SAYS REFINING FIRM'S HEAD

Ridgefield Park, N. J., March 28 (AP).—Frank H. Hall, vice president of Corn Products Refining company, said today the government may have to seize corn on farms to keep the corn refining industry operating.

Hall reported at the annual meeting of the company that only a few days' supply of corn remains at the Argo and Pekin, Ill., plants of the company. Its Kansas City plant closed last week. A closedown of the corn refining industry will affect many vital industries, he said.

Besides the outright seizure of corn supplies, Hall suggested three possible solutions to the problem: An increase in corn ceiling prices, lower hog price ceilings, or a subsidy to the farmer.

WARNER BROTHERS.

Would you kindly send me a review of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc.? H. C.

Answer: The company is one of the major fully integrated concerns in the motion picture industry, with activities embracing not only the production of feature pictures and shorts but the operation of a chain of more than 500 theaters. A one-fourth interest is held in a British film operating more than 400 theaters.

During the last decade the company has reduced its debt by about one-half, and in 1943 the entire outstanding preferred stock was retired. These retirements have reduced fixed and contingent charges substantially.

Total revenue increased to $127,-251,778 for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1943, from $114,948,331 for the preceding year, but with an increase of 5½ million dollars in provision for federal taxes, and a charge of 4½ millions for loss on fixed assets, net income dropped to $8,238,483, or $2.12 a share, from $8,554,513, or $2.21 a share.

Common stock holders have received no dividends since 1930.

BAR GROUP WINS BATTLE AGAINST KANGAROO TRIAL

Lawyers who for more than two years have battled the "kangaroo courts" established by Washington burocrats yesterday hailed a change in the office of price administration regulations whereby the rules of evidence used in the United States district courts were adopted for future cases.

The OPA's announcement said the new rule will go into effect April 1. It points out that the rules of the courts in nonjury cases are the ones to be followed henceforth and that commissioners may relax these only "when justice will be better served by so doing."

Reforms Asked by Bar.

Chicago attorneys pointed out that the American Bar association only a month ago, thru action by its house of delegates then meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel here, asked congress to enact a law providing a fair trial and appeal to the courts for all citizens who got into controversies with government agencies.

They pointed out also that the federal court here severely criticised OPA's administrative trials after meat dealers were denied the right of having attorneys or court reporters in their OPA hearing.

Floyd Thompson, former chief justice of the Illinois Supreme court and member of the American Bar association's board of governors, said:

"I have no information that the bar association's actions had anything to do with the OPA making the new rule. It would seem, however, that the bar's action had some influence in bringing it about."

Butler Hails Changes.

State Sen. Walker Butler, who on behalf of several clients appealed more than six months ago to the president of the American Bar association for help in cleaning up the "kangaroo courts," said:

"The old OPA system of holding hearings was tyrannical in the extreme, unconstitutional, and un-American in every way. There was nothing judicial or proper about it. I am glad to hear these changes, apparently made because we fought the system, have come about."

DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT BLAMED FOR NATION'S BIG ACCIDENT TOLL

Because proper lighting and regard for adequate seeing have lagged far behind civilization's other advances, mankind has had to assume an enormous and largely unnecessary burden of misery and waste, Dr. Matthew Luckiesh, director of the lighting research laboratory of the General Electric company, told a luncheon meeting of the Rotary club yesterday in Hotel Sherman.

"In America in 1941—the last 'normal' year—there were 100,000 persons accidentally killed, 10 million injured, and 300,000 permanently disabled," he asserted. "Very conservatively, I will say that at least 25 per cent of this was due in large part to inadequate seeing."

The nation's major motor roads, he added, could be lighted and thereby made safer at a cost of 100 million dollars, or one-tenth to one-twentieth of the economic loss sustained thru highway accidents.

EXACTS $1,241 IN DIVORCE SUIT; LEAVES $55,000

Last June when Mrs. Ada Faalk Skoog, 64, divorced her husband, Arthur Skoog, a tailor, she pleaded that she was destitute, was awarded half of his $2,480 savings, and forced him to give her half of $3.50 accrued interest on that amount—$1,241.75 in all.

Yesterday state inheritance tax examiners opened her safe deposit box in the Uptown National bank, 4753 Broadway, and found $55,000 in cash, savings accounts, and bonds.

These revelations came in a fight made on her will by her ex-husband, now 65, and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Carlson, 1322 Washington av., Wilmette. Mrs. Skoog, who after the divorce used the name of Miss Faalk, died March 7 at 1060 Lawrence av., where she lived alone in a single room and posed as poor.

Wills Daughter Only $1.

In her will she left her former husband nothing and her daughter only $1. She gave 10 per cent of her estate to Evangelical Mission church, Crystal Lake, and the rest equally to Ivar J. Johanson, a brother living in Sweden, and the Swedish Societies Old Peoples Home association, Evanston.

The $55,000 estate was uncovered in a box listed under the name Beatrice Olson. It consisted of $34,-930 in cash; $9,500 in war bonds; one savings account of $4,075 and another of $4,506, both in the First National bank, and a $2,000 postal savings account. Each possession was listed in a different name.

Assert She Was Incompetent.

George S. Lavin, attorney for Mrs. Carlson and Skoog, said that the will made by Mrs. Skoog, or Miss Faalk, will be attacked in the Probate court April 19 on the ground that she was mentally incompetent when she signed it. It was drawn Oct. 16, 1943, some four months after her divorce. Lavin asserted that the $55,000 actually represents a large portion of the savings from Skoog's earnings during their 32 years of married life.

"Both Skoog and his wife worked," said Atty. Lavin. "He was a tailor, and she was a society dressmaker. But she managed the money and doled out a quarter or a half dollar to him now and then. The rest she kept and secretly saved thru the years. He knew at one time that they should have had $40,000, but she convinced him it was lost in bad investments."

10 DRINKS BEFOG HIS DRIVE HOME; SALESMAN FINED

Wilson L. Henry, 51, of 9841 S. Bell av., arraigned in Safety court yesterday on a charge of drunken driving, admitted having had 10 martinis and brandies at the home of a friend before he started driving home Monday night.

Henry, a salesman, was arrested by park police who found his car straddled across the dividing fin on the outer drive near Fullerton av. He had been driving in the wrong lane, Henry said, and didn't see the divider.

Judge Mason S. Sullivan found Henry guilty, fined him $100 and costs, and suspended his driver's license for 30 days. Henry's companion, Miss Janet Heggem, 42, of 2109 E. 67th st., a waitress, was dismissed on a disorderly conduct charge.
